PARK IN BUTLER PLANS KLINE'S TRIAL

Today

One Valuable Idea.
Mr. Dewart's Rainbow.
The Levand Straw Vote.
We Miss $1,500,000,000.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MRS. '. NICKERBOCKER, exploring Germany for Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, says the German chemical formula for making gasoline from coal is of such gigantic value that it may pay all German debts. That would be good news for France and for some of our bankers.

IT IS NOT unbelievable. A simple formula for making power out of steam enabled the British government to pay with ease the load of debt carried after Waterloo, which was believed to be unpayable.

That steam formula kept Britain at the head of the world's industry and commerce for a hundred years. One idea can do more than all of high finance.

NO MATTER what happens, Laval says Germany will have to pay.

"France will not forego her right of reparations."

Perhaps Europe will think up some plan to let the United States pay the German reparations in case Germany can't do it.

MR. DEWART'S New York Sun discovers a rainbow of hope for the Republican party in the Democratic plans to push this country into the League of Nations. A gathering of men convinced that the United States is no longer able to take care of itself, felt, according to Mr. Dewart that if Newton D. Baker were elected President, "he would put the United States into the league right quickly."

It is a pity that Mr. Baker, an able young man, should carry a handicap equivalent to fastening 10,000 pounds of lead to the hind leg of a racing whippet.

ANY CANDIDATE who confesses that the United States cannot run itself also confesses by implication that he isn't able to run the United States.

It will surprise Mr. Baker and anybody else to learn what an effective campaign can be made against any candidate running on the platform "this country is no longer able to take care of itself."

THE LEVAND BROTHERS, Max and Louis, publishers and owners of the Beacon, Wichita, Kan., having held a presidential straw vote, telegraph this gratifying information:

"You, Mr. Brisbane, although your name wasn't on the ballot, received a great many votes for President."

Wichita Beacon readers, that cast the friendly ballots, proved their intelligence by giving 10 times as many votes to Will Rogers as to this writer.

MR. ROGERS, excited as he well may be, is on his way back from Japan, via India, Persia, Egypt, Greece, Amsterdam, flying 10,000 miles of the way "in the same plane, with the same pilot."

The votes cast for this writer are hereby turned over to Will Rogers, who, at least, would make the country smile, even though he might not, in the words of Levand Brothers, "lead us back to the high level of prosperity enjoyed in 1928."

PROF. SELIGMAN, of Columbia University, who understands economics, affirms that an end of prohibition and "restoration of liquor taxes" would yield a billion and a half dollars a year for the government and make it possible to abolish national incomes taxes and reduce state and local taxation.

Very interesting, but only the Congress of the United States could attend to that, and Congress, not very dry individually, is dry politically, believing that its constituents are dry.

A CHINESE gentleman who calls himself Mr. Henry Pu-Yi is the plaything of fate just now. He became Chinese emperor when he was a baby, was put off the throne by the Chinese republic at the age of 6. Now he is said to be in the hands of the Japanese, planning to use him as a dummy emperor in Manchuria, with Japanese ruling in his name.

The Chinese government in Nanking orders the arrest of Henry Pu-Yi, but the Japanese may, nevertheless, make him head of the new "independent state of Manchuria and Mongolia," supporting him with flying machines and bayonets.

A. HARRY MOORE, sworn in yesterday as Governor of New Jersey, proposes to save $16,500,000 in taxes, including $13,000,000 in gasoline taxes.

He will abolish 35 legislative commissions and work against prohibition, counting on Republicans to help him. Gov. Moore believes the people would rather pay beer taxes than a gasoline tax.

YOUNG LADIES, of the W. C. T. U., held their twelfth annual "victory luncheon" in New York to celebrate the existence of prohibition. They are entitled to use the word "victory."

The ladies say they are irrevocably opposed to any referendum on prohibition or resubmission of the Eighteenth Amendment to state conventions or state legislatures, because "the wets would not obey the law if their referendum failed."

THE SAD FACT is that the wets are not obeying the law now, or the drys either.

And, unfortunately, the profits of bootlegging are financing crime and bribery to a dangerous extent.

Perhaps the W. C. T. U. ladies will find a remedy for all that.

LAVAL STAND IRRITATES BRITAIN

Conference Scheduled for Next Monday Won't Be Held, London Intimates

International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The international reparations conference scheduled to meet at Lausanne, Switzerland, next Monday disappeared into thin air today.

International News Service was informed by a reliable authority that it would be impossible for the conference to meet on January 25 as scheduled. Officials refused to commit themselves as to whether the meeting would be postponed merely for a few days or put off indefinitely.

Numerous factors are responsible for the apparent necessity of postponing the conference. Chief among them is the adamant declaration of French policy made by Premier Pierre Laval in presenting his new cabinet to the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

BRITAIN IRRITATED

Laval announced flatly that France would not consent to any "sacrifice" of her right to collect reparations from Germany as guaranteed by the treaty of Versailles and would countenance no reductions that were not balanced by equal slashes in France's war debt to the United States.

It was no secret in Whitehall that this firm stand irritated the British government, as it virtually nullified the proposed agenda of the Lausanne conference.

CONVERSATION HELD

Meanwhile, conversations continued in diplomatic and government quarters in the hope of reaching some sort of agreement o what might be achieved when and if the conference meets. It was admitted in official circles that hopes of unraveling the tangled debts and reparations skein have almost been abandoned.

Along with France's attitude, action of the United States in informing Premier Laval that Washington could take no further steps regarding a debt moratorium considerably upset the British government. Whitehall spokesmen said they had not been informed officially of the American attitude, but admitted they had heard of it "from private sources." One spokesman said:

"If it is true, rest assured that Britain will act for self-preservation and display no more leniency toward her debtors than her creditors show her."

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(INS)—Premier Laval has invited Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain to visit Paris in the near future to discuss the reparations problem, International News Service was informed on high authority today. The British premier is expected either on January 23 or January 30, remaining for the week-end.

Suspect in Prison Gun Smuggling Held

WINDSOR, Ontario, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Harold Fontaine, charged by United States authorities with having been the man who smuggled guns and ammunition to seven inmates of the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 11, was held here today by Ontario police. He is a former inmate of the Leavenworth prison.

Miss Marian Snowden, Newport society heiress, against whose new husband, Prince Geronimo Rospigliosi, now with her en route to America, her mother, Mrs. Walter Sherman Davidson, society leader, seeks to erect U. S. immigration bars.

OLD LAW FREES JAILED DEBTOR

Ruling that the act of 1842 abolished imprisonment for debts, Judge F. P. Patterson today freed William T. Wheeler, Pawn Township farmer, jailed for his alleged failure to pay $153 damages resulting from an automobile collision.

Ancient laws were cited by counsel in arguing the case. A law of 1810 was quoted in an effort to show that Justice of the Peace H. M. Davidson had not exceeded his authority in jailing Wheeler for a civil judgment.

Suit was brought by W. C. Petcoff, Curtisville baker, whose truck was damaged in the collision.

Worcester Church Burned by Firebug

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—A series of incendiary fires was climaxed today with the near destruction of All Sains' Episcopal Church, one of the largest edifices in the city, at a loss estimated at $225,000.

It was the sixth fire in apartment houses and churches within the past few days.

Former Kaiser's Son Ill With Measles

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Prince Oscar, fifth son of the former Kaiser, is in bed with the measles at Potsdam, the Monarchist publication Der Aufrechte reports. He h a high fever and must remain in quarantine four or five weeks, but the doctors say they do not fear complications. The prince is 43.

CHURCH LEADER SLAIN, GIRL ABDUCTED

Stilettos End Death Battle During Tryst; Men Who Sought McDevitt Blamed

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Norman R. Bechtel, widely known Mennonite Church worker and Boy Scout leader, was murdered today and his girl companion kidnaped by two men who surprised Bechtel as he was keeping a rendezvous behind a vacant house in Germantown.

Bechtel was stabbed 20 times. He was found shortly after midnight in the driveway behind "Lone Oak," the vacant home of Mrs. Thomas P. C. Stokes in Germantown by Policeman Joseph Lehman, who was detailed to guard the home of Justice Harry S. McDevitt.

Police believe that the two men were lurking in the neighborhood to assassinate Judge McDevitt, who sentenced Orlando Spartico, 19, to two years for creating a disturbance during Italian Foreign Minister Grandi's recent visit here.

The church worker was lying on the edge of the Stokes' driveway. Scruffed gravel and tire marks gave mute evidence of a terrific struggle.

CLOTHING IN SHREDS

All the upper part of his clothing was torn to shreds. He had been stabbed through the heart twice by a long, sharp instrument believed to have been a stiletto, and once, with such force that the assassin had driven the instrument clear through a steel spectacle case in Bechtel's upper left breast pocket.

A trolley car conductor, now being held incommunicado, told police that an automobile swerved wildly out of the driveway. There were two men in it. A girl in the car was screaming.

A check of Bechtel's movements last night indicated that he went straight from a church meeting in Lansdale, 20 miles north of here, to keep the rendezvous which ended in his death.

At 8 o'clock last night, Bechtel Robert Ross, superintendent of the First Mennonite Church, and Miss Eleanore Temple, Bechtel's fiancee, left for Lansdale and a meeting on church business in the home of the Rev. D. J. Unruh, pastor of the Grace Mennonite Church there.

TAKES FIANCEE HOME

The three left Lansdale after the meeting, some time before 11 o'clock. Bechtel dropped Ross at his home in Philadelphia at 11:15, and Miss Temple at her home 10 minutes later.

A check of the list of Bechtel's women acquaintances has failed to show any of them missing. Police believe that after Bechtel dropped Miss Temple at her home, he drove straight to the rendezvous with the unidentified woman. She got into the car and they drove into the driveway behind the Stokes home, knowing it was deserted.

Within 10 minutes after their arrival, as they sat together in Bechtel's parked car, they were surprised by the two men.

Rogers in England; Seeks 'Old Man Shaw'

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Will Rogers, the cowboy humorist, arrived here today en route to the United States from Manchuria. He bemoaned:

"I went over to see the Japo-China war. They stopped fighting the day I arrived and started in again as soon as I left.

"I expect to stay here a few days to see Old Man Shaw, Lady Astor and a few other old friends."

'No Snow,' Says Brotzman as Flakes Fall

Snow flakes reported falling in some parts of Pittsburgh this morning failed to convince the weather man, who reported there were no official indications of snow any place east of the Mississippi River. W. S. Brotzman, in charge of the weather bureau, said:

"It should not be snowing, because the clouds aren't heavy enough, and all indications are that the lowest temperature tonight will be about 45 degrees. We may even have a little rain tomorrow."

New Tax Head

GEORGE E. MEYERS

Mr. Meyers, Dormont realtor, today named chairman of the new county Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

AIDE IN TRUNK MURDER HINTED

COURT HOUSE, PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A hint of producing an accomplice, or of shifting the burden of guilt, was given by defense counsel today in the selection of jurors who will decide the fate of Winnie Ruth Judd.

The shadow of another person in the case appeared shortly after court convened for the second day of the trial of the pale-faced, 26-year-old woman for the slaying last October of Agnes Anne Leroi, her friend. She also is charged with the murder of Miss Hedvig Samuelson.

Mrs. Pinchot Stays From Own Meeting

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor, said today she would not attend a meeting at Towanda this evening, called by persons furthering her candidacy for Congress from the Fifteenth District.

She said she had been invited, but would not be able to attend.

NEW TAX BOARD APPOINTED BY COUNTY

Francies and Barr's Brother Get $5,000 Jobs; Big Savings Seen by McGovern

The new Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes was named today by the County Commissioners. It comprises:

Chairman, George E. Meyers, Dormont realtor; secretary, John Francies, former County Treasurer; superintendent of assessors, Harry G. Workmaster, Mt. Lebanon; superintendent of personal property department, T. Ralph Barr, brother of Commissioner C. M. Barr; chief property assessor, James A. Logan, McKeesport butcher and grocer; superintendent transcribing department, W. K. Hodgkinson, former board member; chief clerk, D. O. Jones, former secretary of an industrial concern.

BOARD SALARIES

The new chairman will draw $8,000 and each of the others $5,000, a saving, according to Commissioner C. C. McGovern, of $18,300 yearly.

With the reorganization of the board and assignment of certain work to each member, responsibility has been centered directly in the board, he said.

McGovern said that the number of members would have been reduced for economy, but the law specified the number.

Workmaster was active for the Independent in the last campaign. Hodgkinson, a salesman for a paper company, resides at 1615 Duffield street. He was the Democratic member of the board several years ago. He is active in Sunday School work and also participated in the vote fraud exposure. Jones, who resides at 5728 Baum boulevard, is listed as a private secretary employed by Booth & Flinn.

HOW THEY DIVIDED

Of the appointments, Commissioner Barr is said to have landed three, Workmaster, Barr and Hodgkinson; W. D. Mansfield, two, Meyers, the chairman, and Logan, and McGovern, two, Francies and Jones.

POLICE 'CRITIC' RAPS 'ELECTRA'

If you'll believe City Detective John L. Crouse, veteran crime investigator, drama critic, etc., Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh got his ear "full of dirt" today.

Critic Crouse

The stalwart defender of law, order and decency who blushed as hundreds of Pittsburghers watched Eugene O'Neill's latest sensation, "Mourning Becomes Electra," in the Nixon Theater here, reported what he heard to Walsh.

Crouse's report, submitted through Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd, said:

"This is a play in which murder and suicide prevail, the after effects of crime, sin, hate and revenge of members of a once respected family.

"The lines in many instances are vulgar and indecent. (Crouse here quoted some of the lines he regards offensive). The play lacks all that is good in human nature, and tends to bring out only the animal nature in human beings. It is certainly not a fit play for young people to witness. All in all the play lacks the teachings of Almighty God in all respects."

PHILA. JUDGE AGREES TO MARCH 14 OPENING

Both Sides Eager for Start Of Action; Prosecutor May Urge Earlier Date

District Attorney Andrew T. Park, his assistant, George F. P. Langfitt, and Special Prosecutor Earl F. Reed, went to Butler this afternoon to make preliminary arrangements for the trial there of Mayor Kline, tentatively set for March 14.

More than 100 witnesses, of whom 59 have been subpenaed by the commonwealth, will have to be resummoned by the Butler County Court, to which the Mayor and his deposed supplies director, B. L. Succop, were granted a change of venue yesterday by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

SEEK EARLY START

Park and counsel for the Mayor, who, with Succop, is charged with irregularities in office, said they were anxious to start the trial as soon as possible. It was thought Park possibly would urge an earlier date, with a special session of court, if necessary.

Judge Thomas J. Finletter, of Philadelphia, assigned by the Supreme Court to preside at the trial, told the Sun-Telegraph over the telephone today that March 14 was acceptable to him if agreeable to the others. He said:

"If that date is convenient to all parties concerned, it is convenient to me."

Prosecutor Edgar H. Negley, of Butler County, previously had said the Kline trial likely would proceed on that date.

DEFENSE AGREES

Attorney Edward G. Coll, a member of the Mayor's counsel, voiced no objection to the date. He said:

"If Judge Finletter sets that date it's agreeable to us. Butler County's all right, too. Let's get this thing over with."

Judge Finletter is the President Judge of No. 4 Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia County.

It is estimated the trial will cost Allegheny County $25,000.

Charles B. Prichard, of counsel for Kline, today said he and Coll had talked over the shift to Butler County with the Mayor and that he had no comment.

District Attorney Negley said that court will convene the second Monday of February, but only civil cases will be considered then. He said:

"We do not have a judge, owing to the recent death of Judge James O. Campbell, but I feel certain that Gov. Pinchot will appoint one before the end of the week to fill the vacancy. The new judge could then ar-

'Lysistrata' Quits Los Angeles Stage

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Producers and actors of "Lysistrata," modernized Greek comedy, decided last night to close the show permanently here after Superior Judge Leon R. Vankwich had denied a court order to prevent police raids on performances.

The decision was reached, it was said, in view of two previous raids and possible future ones. The producers and cast of nearly 60, including Nance O'Neil, are to go on trial January 27.

Floyd Gibbons' talk direct from the firing line on the Manchurian war front in China will be broadcast over Station KDKA tonight at 7:15 o'clock, it was announced late this afternoon.

Reed's Son-in-Law Asks Pardon for Communists

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—Senator David A. Reed's son-in-law, Attorney Charles Denby, Jr., of Philadelphia, today asked the Pardon Board to pardon Peter Muselin and Tom Zima, convicted of sedition in Beaver County in 1927 and sentenced to five years in Allegheny County Workhouse. The Pennsylvania State Civil Liberties Union made a similar request.

Denby argued the men were convicted simply because they were Communists. They were accused of advocating overthrow of the government and creation of a soviet republic. Pittsburgh Communists have been active in their behalf.

The board also was asked to commute to second degree murder the first degree sentences of Jack Gustaferra and Charles Russogulo, half brothers, sentenced in Allegheny County in 1918 to be electrocuted. Later their sentences were commuted to life, and further commutation would permit their release on parole.

They were convicted of killing John Cappa and wounding John Lapaglia on the North Side, Pittsburgh.

'Secret Six' Crime Drive Financed by Rosenwald

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—The "Secret Six," crime fighting body of the Chicago Association of Commerce, owes its existence largely to the philanthropy of the late Julius Rosenwald, it was disclosed here today.

The "Secret Six" was instrumental in securing the conviction of Scarface Al Capone on charges of liquor conspiracy, and has been instrumental in securing convictions of other gangsters and hoodlums.

Rosenwald's financial underwriting of the "Secret Six" was revealed by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the association and active head of its crime-fighting body.

LABOR WARNS CHURCH DRY LEADERS IN PLEA FOR BEER

BISHOP CANNON HEARS THREAT BY WOLL

Arguments for Modification Close Before Senate Quiz; Penn Teacher Attacks Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Proponents of the Bingham 4 per cent beer bill wound up their arguments today with an announcement to church prohibition leaders that labor would meet them on the issue and a statement that sentiment in Maine is undergoing a change for modification.

Opponents will be heard next week.

Speaking for the American Federation of Labor, Matthew Woll told the Senate manufactures subcommittee "if the drys in the churches stooped to politics, let them take the dirt that goes with it; labor will meet them on that ground."

SHIFT IN MAINE

Former Senator Gould of Maine said there was a "marked change" of sentiment in his state which he described as the "original prohibition state." He said it was "high time a change was made."

Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South sat throughout the hearing.

When Woll made his statement about church leaders going into politics Cannon smiled.

He laughed when Senator Bingham said the reason he proposed 4 per cent by volume instead of the smaller percentage proposed by labor was because "it would taste a little better."

"ORGY OF GIN"

Dr. Alfred Stengel, Philadelphia blood specialist and vice president in charge of medical affairs of the University of Pennsylvania, said:

"The United States is in an orgy of gin and hard liquor drinking of swinish proportions.

"Temperance died when prohibition came in."

Stengel was introduced by Representative Stokes of Pennsylvania, who told the committee "the majority of the people in Philadelphia think prohibition is an evil."

RITZY SPEAKIES FOLD UP

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Opulent furnishings, antiques, oil paintings and costly knick-knacks which made many swanky night clubs resemble elaborately equipped European salons, were hastily removed today.

With the dismal air of a funeral procession, moving vans carted away the treasures from numerous places in the Times Square and Park avenue districts, while thin lines of former habitues mournfully looked on.

The stripping of the gay, richly decorated resorts was undertaken by numerous proprietors who foresaw the doom of all such places under the drastic ruling of Federal Judge Patterson upholding the right of Prohibition Department agents to confiscate equipment and furnishings of places caught selling liquor.

Ganna Walska Wins Suit Over Painting

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Ganna Walska recorded a legal victory here today although she is at present in Paris. Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel dismissed the suit brought by Mrs. Natalie Warren for $10,000 against the diva.

Mrs. Warren charged her father, the late Victor Stemper, painted a picture of Mme. Walska while the latter was still an obscure singer in Russia. She said her father afterwards entrusted the picture to Mme. Walska, hoping she would sell it in Paris. The court ruled no evidence was presented to show Mme. Walska had agreed either to buy or return the painting.

STIMSON AGAIN REFUSES OIL DEAL PAPERS

Secretary Stands by Former Decision in Forestalling Senate Probe's Request

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson stood firmly today in his refusal to submit publicly to the Senate Finance Committee a telegram from the American legation at Bogota dealing with Colombian loans and the Barco concession granted the Mellon-owned Gulf Oil Corporation and other American interests.

Replying to a resolution by the committee asking for a telegram dated June 19 from American Minister Caffery to the State Department, the Secretary reaffirmed his willingness to submit the document in executive session.

He said it would "not be in the interests of the United States in its foreign relations to publish the telegram itself."

The Secretary, in his letter to Chairman Smoot, said that Assistant Secretary White, in his testimony, had stated correctly the substance of the telegram as to the Barco concession.

White testified that among the reasons mentioned by President Olaya, of Colombia, for the loan to be made was that he had restored the oil concession. He insisted, however, that there was no connection between the concession and the loan.

Among those who voted for the resolution calling for the Barco oil correspondence were such administration stalwarts as Chairman Smoot and Senator Reed.

Senator Johnson, sponsor of the inquiry, said later that when the committee meets Monday he expects to resume hearings with witnesses to testify on Chilean loans.

BANK HEARINGS CALL CITY QUIZ WITNESSES

2 Identified With Probe of Supplies Bureau Slated To Appear in Inquiry

Two men identified with the Department of Supplies exposure that resulted last spring in the indictment of Mayor Charles H. Kline and Supplies Director Bertram L. Succop, were expected to testify today as Deputy Secretary of Banking George F. Taylor, Jr., reopened his hearings on affairs of Herman Friedman in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company.

Nathan Rosenberg, whose name appears on the Friedman mortgage list, was connected with the Penn Tire Company, at one time a favored bidder on tire sales to the city.

LINKED WITH FRIEDMAN

David Kellerman, produce merchant, who attributed his financial decline to the "bank's hold" on his profits and on the excessive charges of a second mortgage deal, is manager of D. Kellerman & Sons, Inc., which, it was shown, held a practical monopoly on the city's purchases of green goods during the latter part of 1930.

Kellerman is linked with Friedman on at least one mortgage on Kellerman property held by Friedman and discounted in the bank. Most of the property has been sold at forced sale to satisfy prior liens.

Another witness expected to appear was Michael H. Parish, president of Michael H. Parish, Inc., contractors, heavy debtors of the bank. Friedman appears on numerous Parrish notes, it is understood. The company is in the hands of receivers.

S. Wiesenthal, of Douglas street, subpenaed for the hearing, is understood to be working in Chicago.

HELD AS SECURITY

S. Saniel, another witness, appears on Friedman mortgages. Two S. Saniel mortgages are understood to be held by the bank as security on a $3,200 demand note of Friedman's.

Both mortgages are on four pieces of property downtown, on the North Side and in Squirrel Hill. One of the North Side properties was lost through foreclosure on a first mortgage held by the Peoples Savings and Trust Company. The Squirrel Hill property was released of record, June 27, 1927, by former President J. M. Stoner, Jr., of the Franklin company, although it is still listed as security for the loans.

counsel, demanded of a prospective juror:

"If you find human life has been taken and there is no direct evidence showing any connection of this defendant with the taking of human life, and the court instructs you as to circumstantial evidence, and there is raised on your mind the possibility this act was committed by another person—"

Assistant County Attorney G. A. Rodgers came to his feet to block completion of the question with an objection. Judge Howard C. Speakman recessed court while counsel went in search of legal authorities.

Previously Lewkowitz had hinted to jurors that the question of Mrs. Judd's actual connection with the slayings might arise.

The defense hint as to possible shifting, at least in part, of the once-confessed guilt revived reports Mrs. Judd had given her counsel a statement differing from the confession she made when she surrendered in Los Angeles a week after her two friends had been slain in their Phoenix duplex apartment and their bodies sent in trunks to the coast.

As selection of the panel progressed, county jail officials said Mrs. Judd indicated that she will take the witness stand. They said she declared she would "tell everything if a certain witness doesn't tell a straight story about this."

Fairbanks Given $60,416 Tax Refund

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Douglas Fairbanks, the motion picture actor, has been granted a refund of $60,416 in his income taxes for the years 1927-28-29.

The Internal Revenue Bureau said a recomputation of Fairbanks' profits from the sale of certain capital assets and an allowance of additional deductions for business expenses resulted in the refund.

MORE LEVEES BREAK IN SOUTH

GREENWOOD, Miss., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Fresh breaks in river levees today drove additional thousands from their flood-besieged homes in Northwestern Mississippi.

While the vast deluge spread devastation over increasingly wider areas, crews of convicts and volunteer workers toiled ceaselessly to reinforce the weakening dyke systems of the Tallahatchee, Yazoo and Coldwater rivers.

Meantime, grave apprehension was created by the gradual rising of the parent river, the Mississippi, which at some points has already lapped over its banks, threatening disaster on top of the destruction wrought by its tributaries.

The town of Belzoni, whose residents number 7,500, was the latest to join the list of communities assailed by the flood. The rampant waters of the Yazoo pierced the Honey Island levee, and a giant wall of water catapulted through a gap 75 feet wide. Nearly all of Belzoni's streets were under a layer of water as families fled their homes.

Ganna Walska Suit Quashed by Court

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A swift victory was won by Ganna Walska, singer, yesterday when Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel dismissed a $10,000 action against her without Mme. Walska having appeared in court or having put on a single defense witness. The suit was brought to recover the price of her portrait in oils.

Justice Wasservogel dismissed the action when Mrs. Natalie Warren was unable to prove a contract existed between her father, the late Victor Stemper, Russian artist, and Mme. Walska.

Work Staves Off Death, Says Doctor

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Work staves off death, even in this age of high pressure living.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, addressing the Temple Men's Club, cited prominent Americans who have exceeded the Biblical span of 70 years as proof of the theory that the way to live long was to keep right on working. He mentioned:

Andrew Mellon, 76; George W. Wickersham, 73; Samuel Insull, 74; Edwin Markham, 79; Cardinal O'Connell, 72; Ralph Modjeski, 71, and former United States Senator James A. Reed, 70.

And there are a host of others, including Jane Addams, 71, Clarence Darrow, 74, and Lorado Taft, 71.

POSTAL RATES RAISE ASKED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—An increase in postal rates to meet a prospective $150,000,000 deficit in postoffice revenues was recommended today by Postmaster General Brown, testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Brown recommended that the first-class postal rates be increased from two to three cents an ounce, and said he favored a slight advance in second-class rates.

The Postmaster General also recommended increases in registered mail fees, insurance rates on parcel post, money order fees, and fourth-class mail rates.

Immediately after Brown testified, opposition to the proposal to increase first-class rates to three cents was expressed in a statement by Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks.

NEW KILLING IN DYERS FEUD

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Another killing punctuated the strife in the cleaners and dyers industry today.

The body of a man who had been shot to death was found on the Ogden Avenue road, near Downers grove, in adjoining Dupage County. In his pocket was a cleaner's card bearing the name, M. Costabile, Chicago.

A fortnight ago Benjamin Rosenberg was clubbed and shot to death near his Maywood home. Rosenberg was an independent cleaner. Rosenberg's widow pledged her aid in apprehending the men who slew her husband, and her own life has since been threatened.

Irving Abarbanell, proprietor of 20 suburban cleaning establishments, reported today he too had been threatened with death, and nightly attacks had been made on his shops by hoodlums.

Loses Right Arm First Day at Work

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Marshall Fox, 21, of Defiance, given his first day's work by the Altoona Emergency Committee, lost his right arm yesterday when it was crushed in the machinery of a steam shovel. Fox's arm was drawn into the gears while he was oiling the shovel's gasoline engine.

Improvement of Poor Opens Fund Drive

The Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor has begun a drive for funds to continue its winter relief of needy families, homeless men and women. Those willing to help are asked to send contributions to Howard Irish, treasurer, 428 Duquesne way.

DEMAND SPEED IN HAWAII TRIAL

HONOLULU, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—While Hawaiian legislators pressed their program to reorganize Honolulu's law enforcement system and check the city's crime wave, defence attorneys threatened to seek release by habeas corpus of Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three Navy men unless the territory asks the grand jury by Thursday to indict them for murder.

City and County Attorney James F. Gilliland immediately promised to present the case to the grand jury Thursday.

The demand for speed in the prosecution of Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants was coupled with a statement by Montgomery Winn, defense attorney, that the Washington and New York society matron is still so nervous she "cannot carry on a long conversation without breaking into tears."

$315,000 Damages Asked of Lily Pons

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Damages of $315,000 are demanded of Lily Pons, opera star, and her husband, Auguste Mesritz, in an amended complaint filed in Supreme Court by Giovanni Zenatello and his wife, Maria Gay Zenatello.

The Zenatellos assert that Mrs. Zenatello was discharged as the singer's manager on March 7, 1931, in violation of a contract.

Girl Hitch-Hikers Confess to Holdup

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Two hitch-hiking girls admitted in Federal Court here yesterday that they drew a razor on an elderly man and took his automobile.

Judge George C. Taylor commented that he didn't "know what this world is coming to" and gave them sentences of a year and a day in the women's prison at Alderson, W. Va.

KLINE'S TRIAL DATE MARCH 14

range a date agreeable to Judge Finletter."

FRAZER SIGNS ORDER

Chief Justice Frazer signed the order transferring the trial to Butler County. He did not write an opinion. The formal order reached District Attorney Andrew T. Park today.

District Attorney Park would make no comment on the selection of Butler County, which would of necessity have to be acceptable to him, it was explained, because the District Attorney does not have an appeal right in such cases.

Park will be forced to transport all of the records of the case, including many valuable court books, to the scene of the trial, entailing much additional expense.

AUTOS TO BE FURNISHED

It is regarded as likely that the District Attorney's office will provide autos to bring necessary witnesses and papers to the trial as they are needed.

All of the witnesses who were summoned to appear in court yesterday were ordered to report to his office next Monday and this order stands for the present.

This will not be the first time Judge Finletter was sent into Western Pennsylvania to conduct a trial. In 1924 the Supreme Court sent him to Cambria County to preside at the trial of alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan charged with riots in which several persons were killed.

The Philadelphia jurist is 69. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. His father before him was a judge in Philadelphia courts from 1870 to his death, in 1906.

Judge Finletter was appointed to Common Pleas Court in 1913 by Gov. John K. Tener, of Charleroi. Previously he had served as an Assistant District Attorney for several years. A second appointment to the bench came in 1915 from Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh, and in the same year he was elected to the same post. In 1925 he was re-elected for 10 years.

Bomb Wrecks School Offices in Havana

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A bomb exploded last night at the Department of Public Instruction buildings, smashing windows, doors and causing damage estimated at several thousand dollars.

OFFICIAL HELD FOR RANSOM

DENVER, Col., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—An apparent drive by a gang of gunmen against a Denver bakery corporation has culminated in the kidnaping of Benjamin P. Bower, 62, the manager, by two men who threatened him with death unless $50,000 ransom was paid by noon today.

Bower was abducted from a group of six persons at his home here late last night. The gunmen said they were members of a gang which had looted the concern, the Campbell-Sells Baking Company, of more than $1,500 in two robberies. The leader said:

"Now we are going out after real dough."

Witnesses reported to police he told them he was "Shelton of Illinois."

The kidnapers forced two women motorists, Mrs. G. H. Winbourn and Mrs. Clara Pool, to drive them to the Bower home, where Mr. and Mrs. Bower were entertaining two guests.

They instructed Mrs. Bower to have Stephen Knight, president of the bakery, at the Bower home at noon with $50,000 in cash.

Huey Long's Forces Carry Bitter Louisiana Primary

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Huey P. Long, Louisiana's militant Governor and Senator-elect, today apparently emerged victorious from his battle of ballots with political adversaries.

Incomplete returns from yesterday's Democratic primary indicated a heavy plurality for Long's candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, Oscar K. Allen. As the ballot counting progressed, Allen's lead over his two opponents, Dudley Leblanc and George Seth Guion, continued to grow.

Democratic nomination for the office of Governor is tantamount to election in Louisiana.

Some election day disorders were reported, but Gov. Long today characterized all charges that his adherents had employed violence at the polls as ridiculous. In a New Orleans suburb Elmer Dunnington, a former convict, was killed and two other men were wounded in a gun battle which was said to have resulted from a political argument.

Fights and disorders in other parts of the city also were reported.

Allen's apparent victory was looked upon as vindication of Gov. Long's policies, particularly his advocacy of pushing the state highway and bridge construction program to completion.

Licenses for Speakeasies Proposed in N. J. City

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Speakeasies in this city may soon be licensed.

The legal department of the municipality worked today on the draft of an ordinance under which proprietors of such places would pay the city $150 to $200 a year for the privilege of selling "legal alcohol beverages."

Alderman Joseph W. King, who proposed the move, said if drinks containing more than the lawful amount of alcohol were sold the license would give the proprietor no protection against federal action.

Officials hope, under the plan, to increase city revenues $100,000 and also give it power of control over such places.

CROWLEY TO SEE SWEETHEART BEFORE MARCH TO CHAIR

WARDEN GRANTS LAST WISH OF 'TWO GUN'

Slayer Loses Bravado as Hour of Doom Nears; Mother Still Fights on International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Doomed to die in Sing Sing tomorrow night, Francis (Two-Gun) Crowley will be granted his final wish, that he be allowed to see his former sweetheart, Helen Walsh—just once—before he shuffles "the last mile" to his death in the electric chair.

"Two-Gun," the supposedly "hard guy," softened somewhat in his belligerent demeanor and made his last wish today. It wasn't the usual final request—for a bang-up dinner, with all the trimmings, and cigars. Nothing like that.

Just a simple request that Helen be permitted to come within the grim walls of prison and talk to him for the last time.

WANTS TO FORGIVE

At first Warden Lewis E. Lawes said no. But when a Supreme Court order was served on him to show cause why he should not permit the meeting, he said he would not oppose it.

Helen was Crowley's companion the night he shot and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch. Her testimony in court later helped doom "Two-Gun." She was also with Crowley the evening the police—300 of them—captured the youthful criminal in a sensational pistol battle and siege when they cornered him in a West End avenue apartment.

"Two-Gun's" last wish—to see Helen—was disclosed by Mrs. Anna Crowley, the slayer's foster mother, who has paid the prisoner several visits this week at Sing Sing. She said:

"He wants to see her to tell here he doesn't blame her for the things she said against him at the trial. He told me she was just a kid and didn't know what she was doing."

Helen said:

"I couldn't rest in peace if I were not permitted to comply with this last request."

FORLORN HOPE

Mrs. Crowley, who took Crowley as a squealing bundle of hot-tempered humanity at 3 months, and worked for him through the years, was in Albany on a forlorn hope. She wanted to see Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and try to make him see "Two-Gun" Crowley as she sees the boy—a victim of environment, or heredity emotionality. She said:

"He's been a bad boy, in spite of all I tried to do, and I know he should be punished. But they should not take his life.

"His mother was Dora Dietz. She was a servant girl, and her romance with John Flood, his father, never was sanctioned by church or law. She must have been reading every line of all this since he was first arrested. She's known all about it, just as his father has.

FEARS NEW MATE

"Just once, right after Francis was arrested, I went to see her and to try to get her to work with me to help her first and only born. She's married now, but not to her baby's father. She's married to a man who is terribly in love with her. She may have gone away by now to wait and watch in the papers for word that her boy has gone.

"His father—I don't know where his father is. But he, too, must be watching it all. I can't help but imagine how they feel. But with Francis all alone, I could not have deserted him."

Jetta Goudal Wins $34,531 Judgment

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Jetta Goudal, film star, today was winner of a $34,531 judgment against the Cecil B. DeMille Film Corporation, by decree of the State Supreme Court, which affirmed a decision of the Superior Court that the company had insufficient reason for breaking Miss Goudal's contract because of her "temperament."

RAIL MEETING POSTPONED

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The sixth session of the negotiations between railway presidents and their organized employes was postponed this morning to enable the executives to collect more data in support of their plea for a 10 per cent wage reduction.

The union leaders yesterday told the railroad presidents that if they wanted the employes to give "careful consideration" to financial arguments for the wage reduction, it would be advisable for them to present "a written complication of what they regarded as important statistics."

The new statistics backing up the argument for a voluntary wage cut for one year were expected to deal mainly with the needs of the railroads to meet fixed charges and maintain credit.

David B. Robertson, leader of the union delegation, made it clear yesterday that this was what labor would like to know about. The claim of inadequate return and talk of the value of railroad properties was classed by Robertson as "useless argument," and he added that labor "could not permit" the comparison of the standard of living of today with that of 1913.

Kaufman Addresses Co-operative Club

J. L. Kaufman, manager of WCAE, addressed the Co-Operative Club on the advantages of the American system of radio broadcasting as compared with the English method of taxation to sustain programs, at a meeting in Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday. He declared that the high standard programs being offered in America, surpassing any offered outside of this country, are the result of competition instead of restriction.

War Vets Arrange Honor for Stevens

National Commander Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, N. C., and State Commander George J. Proesl, Dubois, will be honored guests tomorrow night at the American Legion county committee annual dinner in McCreery's dining room.

More than 600 veterans, including delegations from Ohio and West Virginia, are expected to attend.

Receiver Appointed For Tire Agency

An involuntary bankruptcy petition has been filed in Federal Court against the Clausner Tire Company, of Pittsburgh, by three concerns, which listed claims aggregating $16,709.04. The court appointed Robert C. Sproul receiver, setting his bond at $3,000.

25 Police Rush to Battle Bandits, Find Family Row

Three radio cruisers, two patrol wagons and three other automobiles, carrying 25 policemen, headed by Inspector Charles Faulkner and Lieut. Harry Moore, of the North Side Station, and Lieut. John J. Lynch, of the Woods Run Station, converged at breakneck speed on the Old Colony Candy Company, 1301 Adams street, early today after a telephone call had informed them the place was being robbed.

Revolvers in hands, the officers rushed into the building to find Louis Walk, 42, of 5334 Beeler street, president of the company and Meyer Walk, 39, of 5418 Beacon street, its vice president, engaged in an argument.

Louis, police said, admitted shouting for help when he thought Meyer was going to strike him. A passerby heard the cry and telephoned the police.

Twenty-five thoroughly angered policemen, driving much more slowly, took the brothers to the Woods Run Station, arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

After the two had posted $25 bond each for a police court hearing and were released, Louis fainted in the station.

He was taken to St. John's Hospital, where physicians said he was suffering from high blood pressure.

JAPAN RENEWS DRIVE ON HARBIN

Serious Clash in Shanghai Brings Death, Burning of Mill; Railway Seized

BURN CHINESE MILLS

SHANGHAI, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Grave hostilities broke out here today between Japanese youths and Chinese, resulting in two deaths and the burning of two Chinese cotton mills.

The Japanese government, fearing serious consequences, ordered Japanese warships to stand by.

Gibbons Broadcast To Be Heard 'Round World

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(Universal.)—When Floyd Gibbons, correspondent of Universal Service, speaks today from Mukden in the first broadcast ever made to the United States from China, he will be literally heard around the world.

Gibbons, famous war correspondent, who will describe the Japanese invasion of Manchuria, and introduce Gen. Honjo, commander of the Japanese Army there in his broadcast, will go on the air at 7:15 p. m. eastern standard time, which will be approximately 13 hours earlier in Mukden. His words will be sent from Mukden to Tokio by Japanese short wave. Station JOAK, Tokio, will rebroadcast the program across the Pacific to the Radio Corporation of America station at San Francisco, from where it will go to New York and other National Broadcasting Company stations via wire. In Pittsburgh and Oakland it will be again re-broadcast by short wave to South America, Europe, Australia and the rest of the world.

The broadcast will be carried over the WJZ network of NBC.

BANK BANDITS KIDNAP FAMILY

MUNDELEIN, Ill., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Five bandits today escaped with $3,500 from the Mundelein State Bank after kidnaping Cashier Milan C. Mott, his wife and four children from their home and holding them captive for six hours in the bank.

Four of the gang were identified as the same men who invaded the Mott home last April, staged a drunken revel while waiting for the bank's time lock to open the vault, and fled in the morning with $10,000.

Paul Mott, 22, the cashier's son, was taken hostage by the gang to prevent immediate spreading of an alarm. He was later released.

American's Captors Demand Big Ransom

HANKOW, China, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Ransom demands for the release of Capt. James Baker, American master of a Yangtze River barge, who is being held by Chinese bandits, has been fixed at 200,000 Mexican dollars, dispatches from foreign naval craft above Hankow said today.

The American Navy gunboat Oahu has proceeded up the river to the vicinity of the stronghold hoping to establish contact with the gang and secure Capt. Baker's release, it was stated.

SLAIN AT SHOW, PLAY GOES ON

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—"Murder in the theater"—the angry bark of a revolver—and the show went on.

With all the earmarks of a screen thriller, Joseph Peapos, 23, was slain in a moving picture theater here last night. Police quoted Chester Perlinsky, 24, in a blind fury over Peapos' attentions to Perlinsky's wife, as admitting the murder.

The shooting climaxed an argument between the men in the balcony of the Feeley Theater. While a "triangle" was moving toward a happy conclusion on the screen a shot rang out.

In the following tumult, a man fled swiftly from the balcony and into the street. The audience was quieted and the show went on.

Peapos' body, a bullet hole in his head, was slumped on the floor. Mrs. Christina Veet, 34, whose seat adjoined that of Peapos, was moaning. The bullet had crashed through Peapos' skull and grazed her scalp.

Campbell Sets Speed Test for February

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British racing driver, who was invited yesterday by Mayor Edward H. Armstrong, of Daytona Beach, Fla., to attempt to beat his own speed record of 245 miles an hour, said today he expects to be there early in February to make the attempt.

Slow Payers Face Loss of Light in Brackenridge

Electric lights in some Brackenridge homes may be dimmed.

Faced with dwindling revenues from the municipal-owned electric light plant, Brackenridge Council last night proposed shutting off of current unless scores of customers, many months in arrears in their accounts, pay up promptly.

Leniency, however, will be shown those who cannot pay, J. H. Reeedy, president of Council, said.

BANK MORTGAGE AGENT NAMED

Judge Thomas P. Trimble, of the Orphans' Court, today made an order transferring all participation mortgages totaling about $5,000,000 in the trust department of the closed Bank of Pittsburgh to the Commonwealth Trust Company, which will act as liquidating agent.

The action of the court was based on a petition assented to by C. O. Thomas, receiver of the closed bank, and others interested in the mortgages.

The liquidation of the mortgages by the trust department of the Commonwealth Trust Company will proceed uninterrupted and will be handled in the same manner as all trust funds.

TOWNS ROCKED BY PERU QUAKE

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Inhabitants of Lima, Callao, and the surrounding area, were recovering today from a night of terror caused by an earthquake which ripped streets and buildings and resulted in at least one death and serious injury to several.

The newspaper El Commercio reported one person killed in the crumbling of a house at Huacho. The shock was most severe at Huaraz and Huacho, and was felt strongly also at Pisco, Canete, Ica and other towns.

The shock, which citizens said was the most severe since 1904, followed a lesser one earlier in the day. The second occurred at 9:30 p. m. on a hot summer night.

Walls of buildings cracked, cornices fell, roofs crumbled and the streets rolled as if in waves.

Copeland to Aid Mooney Pardon Plea

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The Tom Mooney molders' defense committee has announced it received at San Quentin Prison a letter from United States Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, promising to aid the movement to have the Senate adopt a resolution urging Gov. James Rolph to pardon Mooney.

Mooney and Warren K. Billings are serving life sentences for allegedly bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916.

FIGHT PUSHED TO BAR PRINCE AND BRIDE

Lawyers For Wife's Mother, Foe of Match, Make Pleas To Washington Officials

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Efforts to prevent entrance of Prince Geronimo Rospigliosi, en route to America with his Newport heiress-bride, Marian Snowden, have been carried to the State and Labor Departments here.

Attorneys for Mrs. Walter Sherman Davidson, Newport society leader and mother of the bride, who is contesting the legality of the marriage, called first at the State Department, asking that the Prince be barred.

Prince Rospigliosi married Miss Snowden against the orders of her mother several weeks ago in Italy. Mrs. Davidson is taking steps to have the marriage annulled on the grounds that it is illegal under the laws of Rhode Island, where she was appointed guardian in chancery for her daughter.

Mrs. Davidson has made a deposition before the American consul in Rome and engaged Maitre Gassin, noted French lawyer, in her attempt to contest the legality of her daughter's marriage, and is also said to be contemplating still another appeal to the Vatican.

Prince Rospigliosi, Mrs. Davidson said, told her he was $1,300,000 in debt, but declared the marriage would raise Marian's status and enable her to wear the Rospigliosi pearls, the gift of Louis XIV of France to Marie Mazzini. The pearls, worn now by Dowager Princess Rospigliosi, the Prince's mother, are said to be the biggest in the world. The Dowager Princess is the former Marie Reid, of New Orleans.

BROTHERS FREE IN KILLING

A jury in Criminal Court today acquitted John and Andrew Grosick, brothers, of Ingomar, charged with manslaughter in the death last August 15, of Harry Bricker, 34, also of Ingomar, following a beating. Costs were placed on the county.

The widow of Bricker who filed information against the Grosick brothers after a Coroner's jury had exonerated them, was the principal commonwealth witness. She testified she was felled in the fight in which her husband was beaten outside their home.

Dr. J. W. McMeans, Coroner's physician, testified the injuries which Bricker suffered were not responsible for his death, which he attributed to asphyxiation resulting from fluid in the lungs. The Grosicks testified Bricker, drunk, had attacked them and they resisted in self-defense.

Autos Kill 33,000 In U. S. During 1931

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Although 33,000 persons were killed in 1931 as the result of automobile accidents—the highest total in the nation's history—there was an actual decrease in the death rate per 100,000 unit of population, the National Safety Council here today revealed.

The decrease was two-tenths per cent over 1930 when motor deaths totaled 32,750.

CREDIT POOL SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—With its highest officers already at work, the Reconstruction Corporation faced but a few more hours of congressional consideration today before it will be brought into actuality by presidential signature.

Conferees adjusting points of dispute between the Senate and House as to just what it will do by way of giving business a spurt forward, found their task easy.

Meanwhile, Charles G. Dawes and Eugene Meyer—to be president and chairman, respectively, of the $2,000,000,000 corporation studied ways of getting it quickly into working order.

Fifth Death Results From Feud Shooting

LONDON, Ky., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—"Little Henry" Johnson, 21, died last night in a hospital, bringing to five the death toll of the feud shooting in the churchyard at New Salem Saturday.

He was a cousin of "Big Henry" and Earl Johnson, brothers who died in the battle in which Homer and Forrest Crook, brothers, also were slain. Willie Johnson, 18, is now the only survivor of the shooting, which occurred when the Crook brothers accused Willie of betraying their 17-year-old sister, Ruby Crook.

Estate of Powers' Victim Only $722

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The estate of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, who was found slain with her three children in Harry Powers' garage in Quiet Dell, W. Va., will amount to about $722 after all claims are paid, the public administrator's office announced today.

Value of the estate was announced as $2,500. A claim for $1,012 has been filed for funeral services and others for a total of $766 have been put forth by tradesmen. Relatives in Colorado and Denmark have filed to share in the estate.

Pola Negri Smiles Wanly, Too Ill for N. Y. Fanfare

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Pola Negri, just a shadow of her old imperious self, arrived in New York today from Los Angeles, where she was discharged from a hospital three weeks ago.

A line of cameramen faced her as she stepped off the train, and her press agents who had sent out word of her impending arrival, attempted to whip up the old-time fanfare that used to follow her wherever she went.

But Pola was too tired and too ill. She managed a rather wan smile for the cameras and then departed for her hotel, saying she was too fatigued to talk. She had remained in her berth throughout the journey, her secretary said.

VOTE MACHINE PROBE OPENS TUESDAY

Harris Group to Sift Charge Of Beamish; Vickerman To Inspect Poole Plant

Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish's charge that he was offered a $20,000 bribe by the Shoup Vote Machine Company is to be taken before the Senate Vote Machine Investigating Committee Tuesday, Senator Frank J. Harris, chairman, said today.

The committee will meet in the Senate chamber at Harrisburg at 2 p. m., Harris said, and will go over the matter thoroughly with Beamish. The Senator added:

"We have leads on some other things and will go into the whole situation."

PHILADELPHIA FIGHT LOST

Philadelphia County Commissioners today lost a skirmish in their fight to prevent Beamish from completing a contract for purchase of 800 machines for Philadelphia, when the Dauphin County Court refused to grant a preliminary injunction. The contract was awarded to the Automatic Voting Machine Company of Jamestown, N. Y., soon after the court's decision.

The County Commissioners immediately appealed to the State Supreme Court. Their hearing was set for Friday.

District Attorney Richards, of Dauphin County, said he would not take action against George O'Brien, veteran Philadelphia newspaperman, whom Beamish accused of offering the bribe. Richards said:

"We will be glad to co-operate, but we feel it is not our case. Prosecution, if any, should be started by the Attorney General."

POOLE RECEIVERS NAMED

In Baltimore today receivers were appointed for the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, makers of the machines used in Allegheny County, now being rebuilt to comply with state specifications.

The order was signed by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, naming William J. Murray and George W. Manly as receivers under $5,000 bond.

Three creditors charged the company owed them $2,209.

John W. Vickerman, new head of the Allegheny County Elections Bureau, today said he would go to Baltimore to inspect the Poole company's ability to make the required changes in the 1,100 machines owned by the county. He charged Poole officials with being unsatisfactory and evasive in their communications with him.

HELD IN KILLING OF HAYS WOMAN

COVINGTON, Ky., Jan. 20.—(AP)—[illegible], 27, of Newport, Ky., was arrested early today and charged with having been an accessory to the killing of Mrs. Hulda Lang, 29, wife of a Covington restaurant owner.

Mrs. Lang is a former resident of Hays, Pa.

The slaying occurred during an attempted attack on the Langs several weeks ago as they drove home late at night from their restaurant. The attackers were frightened away by a policeman after fatally wounding Mrs. Lang.

Lang, suspicious of an automobile following his, sought the policeman's aid before entering his drive. He said he believed the motive for the attack was robbery.

The policeman had arrived and was leaving his machine in front of the residence when the shooting started in the drive.

Mrs. Lang, 29, a graduate of Homestead High School, was a former resident of Hays. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. D. Hoade, of 530 Ashby street, Hays.

Eighty-three-year-old Mrs. Minnie Haigh was burned on her face and head in saving her money from fire in her apartment at 243-45 Meadow street this afternoon. After getting the money from a burning room she walked to the street.

Michael Damico, a policeman, his wife and three children, who live in the same house, were unhurt. Damage was estimated at $15,000 to the second and third floors.

Willys-Overland Slashes Price $100

A $100 price reduction on all new models of Willys-Overland was announced today by Rea-Seagart Company, Pittsburgh distributors. The slash brings six and eight cylinder cars to the lowest price ever offered by the industry. New base price on the six is $415 and on the eight $695. The Willys-Knight will hereafter have a base of $745.

Address of Suspect Declared Incorrect

F. J. Resmer of Bellevue, owner of the property at 1507 Buena Vista street, today declared that George T. Watt, arrested Sunday in the home of the Rev. George P. Schmidt, of St. John's Lutheran Church, Perrysville, does not live at the Buena Vista street address. Watt, when arrested, gave that as his residence.

Hungary Offers Pigs For British Cotton

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—A cotton firm of Bolton, England, today received an offer from a Hungarian concern to accept pigs in exchange for cotton yarn, making the latest development in international bartering.

BRITON PRAISES BUHL VILLAGE

That the Buhl Foundation's Chatham Village places Pittsburgh in the fore ranks of housing developments was the conviction today of Claude M. Leigh, housing expert, of London.

Making an inspection tour of the village between conferences of the Pittsburgh Housing Association yesterday, Mr. Leigh exclaimed:

"It is the most advanced experiment in constructive housing problems to be found in this country or Europe. The plan shows that building can be profitable if study is given to the problem. Just such sites as this one lend themselves marvelously in adding beauty to the development."

Doctor's Wife Wins Divorce Over Cruelty

Mrs. Isabelle Cancelliere, Cathedral Mansions, Ellsworth avenue, was granted a divorce from Dr. Andrew Cancelliere, 226 Shady avenue, on the grounds of cruelty and indignities by Judge Frank P. Patterson. They were married February 22, 1913, and she testified she left him finally March 30, 1929, after previously leaving him for 10 weeks and becoming reconciled because of their two children.

She said he frequently drank to excess and remained away from home for two or three days and during 1928 struck her several times. Once he threatened to kill her, she said.

Religious School To Graduate 31

Thirty-one students will graduate at the mid-year service of the Week Day School of Religious Education in Emanuel Lutheran Church, Fremont street, Sunday night. The Rev. E. L. Himmelman will preside, and Dr. Robert P. Galbreath will speak.

STONE DEALERS SIFT PROBLEMS

Problems in highway construction were discussed at the National Crushed Stone Association convention today in William Penn Hotel, with special sessions devoted to sales and cost accounting.

Mr. Reinhold

The crushed stone producers from throughout the country will be guests of the Pennsylvania Stone Producers' Association at a "stag" party tonight. Paul B. Reinhold, of Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer of the state group, is in charge of program arrangements.

Four dinner meetings will follow the afternoon sessions. The groups holding these individual sessions, including the state organization, will be New England Crushed Stone Association, New York State Crushed Stone Association, and Manufacturers' Division.

Presiding at the daily sessions were Russell Rarey, of Columbus; W. E. Hilliard, New Haven, and J. A. Riggs, Alderson, W. Va.

Plane Loses Race In Fog With Death

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 20.—(AP.)—While a plane sped through fog from Portland with a serum to save her life, Mrs. J. A. Dewar, stricken after eating home preserved string beans, died in a hospital here.

Rex Rankin, Portland (Ore.) pilot, flew at high speed through heavy fog to bring a supply of anti-botulism serum from the University of Oregon medical school to her bedside.

SEE KOUTIEPOFF CASE SOLUTION

BUCHAREST, Jan. 20 — (INS) —Rumanian police believed today they were close to solution of the mysterious disappearance of Gen. Alexis Koutiepoff, Russian emigre lured from his Paris apartment two years ago and feared to have been slain.

The beautiful woman arrested at Konstanza as leader of a band of alleged Communist conspirators was definitely linked with Koutiepoff, whose kidnaping was believed due to his activities against the Soviet regime. Police learned that a short time before Gen. Koutiepoff dropped from sight the woman lived with him at a small Paris hotel.

At the time of the general's disappearance, witnesses said a "beautiful woman in a beige coat" beckoned to him from a taxicab while he was walking outside his apartment. He entered the car and was never seen again.

3 ROB AND BEAT MUNHALL MAN

Police today were seeking three armed men who are alleged to have beaten and robbed Harry Diamond, of 500 Dixon street, Munhall, in the River road, Munhall, last night.

According to police, the trio stopped their car beside Diamond as he walked along the highway and after robbing him of $81 beat him about the face and body when they failed to find more money. He was found lying along the highway by a passing motorist.

TRAIN HITS CAR, 2 GIRLS HURT

CANONSBURG, Jan. 20 — Two girls were in the Canonsburg Hospital today, one in a serious condition, after an automobile in which they were riding with two youths was struck by a passenger train of the Pennsylvania Railroad at the Jefferson avenue crossing here last night.

The injured girls are Margaret Hensel, 24, of 119 Vine street, and Anna Hulosky, 21, of 217 West Pike street.

The accident occurred, police said, when the machine, driven by Arthur Leroy, 21, of 215 College avenue, stalled on the tracks. Ernie Hampsom, 25, of North avenue, was injured slightly.

Pastor to Address 'Y' Budget Workers

The Rev. George C. Fisher, pastor of Highland Presbyterian Church, was to be the speaker today at the third meeting of workers in the Young Women's Christian Association budget appeal for $133,000 in the Central Branch Building, Chatham street. Workers yesterday reported additional pledges of $15,463 for a grand total of $29,702.

Suspect Arrested In Postal Thefts

Postal authorities here have been advised of the arrest in Jackson, Miss., of James McGhee, 25, accused of stealing five blank postal money orders at the Mt. Lebanon sub postoffice station while engaged in some carpenter work there last month. Before apprehended he was alleged to have forged and passed two orders in Virginia and another in New Orleans.

Rockefeller Home Looted By Burglars

MRS. ROCKEFELLER

$40,000 in Jewels Stolen in Two N.Y. Robberies

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 — (INS) — Two audacious jewel robberies — one in the Park avenue home of William A. Rockefeller, banker — which netted daring thieves $40,000 worth of diamonds, emeralds, pearls and rubies, kept police massed in the fashionable section today to solve the robberies and prevent others.

The major part of the loss was suffered by a London firm with offices in a Fifth avenue hotel lobby. In the Rockefeller home only about $500 worth of jewelry was stolen.

The robbers, police believed, climbed a fire escape of the apartment house in which Rockefeller and his wife live, entered through a window, scooped up loose jewelry in the bureau of Mrs. Rockefeller's room and escaped as they had entered.

Thousands were passing the building at the time.

The robbery in the hotel mystified authorities. The lock of a showcase which had contained the stolen jewelry was broken, but it could not be determined how the thieves gained access without being observed.

Rockefeller is a grandnephew of John D. Rockefeller.

Artist With Photos Of Bank Notes Held

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 20 — (INS) — George La Force, artist, was under arrest today charged with possession of copper plates and negatives of $5 Federal Reserve banknotes described as capable of printing dangerously clever imitations.

No use had been made of the plates, secret service agents making the arrest found. La Force is an alien. During the World War he served on the German raiding cruiser Emden.

Son Aids Father In Murder Trial

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20 — (AP) — Newark (N. J.) policemen who arrested Charles Fashion in the slaying of his brother Joseph, were expected to take the witness stand today and tell of the capture.

The last witness on the stand yesterday was Samuel Fashion, 16, son of the accused man, who repudiated a statement the prosecution claimed he had made that he was a witness to the shooting of his uncle by his father.

Bethlehem's Plant At Steelton Reopens

HARRISBURG, Jan. 20 — (INS) — An influx of orders reflecting an upward trend in the steel industry today resulted in the reopening of the rolling mills at the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

The mills had been idle since December 23. Four furnaces in the open hearth department also have been placed in operation and the first rails produced since the shutdown were ready for shipment today.

3 Killed as Fierce Storm Hits Norway

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 20 — (AP.) —A violent storm raging yesterday over wide areas of northern Norway took at least three lives.

A swollen river flooded a large sodium warehouse at Vadheim, causing it to explode and set fire to a nearby lumber yard and several houses, which burned into the night. Gases from the burning sodium continued to explode, compelling residents of the valley to seek higher ground.

BOGGS & BUHL

REMNANT DAY

Friday
DAY AFTER TOMORROW

The Greatest Thing of Its Kind in America!

Remnant Day is inseparably associated with the name of Boggs & Buhl. The first Remnant Day on record was held at this store over a half-century ago. Yearly it has grown in volume and interest—each one greater than the year before—today, acknowledged the supreme event for phenomenal values and sensational prices in this or any other part of the country.

Thousands of items of merchandise to be sacrificed at cost and less. And we want, particularly, to stress that never before has a Remnant Day brought so much practically new merchandise. Apparel, small goods, furnishings for the home—all style-right, useful and desirable—at prices mercilessly slaughtered to carry out the tradition of Remnant Day—remnants of former prices.

These prices will be plainly marked, as customary, in Red Ink. They are absolutely rock-bottom—lower than can be found on any other business day.

Keeping in mind the large amounts of fresh merchandise and prices further slashed to a profitless point, there is reason to believe this Remnant Day, (Friday) above all, will be one no foresighted buyer can afford to miss.

JIGGS, MAGGIE TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Creator of Famous Cartoon To Be Banquet Guest; Special Page Next Sunday

It's going to be a china wedding anniversary. It is a strange coincidence that a celebration of this character should come to "Jiggs" and "Maggie," the two turbulent but lovable characters in "Bringing Up Father," in the lives of whom so much china has been broken. It, however, remains a fact that the twentieth anniversary of the first appearance of these famous comic characters occurs next Sunday.

George McManus, who has achieved world-wide fame and fortune, as the creator of "Bringing Up Father," will be tendered a banquet in Washington, D. C., next Monday night in honor of the anniversary, and 300 notables will attend. In the meantime the McManus page in the comic section of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph next Sunday will be based on the anniversary of "Jiggs" and "Maggie." Watch for it!

One of the early lessons that must be learned by young men or women who want to become comic artists, is how to treat women.

That, at least, is what George McManus has found in his 20 years of drawing a comic strip that pleases millions. His experiences have included encounters with all the taboos; by now, he thinks, they are an instinctive patr of his equipment as a comic artist.

While on this subject, Mr. McManus observes that naming characters in a comic feature is of utmost importance. Jiggs by any other name would lose half of his humorous appeal; Maggie would not be the same with the name Violet and Nora, had he named her Dolly, could not have belonged to the Jiggs family.

FIRE LOSS HERE CUT IN 1931

Fire loss in Pittsburgh during 1931, totaling $1,088,923.45, decreased $48,000 as compared with 1930, Fire Chief Richard L. Smith said in an address at the opening session of the Chamber of Commerce fire school, in the Chamber last night. Per capita loss during the year was $1.62, or 7 cents less than in 1930, Smith said.

"Students" were warned against haphazard use of inflammables by L. F. Lauer, of the Underwriters Laboratories, of Chicago, the principal speaker. John T. Ryan was chairman of the meeting, attended by 400 persons.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

It's Not Wrong for Wife to Want Sociable Life

John Burnham doesn't care for company. To him, home fires are for home folks.

He can't see any percentage in having the front parlor all cluttered up with a lot of other chattering humans, when he wants to toast his shins in solitary comfort and soak up the sporting or stock sheet.

But company is one of the fondest things the little woman wants. She was just naturally born sociable. So—well, you can guess the rest. The war is on with Johnny feeling plenty sorry for himself and peeved at her because, sez he—

She "doesn't love him enough" to change her ways!

Ever see a couple like that?

"Dear Miss Martin:

WIFE LIKES PARTIES

"You seem to be pretty clever about telling people how to deal with problems that perplex them, so I'm coming to you to see if maybe you can't tell me how to make my wife see the light and give me a better break.

"I am a very quiet man and I thoroughly enjoy a quiet evening at home all by ourselves. I can't see this business of always having a crowd of other people around us, but my wife likes them. She insists on giving parties pretty often and likes to go to them and I'd be willing to gamble that there isn't a family for blocks that she doesn't know well enough for them to barge in on us with casual calls almost any night of the week.

"I knew that she was a person who liked a crowd around when I married her, but I was deeply in love with her and she seemed to be as deeply in love with me. I thought that she would settle down after we were married and be more quiet.

ON VERGE OF BREAK

"She knew that I liked quiet and it seemed to me that her love for me, if it were real, would change her—would make her consider me and try to live as I like to live. But it hasn't. She is just as she has always been—flighty—always wanting a crowd where she is.

"I'll admit these people are nice enough. There is nothing wrong with them as people. But after all it seems to me silly to have them flocking around until you can't think.

"I have tried to make her see how I feel but she just accuses me of being 'unsociable' and reminds me that I knew she liked company when I married her. It has got to the point where we are almost on the verge of a break and that I don't want. I love her and we have two children, but sometimes I doubt her love for me, since she won't consider my wishes in this matter. What can I do? How can I make her see my side?

"JOHN BURNHAM."

How'll you change her? Well, let's put the question the other way around.

How can she change you? How can she make you over from a Fireside Freddie to a Whoopee Willie?

"But I don't want to change!" you say indignantly. "Why should I change? There's nothing wrong with a quiet home life. She knew I was that kind of a chap before she married me and as my wife it's up to her to respect my wishes!"

MUST COMPROMISE

Then you don't love her enough to change?

"Nonsense!" you snort. "Of course I love her and prove it every day I live. But why should I have to prove it by changing my habits like this when I'm perfectly all right as I am?"

Is that what you're saying, John? Well, that is also exactly what she is saying!

It's not any more wrong or unnatural for her to want a sociable home life than for you to want a quiet one. You, too, "knew that she was that kind" before you married her. And she also suspects that you "don't love her" or you'd change.

Sounds funny, coming from the other fellow's side, doesn't it? But if you won't change for her, why should she change for you?

The truth is you'll both have to change a little if you want to get along. You must speed up a bit; she must slow down a bit. You must arrive at a happy compromise.

That's the basis of every happy marriage, and of every successful life. If you can't do that in either marriage or life, you're going to be a flop.

Fay King Shocked by News of Violence From Lovely City Like Honolulu

ITS PRAISES HAVE BEEN SUNG AROUND THE WORLD
FAY KING.

By FAY KING

To be startled by a snake in a basket of beautiful flowers on our table could hardly shock us more than the deplorable news we have been reading lately from Honolulu.

Those who have visited there, time and time again, have always returned singing its praises and have especially dwelled upon the gentleness and gracious hospitality of its people.

It would seem wrong to alter these pleasant impressions without the calmest consideration and fairest investigation of every angle in the regrettable situation existing there just now.

For so long beautiful Honolulu has been the favorite playground of the Pacific that it makes us very sad indeed to hear suddenly such discord in that place, famous the world over for its sweet harmony.

Madge, Banished From Sick Room, Is "Put to Bed"

My "conviction of sin" in my treatment of Lillian and Katherine increased as rapidly as a rolled snowball, while I lay obediently quiescent, as Lillian had bidden me after the physician had banished me from my baby's sick room.

By the time Lillian entered the room again, I was fully ready for the "mourners' bench."

"Bawth all drawn, m'lady!" Lillian's voice and manner were that of the stage English lady's maid. She came up to the bed and put out her hand to help me arise.

"I am so ashamed of myself," I said. "You and Katherine are—"

Lillian slipped her hands under my uplifted arms and fairly lifted me from the bed and stood me upon my feet.

"Oh, yes, Katherine and I are probably the world's best bets," she said. "We admit it, but suppose you let it go at that and for the love of Abraham and all his family, don't waste any time in getting remorseful because your nerves went on a strike after an ordeal that would have floored Queen Elizabeth, Joan of Arc, or any of the other feminine stars. Katherine and I understand fully, and you certainly are big enough not to worry about what some doctor thinks."

"Of course I know what's the matter with you," she went on. "I've had attacks of the same malady myself. So has every woman who tries to combine any kind of creative career with motherhood. While the attack lasts, you haven't any perspective whatever, and upon rare occasions an unprejudiced observer wouldn't call you sane. I am speaking impersonally, y' understand," she grinned at me companionably, "but you can put the cap on nevertheless, for it fits you perfectly. You'll get over it, however, we all do."

With this airy bit of philosophy she took me by the arm and walked me to the door.

"Your bath is all ready," she said. "I'll give you five minutes. Then if you are not back I'll yank you out even if you've just begun your cold shower, so make it snappy."

I defy any one not to be heartened by Lillian's words, even if they irritate instead of gratify. I found myself speeding through my bath as if she were standing over me holding a stop-watch, and it was well within the time she had named, when, tingling from the ice cold shower, which never fails to invigorate, I returned to my bedroom.

"Good girl," she patted my pillow as she uttered the familiar words of greeting. "Now you get in here, pronto, and drink this without any oh's and ah's."

I opened my lips in protest, for I was sure that the glass of milk she proffered me held a sedative.

"Neither and nor but," she quoted as she put the glass to my lips, and I, willy-nilly, was compelled to down it.

"Praise be to Allah! it's cooler this morning," she said, when I had finished, "and you ought to be able to sleep well. I'll just put this one light blanket over the sheet. If it gets cooler, I'll tiptoe in and put something else over you."

She took both my hands in hers and looked steadily down into my eyes.

"Now, go to sleep and forget everything," she commanded. "Look at me."

When I awakened, there was no one in the room. I touched my bell and the door opened as if it were the lid of a Jack-in-a-box and Junior, pride investing every line of his figure, swaggered into the room.

"I am perfectly all right, thank you," I said, returning his hug and kiss with compound interest. "But how is Faith?"

"I guess she's all right," Junior said, "or I'd 'ave been told about it. The doctor's in there now."

Household Hints

When baking cakes put a small dish of water at bottom of the oven and the cakes will not burn.

Cold water is best to remove an egg stain or a blood stain. Soak in cold water first, then wash out in warm.

Stockings frequently become marked at the ankles with stains. To remove them, rub with methylated spirit.

Returning Letters

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A young man and I had a quarrel and during this quarrel I asked him to return a picture, also some letters I have written to him. He refused, saying I was quite rude to ask him to do this. When we said goodbye we agreed to continue as good friends.

Do you think I was rude, and if so, shall I apologize? H.

No, you weren't rude, but were quite within your social right to ask for the return of your photograph and letters, if you wished to have them back. And the young man shouldn't have commented on your request, but should have done as you asked.

If you still wish to have these returned, and if the young man yet hasn't done it, you may, with propriety, write him a note repeating your request. A gracious note, of course, but a definite one.

Men Singers at Weddings

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I wonder if you'll be kind enough to let me know at your earliest convenience whether or not it is proper to have a young man sing at a wedding in place of a young lady.

LILLIAN.

Yes, it is just as correct to have a man sing at a wedding as it is to have a woman sing.

Cross Ruffing a Hand

The hand given below illustrates several important points:

	♠ 8 2 ♥ K J 9 ♣ K 7 5 4 ♦ Q 10 3 2
♠ K 3 ♥ Q 10 2 ♣ J 10 8 6 3 ♦ 9 7 4	Y A B Z	♠ A Q 5 4 ♥ 8 7 6 5 ♣ A Q 9 2 ♦ 6
	♠ J 10 9 7 6 ♥ A 4 3 ♣ ♦ A K J 8 5

Having two biddable suits of equal length, Z first showed his higher suit, bidding 1-Spade. Of course, A and B made no bids. Y shifted to 1-No Trump. To show the probable strength of his hand, Z jumped into 3-Diamonds, which Y ventured to carry to 5-Diamonds.

A's opening lead was his fourth best club. Y covered with the 7. B applied the rule of 11 (6 from 11 leaves 5) and overplayed the 7 with his 9, knowing that Z held no club higher than the 6, led by A. The declarer won with a trump.

Before leading to the second trick, Z carefully considered what method offered the best chances. He must lose two spade tricks, obligating him not to lose a trick in any other suit. Z could win five diamond tricks in his own hand, there were three good hearts, provided A held the missing Q; he must have dummy trump at least three spades to give him the required 11 tricks bid, unless things went so smoothly that spades could be established and then trumps pulled.

An important side principle of cross ruffing is to win tricks in short suits before an opponent can discard from that suit, then unexpectantly ruff a late lead of the short suit. Knowing this danger, dummy was put in the lead by finessing its J of hearts. A return lead of spades was made. B played low and A won the trick with the K. A led back his top club through dummy's K. Y played low, and so did B. Z ruffed, and won the next trick with Y's K of hearts. Seeing the 10 dropped by A, the declarer calculated that B held at least one more heart, even if A were false carding, and won the remaining heart trick in his own hand.

Z's next lead of spades was won with B's Q. He led back a trump, hoping to cut down cross ruffs to a point where game could not be made. Z won the trick and led a spade which dummy trumped. Y's return lead of a club was ruffed by Z, and the fourth round of spades was trumped by dummy, dropping B's A. This left Z with a good spade and a top trump. A had left only two small trumps. Y had a losing club and one top trump. B held the thirteenth heart and the winning club. All that was needed to go game was for Z to lead and trump Y's club. Y would then trump the declarer's good spade, while A under-trumped both leads.

Had opponents twice led trumps, dummy could have trumped only two spades. In addition Y-Z would have won three heart tricks and five diamond tricks for the declarer, ten tricks in all, or just one trick short of game.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Arthritis Now Traced to Infection and Is Curable

Dr. Copeland

One of the most common and oldest diseases of mankind is arthritis. According to historical records primitive man, and even animals that roamed this earth before man arrived, were afflicted with this disease.

Although the disease has been known for many centuries, its treatment was not very satisfactory. In fact, until recent years the disease was considered a practically hopeless one.

Within recent years has arisen the belief that arthritis is caused by an infection. This infection may come from the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gallbladder, pelvic organs or any infected organ of the body. Arthritis may also follow such acute infections as measles, scarlet fever, pneumonia, meningitis and smallpox.

The germs of the infection enter the blood stream and are carried to different joints of the body, where they produce their harmful effects.

The first attack of arthritis is painful. Fever may be present. The afflicted joint is inflamed, swollen, tender to touch and painful on motion. Often actual body changes occur in the joint, causing it to become deformed and difficult to move. If neglected, the joint in time becomes immovable.

Arthritis is curable. Former methods of treatment failed to relieve because the real seat of the trouble was not known, but modern X-ray and laboratory tests enable us to get at the root of the trouble.

If you suffer from a painful joint and have been told you have arthritis, you must not be satisfied to apply ointments to the afflicted joint. The only successful treatment is to remove all points of infection, such as infected teeth and sinuses, and troubles of the other organs I have mentioned.

If the teeth are decayed and infected they must be extracted. Infected tonsils are a frequent cause of arthritis. Age is no factor, and it is just as important for an elderly individual to have infected tonsils removed as it is for a child.

It is now possible to have infected tonsils removed by an electrical instrument. It is regarded by its advocates as an ideal method for elderly persons who have infected tonsils and are suffering from arthritis.

In addition to the removal of all possible centers of infection, diet and personal hygiene must not be neglected. An excess of meat, meat soups, fried foods and spiced foods should be avoided. Water should be taken freely. A daily bowel evacuation is imperative.

Do not accept medicines that claim to cure arthritis. They may deaden the pain, but do not cure. Please remember that arthritis can only be cured by a general survey of the body to determine the cause of the infection. Relief can only be obtained when the cause is removed.

KEEPS little AILMENTS from growing into BIG ONES!

It may be just a coated tongue tonight . . . with dull eyes, bad color and breath. But by these symptoms Nature is telling you that you may have a sick child tomorrow.

Help tonight is simple. Tomorrow it may be harder. A single simple dose of Castoria is usually all that's needed to bring relief; it often keeps a serious illness from developing.

Castoria, you know, is the children's own remedy—made specially to give the gentle help their delicate organs must have. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

In any starting illness such as a cold, a little fever, a food upset, a first-aid dose of Castoria is always a wise precaution.

It's never hard to get children to take Castoria. They love its taste, and are grateful for the relief it always brings to tied-up systems.

For babies or for older children, depend on Castoria's gentle regulation. It has kept many a little ailment from growing into a serious one! Genuine Castoria always has the name Chas. H. Fletcher on the package.

May We Borrow Your "George Washington Period" Heirlooms?

Pittsburgh, scene of much of George Washington's adventurous early life, abounds in colonial treasures. And Gimbels, in co-operation with the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration, would like to display these things during February.

The kind of heirlooms we would like to borrow are bonafide originals of the 1732 to 1800 period:

Women's Dresses
Women's Wraps
Children's Apparel
Military Uniforms
Art Objects
Documents
Fire Arms
Furniture
Millinery
Coins

Ownership of each object, of course, will be carefully indicated in our display.

Heirlooms received at our George Washington Heirloom Office, Tenth Floor, Sixth Avenue side, this week. Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated. We can't call for these articles, but have arranged to return them to you.

Galloping Game Has Many Fans Among Players In Film Colony

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20.

Thinking of taking up Hollywood's new fad, polo?

Better reconsider. Even with horseflesh selling way below par, the game's a luxury. Darryl Zanuck, one of the film colony's leading enthusiasts, has five mounts, which cost him $7,500.

Jimmy Gleason, Will Rogers and the rest all have large stables.

Will Rogers

According to Zanuck and Gleason, it costs from $200 to $250 a month to play polo. This includes upkeep of horses, veterinary services, saddles blankets, balls, mallets and other equipment.

The Warner Brothers enthusiasts even went so far as to have a practice field built on the studio back-ranch. They had to split the $8,000 cost.

Polo, they say, makes worse addicts than golf.

And, in polo, you stand to break worse than commandments.

CONSIDERATE THESPIAN

Today's best Hollywood story is about the actor who had a reputation of never paying his bills.

One day he took a friend to help him pick out a suit. The cost of the suit was $60, but by talking a half hour, the actor managed to get the price down to $40.

As they stepped out of the store onto Hollywood boulevard, his friend said:

"You don't intend to pay for that suit, anyway. Why did you waste the fellow's time?"

"Oh," said the actor, straightening his tie, "I didn't want him to lose so much."

GOSSIP

Michael Barry, who rides with Edgar Wallace's colors, and who is one of the world's better- they reported on the set to start "Grand Hotel" . . . Another momentous meeting of the week was between Hollywood's two known jockeys, has been going places with Rochelle Hudson, R-K-O's pretty Wampas star . . . Greta Garbo and John Barrymore met for the first time when dynamos, Lupe Velez and Lily Damita. They were introduced to each other at Paramount and exchanged invitations to come over some time . . . Bob Montgomery has bought his fourth polo horse . . . and Vic Fleming owns a new airplane.

Montgomery

You must be careful about pronouncing Sari Maritza's name. The young lady calls it "Sah'ree Mah'ritza." She has an aversion to "Sehree" . . . The Hays code forbids the use of the word "devil" in a motion picture title . . . Helen Twelvetrees and her husband have taken Harry Carey's house in Brentwood. Since they own no horses, they use the large stable to house their pet coyote.

Joan Bennett's screen future has been mapped out for some time to come. When she finishes that long-postponed story, "She Wanted a Millionaire," Fox will put her in "Widow's Might." And after that, she will have the lead in "Society Girl," the John Larkin-Charles Behan play, which recently came to Broadway.

And, off-screen, there's her engagement to Gene Markey. It's definitely serious.

New Enright Program Opens Today

The Enright today offers a complete new change of both screen and stage program. Bernice Claire, star of stage and screen, is headlining the five acts of vaudeville. Other stage acts include Dave Vine, Gates, Claire and Haines, and the Normen Thomas Five. The screen offers "Strictly Dishonorable," with Lewis Stone, Paul Lukas and Sidney Fox.

Prima Donna

Gloria Swanson will come to the Penn screen Friday as an opera singer in search of romance in the talkie, "Tonight or Never."

New Montgomery Film Gets Final Title

"Lovers Courageous" has been selected as final title for Robert Montgomery's latest starring picture, in which Madge Evans has the principal feminine role. The supporting cast of this original Frederick Lonsdale scenario includes Roland Young, Reginald Owen, Frederick Kerr and Beryl Mercer. The picture was directed by Robert Z. Leonard, whose last previous directorial effort was Greta Garbo's "Susan Lenox."

Tech's Stage Producing 'Electra'

Under the direction of Chester Wallace, students in the Department of Drama, Carnegie Institute of Technology, will present Euripides' tragedy, "Electra," for a week, beginning tonight. This evening's performance will be given especially for the members of the Drama League of Pittsburgh as a preliminary event in the observance of National Drama Week.

Mr. Wallace is using the Gilbert Murray translation of "Electra," which preserves the beauty of the original poetry of Euripides. It is by coincidence, that the famous Greek play is given at the same time Eugene O'Neill's modern version is being shown for the first time in a Pittsburgh theater.

The stage life of "Electra" has been a history of 2,000 years. In New York at the present time, the Sophocles' version is being played with Blanche Yurka as Electra and Mrs. Pat Campbell, distinguished English actress, as Clytemnestra.

The Carnegie production is being directed and staged in close harmony with the spirit of the Greek. The setting is an adaptation of the simple background of a Greek temple.

Elizabeth Drake will take the role of Electra; Donn Bonhoff, Orestes; Olivia Kelly and Janet Feather, Clytemnestra; George Hilderbrand, the peasant; William Beale, an old man; Robert Gill, a messenger. The chorus is composed of Dorothy Devlin, Charlotte Rothrock, Edythe Tenney, Margery Lewine, Eloise Eubank and Nelle Lea Huffman. Followers of Orestes are Edward Palkot and Bartlett Robinson. Pylades will be played by Walter Derdeyn; Castor, by Regis Joyce, and Polydeuces by Donald Aikenhead.

Emma Dunn Portrays New Dialect Role

Emma Dunn has probably played more dialect roles than any other actress on the screen. Some of these are Irish, Spanish, Italian, German, Swedish, Jewish, Cockney and Southern Negro. Miss Dunn is now appearing as the Italian mother in Columbia's "The Guilty Generation."

Army Regiment Honors Joan Bennett

Joan Bennett has received word that she has been commissioned an honorary colonel in the 347th Field Artillery, reserve corps. The silver eagles will be presented to her at a banquet of the regiment's officers.

Gaylord Yost, Violinist, Concert Feature

Gaylord Yost, violinist, and Marian Clark Bollinger, pianist, will be heard in a recital of violin and piano sonatas in the recital room of the Pittsburgh Musical Institute at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening. Sonatas by Schubert, Carpenter and Respighi will be played.

Infantry to Mark Washington Fete

The bicentennial of the birth of George Washington will be observed by the Washington Infantry, oldest independent military organization in the United States, and Pittsburgh's only independent military company, with a banquet in Soldiers' Memorial Hall February 22. Sergt. Norman W. Morgan will be chairman.

Walter Winchell's Column will be found on Page 11.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Ray Kirkwood, who used to get his name on a lotta advertising sheets for photoplays produced by the late Thomas H. Ince—"directed by Ray Kirkwood"—is the guest of a relative, James Joyce, 5712 Baum boulevard. Mr. Kirkwood—no relation of James—is a Pittsburgh boy, who left home some years ago to go to Australia. In Frisco he met Mr. Ince, quite by chance. So he didn't go to Australia, but to Inceville. There he hustled around the studio until eventually he became an assistant and, in good time, say a couple of months, you know how it is in Hollywood, a full fledged director. It may have been longer, but we're in a Horatio Alger mood today. Anyway, as a director, Mr. Kirkwood handled the old meg on a whole series of Charlie Ray fillims, as well as pix for such stars as Dorothy Dalton, Louise Glaum and others. For two years he has been in Spain, where he directed five cinemas for a Spanish company. Now he has plans for independent production to be made in N'Yawk and Yurrup. Before he shook Pittsburgh for Australia, where he expects to arrive some day, Mr. Kirkwood was engineer and telegrapher for a local oil company.

Everybody is Talking About the Outstanding Event of Pittsburgh's Theatrical Season and the Critics Said:

"Mourning Becomes Electra" is grand O'Neill Trilogy. Something Olympian, something mountainous, has come to this village, and it is as if another Wagner was writing epics, another Michael Angelo was hacking marble, and that is how some of us re-acted to this tragica erotica, this chronicle of the miserable Mannons and called "Mourning Becomes Electra."
HARVEY GAUL, Post Gazette.

Nixon presentation of "Mourning Becomes Electra" in some ways surpasses New York production of O'Neill's Commanding, Startling, Terrific Trilogy. Nectar to the "elect" as the tragedy is, "Mourning Becomes Electra" is a play for ALL.
FLORENCE FISHER PARRY, Press.

And it is a play, viewing the three plays as one, so admirably built from climax to climax that the only parallel is to be found in the architecture of the Parthenon. From 5:30 to 11:10 the great audience sat in the spell of this awesome tragedy. O'Neill has never built his scenes better—he has never lent his dialogue such concentrated vitality—he has never given his characters more accurate and inevitable motivation.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Although it isn't April, the weather makes us feel like it, and suggests we "goon on pilgrimages" just as in the Canterbury Tales. With the formal season over, and many departures to the South postponed until snow swirls, it is an an ideal time to visit friends.

Mrs Robert J Dunham Jr of Lake Forest Ill. plans to arrive tomorrow morning to be the guest of Mrs W L G Gibson of Northumberland street. They were classmates at Miss Wright's School. During her week's visit here Mrs Dunham will be feted at many informal affairs.

Among them will be a dinner her hostess will give in her honor on Saturday night.

Sojourn In South

The George S. Batons have gone to Miami where they'll spend a month.

Mary Black will entertain tomorrow in her home for Helen Pendleton who'll marry Frank Boyce McKown on Saturday.

Added to the entertainment for Eleanor Rowe who's to marry Nelson Vance Harper a week from Saturday is the rehearsal dinner to be given in the home of the Junior Wallace Hurtle Rowes on January 29.

The George Lewis Calbrys whose marriage took place January 6 are in Port Sewall, Fla. and the Alfred G Kays of Pittsburgh and Palm Beach arrive in Florida this week from Switzerland. The Frederic Byerses of Sewickley Heights are guests of Richard Howe of New York on his yacht in the South. They were among the guests of Mrs Howe's box at the opening of the racing season at Hialeah during the past week-end.

At Aiken, S C is Mrs Thomas Hitchcock of New York, daughter of the W L Mellons of Pittsburgh.

Mrs Charles Heinroth Feted by Music Club

Mrs Charles Heinroth a former treasurer of the Tuesday Musical Club was guest of honor at a luncheon in the Twentieth Century Club yesterday. Covers were laid for 44 all members of the board past presidents and chairmen of committees. Mrs Elmer W. Flaccus president of the club presented Mrs Heinroth with a corsage of orchids. Preceding the afternoon program in Memorial Hall an informal reception was held with Mrs Flaccus and the two vice presidents Mrs Sidney A. Chalfant and Mrs D V Murdoch, receiving with Mrs Heinroth, who will retain her membership even though she is moving to New York.

The program was a miscellaneous one arranged by Else Sternsdorff and Marie Crawford Pease. Letha Frazier Rankin soprano, opened the program, singing compositions of Bononcini, Caldara and Durante. As a second event, Mrs. Isaac Davis pianist, played two Chopin numbers and the Liszt Rhapsody No. 6. Jean McCrory Newman, contralto sang two Schumann and two Brahms works. Rose Meitlein Litt, violinist played a group comprising compositions of Lalo Heuberger-Kreisler Brahms-Hochstetter and Gardner. Mrs. Rankin and Mrs Newman closing with two duets by Humperdink and Brahms. Marion Clark Hollinger played accompaniments.

FLOWERS HAVE LEADING ROLE IN SPRING MILLINERY PAGEANT

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

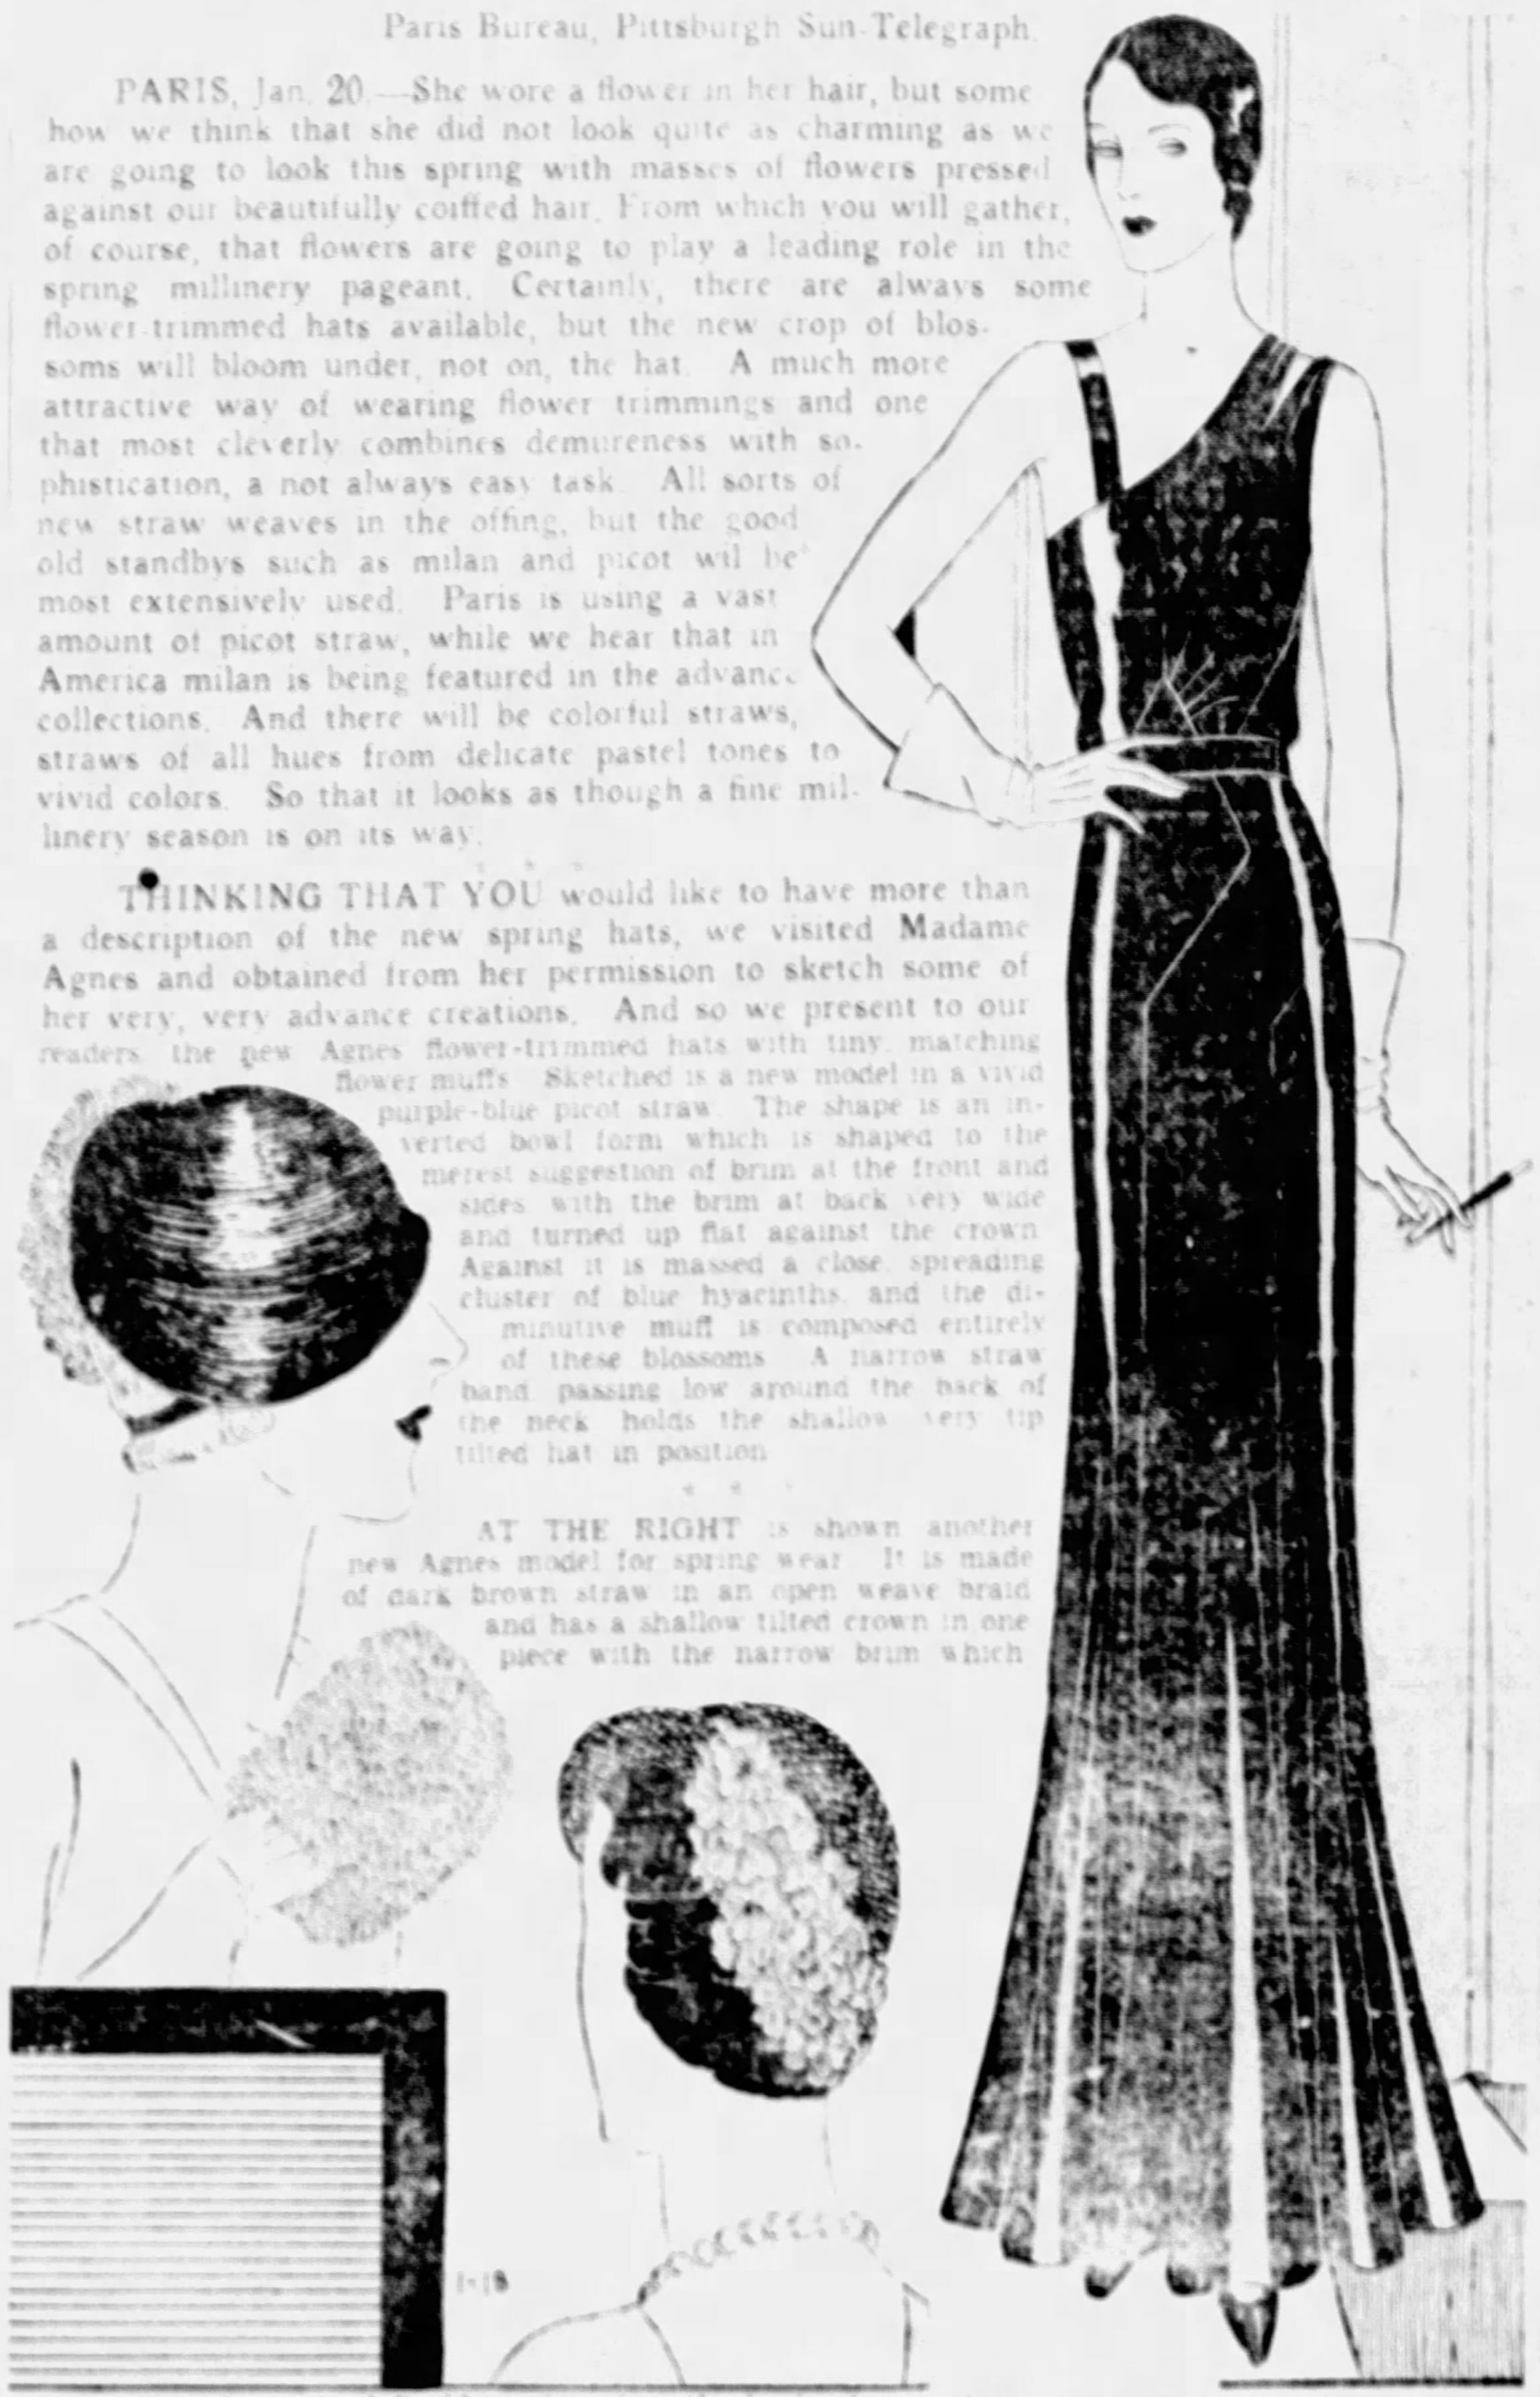
PARIS, Jan. 20.—She wore a flower in her hair, but somehow we think that she did not look quite as charming as we are going to look this spring with masses of flowers pressed against our beautifully coiffed hair. From which you will gather, of course, that flowers are going to play a leading role in the spring millinery pageant. Certainly, there are always some flower-trimmed hats available, but the new crop of blossoms will bloom under, not on, the hat. A much more attractive way of wearing flower trimmings and one that most cleverly combines demureness with sophistication, a not always easy task. All sorts of new straw weaves in the offing, but the good old standbys such as milan and picot wil be most extensively used. Paris is using a vast amount of picot straw, while we hear that in America milan is being featured in the advance collections. And there will be colorful straws, straws of all hues from delicate pastel tones to vivid colors. So that it looks as though a fine millinery season is on its way.

* * *

THINKING THAT YOU would like to have more than a description of the new spring hats, we visited Madame Agnes and obtained from her permission to sketch some of her very, very advance creations. And so we present to our readers the new Agnes flower-trimmed hats with tiny matching flower muffs. Sketched is a new model in a vivid purple-blue picot straw. The shape is an inverted bowl form which is shaped to the merest suggestion of brim at the front and sides with the brim at back very wide and turned up flat against the crown. Against it is massed a close, spreading cluster of blue hyacinths, and the diminutive muff is composed entirely of these blossoms. A narrow straw band passing low around the back of the neck holds the shallow very tip tilted hat in position.

* * *

AT THE RIGHT is shown another new Agnes model for spring wear. It is made of dark brown straw in an open weave braid and has a shallow tilted crown in one piece with the narrow brim which rolls up sharply at the left side and against the back. A spreading mass of bright red flowers made of shirred ribbon is pressed closely against the brim and hair in back.



* * *

THE BRUYERE evening gown is of lustrous heavy black satin. The bodice and upper part of the skirt mold the figure and are composed of diagonal piecings. A slight suppleness is given to the front of the bodice by the insertion of a fan-shaped group of darts just above the waistline. The belt is narrow and fastens to one side. The diagonal line of the decolletage has an interesting feature in the slashed shoulder strap on the higher side. At the opposite shoulder a flat, straight band serves as a shoulder strap.

D A R Chapter Serves Foreign Students Meals

Believing that patriotism is more easily learned when the stomach is satisfied, members of Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, today began serving a noon dinner to foreign students at the Hancock School. This they will do each Wednesday for the remainder of the school term, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Urquhart. The Americanism committee headed by Mrs. Biddle Arthurs has charge of the new activity. The chapter is also serving bread and jam for the morning meal at the school, where a Children of the Republic Club has just been organized.

At yesterday's board meeting of the chapter announcement was made of the appointment by Mrs. Joseph Caley state regent, of Mrs. William J. Askin as state delegate to the women's patriotic conference on national defense to be held in Washington, February 1-3.

Club Notes

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the Goucher College Alumnae Association will meet Saturday at the College Club to hear Miss Jean Thoburn talk on "Developing the Creative Instinct Through Art."

Hostesses will be Miss Louisa Knox, Mrs. Paul Purchard, Miss Ruth Lowman, Miss Mary Ann Porter, Mrs. Willis Boothe and Mrs. J. F. McCune.

* * *

Mrs. Milton Jena, who is "Polly" of the Post-Gazette, is to speak tomorrow before the Aspinwall Woman's Club. Miss Cecil Kitkat, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will present a group of students in a demonstration of eurythmics.

A change has been made in the date of meeting for the American Legion Post No 5 Auxiliary and it is being held today instead of tomorrow in the East Liberty Y. M C. A.

JEWISH COUNCIL TO HOLD RALLY

Oakland Meeting Set for Next Wednesday

Under auspices of its department of service for foreign-born, the Council of Jewish Women will hold a rally next Wednesday evening in the Holmes School, Dawson street. The rally has been planned in an effort to reach all non-English speaking groups in the Oakland district, looking towards the establishment of day or night classes in English in co-operation with the Board of Public Education.

Invitations have been sent to leaders of foreign groups in the city, to the editors of foreign papers and to directors of settlements and educational institutions and to the clergy.

Mrs Leo Half, president of the council, will welcome the guests. Andrew Marchbin will speak in Yiddish; Frank Skalok, executive director of the Brashear Settlement, will address the group in English, and Father Silast Tretiak, of the Greek Orthodox Church, in Russian. Mrs. E. O. Tabor will present folk songs in costume, and this is to be succeeded by refreshments and a social hour.

* * *

Women Invited

Women of Homewood, Squirrel Hill and East Liberty have been invited by the East Liberty Woman's Club to attend its reciprocity meeting and open house in the East Liberty Young Women's Christian Association tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. John V. Clippinger, a past president of the Squirrel Hill Community Club, will have charge of the music and will sing a group of solos. Mrs. Harry Charles, representing the Homewood Women's Club, will read and Mrs. Norval R. Daugherty and Mrs. Garnet E. Cooper, presidents of the two organizations, will speak briefly on "Functioning as a Club in the Interest of the Community."

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons, the principal speaker, will talk on "Hospital Standardization."

* * *

On March 2, the drama members of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club will present "The Last of the Jones," the play given Monday afternoon for their own group, before the Carrick Mothers' Club. Mrs. C. L. Hickling has the leading role and the cast also includes Mrs. S. B. Alexander, Mrs. H. F. Phillips and Mrs. C. G. Platz.

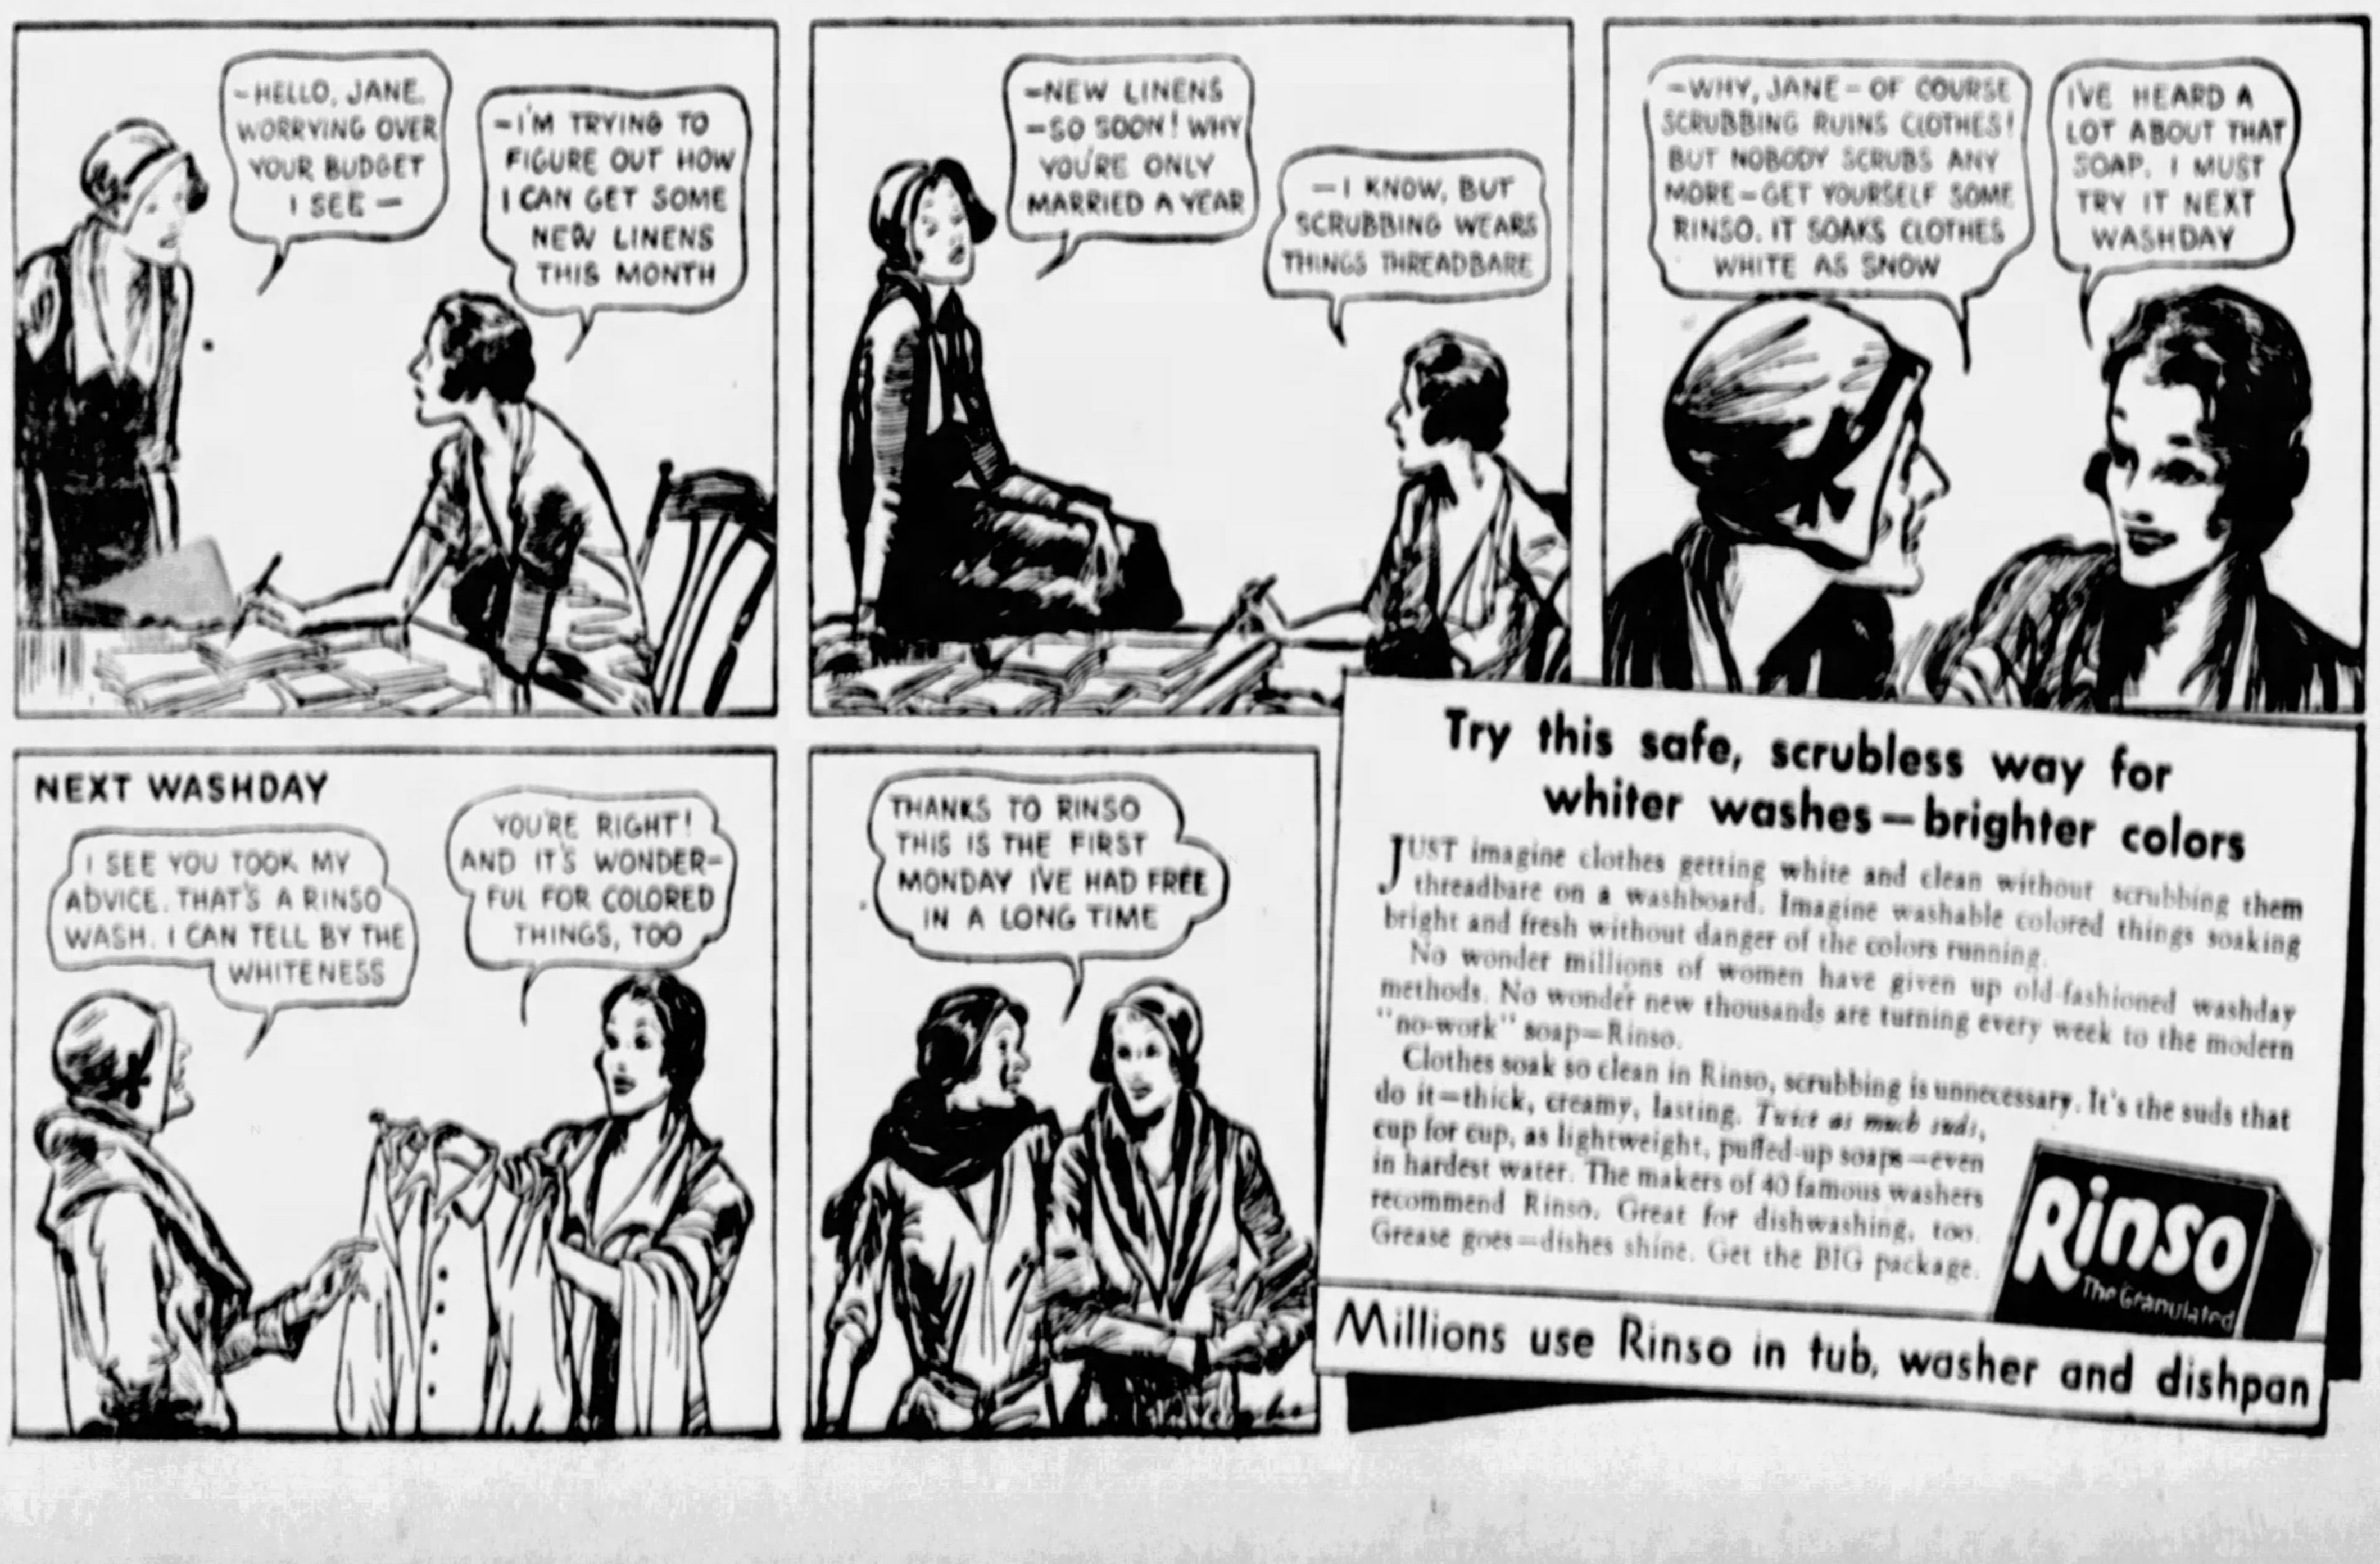
NOW SHE LAUGHS AT WASHDAY —by C.A.Voight



—HELLO, JANE. WORRYING OVER YOUR BUDGET I SEE—
I'M TRYING TO FIGURE OUT HOW I CAN GET SOME NEW LINENS THIS MONTH
—NEW LINENS —SO SOON! WHY YOU'RE ONLY MARRIED A YEAR
—I KNOW, BUT SCRUBBING WEARS THINGS THREADBARE
—WHY, JANE— OF COURSE SCRUBBING RUINS CLOTHES! BUT NOBODY SCRUBS ANY MORE—GET YOURSELF SOME RINSO. IT SOAKS CLOTHES WHITE AS SNOW
I'VE HEARD A LOT ABOUT THAT SOAP. I MUST TRY IT NEXT WASHDAY
NEXT WASHDAY
I SEE YOU TOOK MY ADVICE. THAT'S A RINSO WASH. I CAN TELL BY THE WHITENESS
YOU'RE RIGHT! AND IT'S WONDERFUL FOR COLORED THINGS, TOO
THANKS TO RINSO THIS IS THE FIRST MONDAY I'VE HAD FREE IN A LONG TIME
Rinso The Granulated

Try this safe, scrubless way for whiter washes—brighter colors

JUST imagine clothes getting white and clean without scrubbing them threadbare on a washboard. Imagine washable colored things soaking bright and fresh without danger of the colors running.

No wonder millions of women have given up old-fashioned washday methods. No wonder new thousands are turning every week to the modern "no-work" soap—Rinso.

Clothes soak so clean in Rinso, scrubbing is unnecessary. It's the suds that do it—thick, creamy, lasting. Twice as much suds, cup for cup, as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. The makers of 40 famous washers recommend Rinso. Great for dishwashing, too. Grease goes—dishes shine. Get the BIG package.

Millions use Rinso in tub, washer and dishpan

Bath Tub Duckings Win Wife Alimony

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Ervin Boettcher had a system about which his wife complained when she appeared before Judge Miller asking for temporary alimony.

Before going out nights, she said, he would fill the bathtub with cold water, and if she had any objections to his departure he would solve the question by tossing her into the tub. She got the temporary alimony.

Two Students Killed On Way From Dance

MANSFIELD, Pa., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Two men were killed and two others injured, one probably fatally, today, when the automobile in which they were en route home from a dance skidded, swerved from the road and crashed into a bridge.

The dead were Kelly Walsh, 19, and Thomas Evans, 24. Nathan Trexler, 26, and Cameron Griffith, 22, were hurt. All four were students at Mansfield State Teachers' College.

WISE ECONOMY

Provident people, while strictly conforming with the tendency of the times in the practice of economy, are not sacrificing their standards of living.

Such a sacrifice, they wisely conclude, would be false economy. Moreover, it is unnecessary.

The truth of this statement is demonstrable at Schenley Apartments, where the single rental check acquires all comforts and conveniences requisite to the best mode of living and makes unnecessary many varied expenditures formerly considered unavoidable.

Our rental office, on the premises, will demonstrate how important savings are effected by the remarkable Schenley Service—a system employing 125 attendants—which provides the highest-type hotel service on an apartment basis.

Suites for immediate possession—or for lease as of May 1st—may be inspected from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily; also Sundays.

PLAN AUDITIONS IN VOICE TEST

In another 10 days Pittsburgh will hear from the girl with the sweetest voice. As fast as the nomination blanks come in they are sorted into districts and it is hoped that auditions will begin early next week.

When the Sun-Telegraph started this search in co-operation with Radio Station WCAE it was not anticipated that so many girls would be interested in the offer. The contest editor, however, has been swamped with applications.

The winner of this contest, the "girl with the sweetest voice," will be given an opportunity to participate in a daily Sun-Telegraph broadcast over Station WCAE. Bear in mind that it is a speaking voice that is being sought—a warm, friendly, golden voice.

Where is this girl? If you have an idea that you could fit into this attractive position fill in the application blank on this page and you will be notified where to appear for an audition.

Court Denies Claim Against Closed Bank

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 20—(AP)—A decision denying a preferred claim of the First National Bank of Huntingdon, Pa., in liquidation of the Title and Trust Company of Western Pennsylvania of Connellsville was handed down by Judge Davis W. Henderson.

Mrs. J. H. Lollar of Connellsville had given notice of the withdrawal of $2,684.02 from the Connellsville Bank and assigned it to the Huntingdon institution on a loan. The Title and Trust Company forwarded the check to the Huntingdon bank three days before the Connellsville bank closed. The check was not returned in time to be cashed.

PLAYERS' CLUB PLANS BENEFIT

Miss Englert

The Rialto Players Club of Pittsburgh will give a benefit performance of the three-act melodrama "The Bells," January 27 in Moose Temple, Penn avenue and Seventh street. Proceeds will be for the Thirty-second Ward Organization's Relief Committee to assist needy families in the Overbrook district. The play will be directed by Fred Cornelius.

Mr. Kotek

Miss Emma Englert is directing publicity for the Rialto Players Club and Stephen Kotek is active in the committee arranging the show. The relief committee is headed by James J. Demskie, chairman, and includes J. J. Brown and J. J. Vollmer. Fourteen organizations are represented.

Steals Pennies, Gets 30-Day Sentence

A few pennies which Joseph Hilton, 38, Negro, no home, admitted stealing from the news stands of George Pillan, at Sixth avenue and Wood street, this morning resulted in a 30-day workhouse sentence. Hilton told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central station he stole because he was hungry.

No Voting Machines By April Predicted

By MARK SHIELDS

That there will be no voting machines in the primary election next April is a safe prediction. That they will be perfected for use in the general election this year is doubtful. The whole story of voting machines in Allegheny County is a dismal tale of lethargy, inefficiency and wilful refusal to obey the principle of the law establishing machines as a means of electing public officials.

Mark Shields

The blame lies directly at the door of the majority of the old Board of County Commissioners.

John W. Vickerman, new director of the Bureau of Elections, told the Commissioners yesterday rather hopelessly that the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, manufacturers of the machines, is "evasive and indefinite." The machines, now stored in the new county office building, must undergo alterations, and the company, for which a receivership has been asked, is only now making the necessary tools. The machines should be ready at least two weeks before election if they are to be utilized.

* * *

Did Not Move Quickly After Passage of Law

Evasion has marked every step of the voting machine acquisition, and the company is not alone at fault. In the first place, the Commissioners did not move with celerity after the law was passed in 1929. There were no machines in 1930, few at the September primary of 1931, and only a few more for the general election.

In their initial slackness, and the manner in which they permitted the Poole company to ignore dates on which it had promised deliveries, the Commissioners had the tacit approval of practically every organization politician. And the manufacturing company, noting the attitude of the majority Commissioners, apparently felt it could do as it pleased in meeting obligations.

* * *

Whole Tangle Shot Through With Politics

The contract with the Poole company was not signed until March 26, 1931. And on that contract Allegheny County paid out something over a million dollars. There are two bonds to protect the county, one of $425,000, placed recently when final payment was made to the Poole company and intended to guarantee the readjustments of the machines demanded by Secretary of the Commonwealth Beamish.

But before suit can be entered under this bond, if the Poole company does not perform its promises, suit must be fought out on the first bond. And litigation on performance bonds is a weary process. Often no attempt is made to enforce them, though now we have a Board of Commissioners who will push such cases if necessary.

The whole voting machine tangle is disgusting, shot through with politics. Rebuke was administered to those directly responsible at the last election. But, as has been pointed out, they were only representative of general thought among organization politicians, another thing independents should keep in mind for future material with which to challenge the old-line governing class.

Mansfield Nominates; His Colleagues Confirm

William D. Mansfield as minority County Commissioner is supposed to have the filling of three important positions in the reorganized government: County solicitor, chairman of the tax board and director of airport. But it isn't working out quite that way. He will name the men, but they must be satisfactory to the other two Commissioners. Mansfield nominates, but they confirm, with something approaching a veto power. Episodes of the last campaign are responsible, and naturally so.

The solicitorship is illustrative. Mansfield first wanted O. K. Eaton, and when that failed, he desired James H. McClure, member of the Legislature and his campaign manager in the September primary. He doesn't get either, the other Commissioners raising objections.

* * *

Thumbs Turned Down On Eaton for Solicitor

Thumbs were turned down on Eaton because he represents the Poole Engineering Company. Objections originated with Mrs. John O. Miller and Mrs Templeton Smith, it is understood. There was a time when Eaton, who announced the other day that he didn't want the job, was eager for it, but he cooled as objections continued and the other comissioners raised opposition.

McClure, it is reported, was felt to lack experience, despite his approval by Mansfield.

Mansfield succeeded in having George Meyers, of Dormont, named head of the Tax Board, but only after considerable negotiating. It might not have gone through if another man prominent in tax matters had been persuaded to take the position.

Mark Shields will talk on "Politics" over Station WCAE Thursday evening at 6:30, interviewing Senator James J. Davis, who will be in Pittsburgh.

DIES SCANNING SUSPECTS

Charles Branch, 48, of 6358 Penn avenue, who died last night in the Detective Bureau, was stricken by a heart attack, it was said at the morgue today following a post mortem examination. Branch had gone to the bureau for a "standup" of robber suspects.

Mr. Branch

James M. Hitt, of 6390 Penn avenue, who accompanied Branch to the bureau, said they had been held up in restaurants where they were employed last month, and were called to detective headquarters to examine suspects.

Branch fell to the floor while the prisoners were being brought from their cells, according to Detective Sergeant Vincent Burgo. Detectives James Swearingen and Frank Nowicki picked him up. They took him to Allegheny General Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Branch unemployed for several weeks, is survived by his wife and two children, May, 9, and Allen, 8 months.

Broadway Limited Sets 'On Time' Mark

The Broadway Limited, leader of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "blue ribbon" trains, last year established the best on-time record of its 29 years of operation, Pennsylvania officials said today.

Westbound, the train arrived in Chicago a few minutes late three times during 1931. The eastbound Broadway's record was virtually the same, the road officials reported.

Thompson Speeds Collection of Taxes

Extra facilities for the collection of city and school taxes were inaugurated by Treasurer Richard W. Thompson at the City-County Building today.

Eight additional cashiers were assigned to collections in the vacated quarters of the County Recorder of Deeds office, to augment the staff of nine in the Treasurer's office.

Parallel Theory Not Proved By Father Callahan, Tech Professor Holds

Euclid's fifth postulate—that parallel lines never meet—today remains just where it has been for the past 2,000 years in spite of the claims of the Rev. Joseph J. Callahan, president of Duquesne University, whose new book, ''Euclid or Einstein,'' was published this week. Such is the opinion of Dr. T. L. Smith, assistant professor of mathematics at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

By T. L. SMITH, M. E., M. A., Ph. D.,
Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Dr. Callahan properly assumes the first 15 propositions of Euclid (proved without using the parallel postulate) and then proceeds to prove more of his own; of these, the 15 from Euclid and the first three of the author's are true in spherical geometry, while his proposition IV concerns parallels and so is false on the sphere (parallels do not exist on the sphere).

Dr. Smith

This clue puts the mathematician on the trail of the fallacy, and it is only necessary to follow the back-trail of the word parallel to its origin; the flaw in the proof should be located at precisely this point.

The author states in discussion paragraphs following the proof of his proposition II, and again following the proof of III, that he has proved the existence of parallels. Surely this fact is all-important if true, and deserves the distinction of being stated in a proposition; especially since it is to be used as part of the hypothesis of the next proposition.

Since the missing link in the proof comes so early, it is a simple matter to follow the author's reasoning up to this point. First, he lays down two definitions:

1—A parallelogram is a four-sided figure having its opposite sides and angles equal.

2—Parallel lines are lines that lying in the same plane are equidistant at equidistant points.

These definitions are the author's and different from Euclid's, as he states; the latter definition is not precise enough.

Referring to the figure, the author probably means that if AD=BC whenever AB=DC (with no relation between the position of the segments AB and DC) then the lines L and M are parallel; this definition is not equivalent to Euclid's, but will be satisfactory if the existence of such parallels can be proved. The lines L, M of the figure are purposely drawn slightly converging instead of straight to suggest the actual state of affairs on a sphere or in non-Euclidean geometry.

LIBRARY HOLDS 14,000 BOOKS

Although the new James Laughlin Memorial Library at Pennsylvania College for Women has been in use only since January 5, more than 14,000 volumes already grace the natural white pine shelves, according to Miss Harriet D. McCarty, librarian.

Some rare old Greek and Latin classics, dating as far back as 1517, are included in the William S. Pelletreau collection of 300 books. Pelletreau was an uncle of a former president of P. C. W., Miss Helen E. Pelletreau.

Another valuable collection of 1,000 volumes of limited editions of standard works, presented by Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, Schenley apartments, has been placed in the browsing room.

The wood-work of the new building is of knotted white pine. The tables and chairs are of heavy, waxed oak. There are five seminar rooms on the ground floor and stacks with a shelving capacity for 50,000 books.

Needs of Backward Child Pointed Out

The great need in administering to children in homes and institutions is for specialists who can discover the ailment of the backward child and properly prescribe for him a program of education, Leonard W. Mayo, associate director of the Children's Village at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., declared in an address in Fort Pitt Hotel.

Mayo was one of many authorities on child welfare who conducted institutes or presided at conferences at the regional meeting of the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare yesterday. The conference ended last night with a banquet held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and the Pittsburgh Social Workers' Club.

STATE SOCIETY GETS REPORT ON WORK

Advance Methods Bring Lowering of Death Rate; Noted Medics on Program

Important advances have been made during the last year in the fight against tuberculosis, Arthur M. Dewees, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, declared in his annual report presented today at the fortieth annual meeting of the society.

He said:

"The thirty-ninth year of service on the part of the society marked an important milestone in the effort to control and conquer the disease"

He also issued a warning against complacency regarding the status of the fight.

He said:

PROGRESS MADE

"Progress has been made through advance in the expansion of organization; in popular interest and financial support; in scientific and social knowledge of the disease; in means and methods of discovering, treating and preventing its spread and best of all, in lowering the death rate."

It was reported the Christmas seal sale for the state last year totaled $500,000, a drop of about 15 per cent from 1930.

The report of Mr. Devees came during the business session which followed numerous addresses. One of the speakers was Dr. C. Howard Marcy, medical director of the Pittsburgh Tuberculosis League.

Dr. Marcy, speaking at a noon luncheon, told of a survey the league is conducting among Pittsburgh Negroes.

SURVEYS NEEDED

He said:

"The need for such a survey is obvious when a comparison is made of Negro and white tuberculosis mortality records. The death rate from tuberculosis among Negroes is between three and four times as high as in the white race. This high mortality is a matter of grave concern when it is considered that the latest figures for the United States show that the Negro population comprises but 8.2 per cent of the total population and yet 30 per cent of the deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis occurs in this group."

RELIEF NEEDED

The urgent need for increased relief and social service in order to adequately meet the problem of treating and preventing the disease was emphasized by Arthur W. Towne, secretary of the Onondaga Health Association, Syracuse, N. Y.

He declared lowered nutrition and other bad hygienic conditions are a fertile ground for tuberculosis and the consequences of such lowered standards of living, if long continued, are likely to be reflected in the new cases of tuberculosis infection and disease.

Dr. James Frederick Rogers, consultant in hygiene in the United States Office of Education, declared the protection of 1,000 high school and college youths would cost less than caring for one tuberculosis patient.

Dr. E. M. Frost, of the University of Pittsburgh, and Dr. J. P. Ritenour, of Penn State, conducted the discussion.

APPROVE SPAN AT HOMESTEAD

Construction of the proposed high level bridge, connecting Eighth avenue and West street, Homestead, with Brown's road near Hazelwood avenue, Squirrel Hill, was a step nearer today.

No protests were entered against the project at a public meeting held yesterday in the Homestead Municipal building with United States Engineer W. D. Styer presiding.

Postmaster W. A. Kessler, of Homestead, urged speedy construction as an aid to more rapid handling of the mails.

Alderdice to Urge Coal to Replace Gas

Recommendations that coal be used in five city institutions as a substitute for gas, to effect savings of at least 15 per cent, will be made to City Council today by Budget Controller Robert J. Alderdice.

Council is to consider the feasibility of a change at a hearing with gas and coal dealers today. Alderdice said he had conducted a survey of a number of large buildings during the past week and had reached the conclusion coal was the cheaper fuel. Annual cost of fuel is around $40,000, Alderdice pointed out.

CIVIC LEADERS TO ORGANIZE TONIGHT

Plan Attack Through Ballot On Legislators Who Fail To Oppose High Charges

Municipal and civic leaders will organize the Western Pennsylvania Fair Rate Association for a definite attack on excessive public utility rates at a meeting tonight in the Wilkinsburg High School auditorium, beginning at 8 p. m.

Representatives from eight Western Pennsylvania counties will link more than 25 municipalities in a concerted program that will co-operate in the state-wide movement of similar organizations. The group's constitution, to be submitted by the executive committee, will provide for attacking through the ballot all members of the Legislature who fail to oppose excessive rates on electricity, gas, water and telephone.

Leaders who have been shaping the organization for the past several months include the temporary president, A. B. Davidson, president of Tarentum Borough Council; Councilman John H. Rhodes, Wilkinsburg; Mayor Joseph A. Heineman, Butler; C. V Tiers, Oakmont; Mayor Edward McCloskey, Johnstown; Burgess S. S. Baldridge, Apollo; Burgess C. M. McLaughlin, Freeport; Burgess J. H. Rockenstein, Freedom, and City Treasurer W. J. Landis, Monongahela.

Lots of 'Leaders' Nominate Selves To Save Nation

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—All our leaders agree that what our nation needs is a leader.

We ain't seen anything so unanimous since the neighbors asked Aunt Kate to stop singing in the bath tub.

Now when a politician rises up on his former arches and yells, "This country needs a leader," you can bet he practiced that speech in front of a reliable mirror.

And a full length mirror at that. And you can also wager that he stood in front of that same looking glass for hours without speaking. Just posing for animal crackers.

When a statesman decides the time has bloomed for a bowlegged pathfinder to pick up the drum major's sceptre he means nobody but himself.

He ain't wearing smoked glasses when the photographers arrive. And he doesn't wear blinkers walking past the White House.

He is just a little political violet all set to accept the blushing nomination and to simper through the bashful oath of office.

Culbertson Group Reduces 'Official' Lead in Tourney

Interest in the constructive tests of the contract bridge systems increased last night as the players of the Culbertson method reduced the lead of the "official" system players in the second round of the 100-deal tournament under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Pittsburgh Bridge Club in William Penn Hotel.

A capacity crowd of devotees filled Bridge Club headquarters and keenly followed the play of the Culbertson exponents as they reduced the "official system" players' lead to 1,745. In the matter of deals the official system had the advantage of one, winning 13 of last night's 25 deals.

The "official" system lead on Monday was 3,705 points. C. E. Moodey played on the "official" team in place of Mrs. Grace Lear.

The third round will be played tomorrow night, and the final round Saturday night. No game is scheduled tonight.

A description of the high points of the second round will be given in an interview tomorrow night over radio station WCAE, "Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph," during the Hearst Globe Trotter period from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. Bernard Summers, one of the players of the Culbertson system, will be interviewed.

BANK AID GROUP TO OPEN NEW OFFICES

Quarters Here Will House Corporation Leaders: New Dividends Not in Sight

With no new dividends in sight from 37 closed Western Pennsylvania banks, Secretary of Banking William D. Gordon's Second District Realization Corporation today was planning to open offices in the Colonial Trust Company Building.

The new quarters will house vice presidents or secretaries for various sub-committees of the corporation. Following a flying visit to Pittsburgh by Dr. Gordon yesterday, James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, announced a change in the bylaws of the organization authorizing appointment of three vice presidents.

One was named yesterday when Prescott Lyon, bond expert, became vice president of the corporation and secretary of the securities committee of which A. C. Robinson of the Peoples-Pittsburgh Bank is chairman. Similar appointments are expected for the real estate and commercial paper committees.

A fourth committee, to consider value of collateral loans in various closed state banks, will be named soon, Chaplin said.

Offices of closed banks will not be centralized for some time, it was understood today, but it is planned later to conduct affairs of all in one location at considerable saving in overhead.

No indications of when the next dividends will be declared were made yesterday. When the Gordon plan was first announced, sizeable payments were expected before last Christmas. Three small banks have paid dividends ranging from 5 to 15 per cent. A daily check of cash on hand in the institutions is kept by Gordon, it is understood, with an eye to declaring dividends as soon as possible.

CITY JOB TESTS ANNOUNCED

Examinations for six jobs in the City Department of Supplies were announced today by the Civil Service Commission. Successful applicants will be recommended to Col. W. R. Dunlap for positions now held by provisional appointees.

Included in the list are jobs of Bert M. Doty, J. Boyd Birch and Miss Mathilda M. Ganley, discharged by Dunlap January 1. Doty and Miss Ganley were ordered reinstated by the Commission, but so far, Dunlap has refused to do so.

Court action is promised by the Director, it was said, to prevent Doty and Miss Ganley from being placed again on the payroll. Meanwhile both are reporting daily.

SCHOOL BOARD BANS LEAGUE ESSAYS

All Outside Contests For Pupils Voted Down; Drop Annexation Fight.

Discussion of the League of Nations at yesterday's meeting of the Pittsburgh Board of Education culminated in an order excluding all outside essay writing by Pittsburgh school students.

A request of Mrs. Sidney Kaufmann that the International Relations Committee be permitted to conduct a prize essay contest on the League of Nations prompted N. R. Criss, vice president of the board, to say:

"I object to students burdening themselves with a lot of outside interruptions. I question the wisdom of having them devote their time to such a discussion."

GERWIG DISSENTS

Mrs. Mary J. Cowley added her objection to the request, but Dr. G. W. Gerwig asked:

"How are young people to learn to function as citizens if they are not to enter into controversial studies?"

Frank E. Freese said that President and Congress and statesmen could not agree on the League of Nations and wondered how a school student could be expected to contribute anything to the solution.

More students were enrolled in Pittsburgh schools during 1931 than in the previous year, according to a report by Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent. The increase was 1,973 students.

DROP ANNEXATION FIGHT

The board granted the Salvation Army permission to place coin envelopes in the hands of school children for a second contribution to the organization's shoe fund.

The board voted to withdraw its obection to the annexation of a part of Reserve Township.

Residents of a part of Overbrook, annexed to the city in 1930, will be permitted to pay their school taxes for the last six months of that year, the board decided.

CHIROPRACTORS LOSE SUIT

A bill of complaint filed last March in Federal Court by five chiropractors of Allegheny County, asking that the Board of Medical Education and Licensure, Department of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania, be restrained from interfering with them in their profession, was dismissed in an opinion by Judge R. M. Gibson.

Judge Gibson said that the United States Supreme Court has stated that it is bound by the decisions of the highest court of the state as to the scope and construction of the statute of the states.

The petitioners asked that the board be enjoined from enforcing the penal clause of the state medical licensure act of 1911, making it a misdemeanor to engage in medicine and surgery, unless the persons doing so have first obtained a certificate from the State Board, until laws are made regulating the profession of chiropractic.

TWO CONFESS 4 HOLDUPS

Two alleged gunmen whom police believe to be from Chicago admitted in East End Police Court today four recent gas station and store holdups in East End. They were held over by Magistrate Charles Papale.

The two, John Kramer, 25, and Frank Barber, 31, were arrested yesterday while driving a car bearing a West Virginia license through side streets in East Liberty, police testified.

Kramer was identified by several robbery victims. Barber confessed at the hearing to driving the car used in these holdups—Standard Oil Company service station, Fifth and Hamilton avenues, $30; same company's station, Amber street and Baum boulevard, $7; P. H. Butler store, 6842 Frankstown avenue, $15; Meyers' restaurant, 303 South St. Clair street, $50.

INTEREST HIGH IN PITTSBURGH AUTO SHOW

Exhibit Here Will R'flect Enthusiasm in New York; New Features Numerous

New York's enthusiasm in its automobile show, greater this year than at any time since 1929, will be reflected at the Pittsburgh Automobile Show, which will open Saturday in Motor Square Garden and will continue through January 30, predicts W. N. Owings, secretary of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers Association.

Reviewing the success of the New York show, Owings points out its first day's attendance exceeded the previous record by 38 per cent. He added:

"Everybody seems to be aroused this year by the remarkable improvements and low prices."

Some of the mechanical features expected to hold the interest of Pittsburghers at this year's show are ride control, automatic starting, automatic clutch control, floating power and a general tendency toward lower and heavier cars.

An outstanding feature of the automobile industry this year, Owings said, is the increased number of 12 and eight-cylinder cars and the decrease in sixes and fours.

Blaze in Basement Of Downtown Store

Homeward-bound theatergoers were attracted to the Mayflower Drug Company store, 211 Diamond street, last night after a small rubbish fire was discovered in the basement. Traffic in Fifth avenue was tied up for almost a half hour as firemen battled the blaze which caused damage placed at $200.

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

When you have a cold, you pour thousands of germs into your handkerchief every time you use it!

These dangerous germs will self-infect you and give colds to others, unless you see they are destroyed.

You use Kleenex but once

Use Kleenex to do away with handkerchief danger during colds.

Kleenex is a new discovery, a tissue made of rayon-cellulose, to replace the ordinary handkerchief.

Kleenex costs so little that you use each tissue only once, then destroy. You destroy dangerous germs. You save yourself from disagreeable washing. And, since Kleenex is softer than cotton or linen, you suffer no irritation as with a damp handkerchief.

Price reduced!

And now you pay a third less for Kleenex! The generous box—formerly 50c—is now but 35c!

The same smart package. The same number of tissues. The same soft, cloth-like quality. Only the price has changed!

At this new low price you'll find more uses than ever for Kleenex. Use it to remove cold cream—to apply make-up—to polish spectacles. Sold at all drug, dry goods and department stores.

CARNEGIE TECH MARGARET MORRISON FRESHMEN IN AN INFORMAL TEA PARTY: THEIR LAST UNTIL AFTER EXAMINATIONS

Parallel Theory Not Proved, Carnegie Tech Man Asserts

that triangles be equal, the author proceeds with his propositions, of which the order of proof is just indicated here:

"Proposition I. Given a triangle, to construct a parallelogram."

Given the triangle ABC, draw BO to the midpoint of AC and produce it to D so that BO-OD, and draw AD, DC; then triangles AOB, COD and next AOD, BOC are equal and it easily follows that ABCD is a parallelogram.

"Cor. In every parallelogram the alternate interior angles formed by the diagonals with any pair of opposite sides are equal."

Thus, angle BAC-angle ACD.

A little inaccuracy has begun to creep in, in the paragraph of discussion which follows this proof the author has proved that parallelograms exist, not that, "The opposite sides of a parallelogram are equal—"; a definition cannot be proved.

"Proposition II. If a transversal falling on two straight lines makes the alternate interior angles equal, any equal segments of the two lines can be made the sides of a parallelogram about the transversal as a diagonal."

Thus, suppose the lines L, M and the transversal BD to be given, then taking A any point on L and C on M (on the opposite side of the transversal) so that AB-CD, and drawing AD, BC, a parallelogram is formed having BD as its diagonal.

STATEMENT REFUTED

The proof is correct, but in the first line of the succeeding paragraph of discussion it is stated that: "We have now in two propositions — completely established—the reality of parallel lines."

On the contrary, points B and D are tied down to the ends of the given transversal, so that the locations of the segments AB and CD are related to each other, and parallelism is not yet established.

"Proposition III—The point of intersection of the diagonals of a parallelogram bisects every straight line passing through it and terminated in opposite sides of the parallelogram."

Given the parallelogram ABCD, draw EF through O and connect AF, EC; then by using triangles it is easily seen that AECF is a parallelogram. Continuing this process, any number of parallelograms may be formed, but they all have the fixed point O as their common center.

The author has here a new set of distances AF and EC, equal, between the lines, and hence says in his discussion paragraph:

"The conclusion again follows with absolute certainty that the opposite sides of a parallelogram are parallel since they are everywhere equidistant at equidistant points."

This cannot be admitted: the segments AE, FC are still related by the fact that the center of their parallelogram, AECF, is still the center of the original parallelogram, O. When it shall be shown that a parallel exists with its sides on L and M and its center at some point different from O, then and only then will the Callahan proof be acceptable. (Unfortunately, to every pair of lines in non-Euclidean geometry there corresponds a unique center O for which the above propositions are valid.)

EUCLIDEAN GEOMETRY

In the next proposition, the author assumes the existence of parallels, so that the remainder of his propositions is pure Euclidean geometry, and it is useless to follow him further.

"It may be that a certain definition is faulty in logic, but the conception back of it which the author attempts to put into words, may be correct."

Applying this quotation to the present case, the author is entitled to the benefit of any doubt of this kind; but it is believed that the immovable point O is really an immovable object against which this proof is doomed to shatter. On the upper half of page 134, the author demonstrates again (unconsciously but clearly) that his parallelograms are tied down to an immovable center.

On page 115, in referring to the elliptic non-Euclidean geometry of Riemann, the author states:

"For him, therefore, the parallelogram is a real impossibility."

But Callahan himself has proved the existence of parallelograms in non-Euclidean geometry in his very first proposition.

Cab Driver Stoned Answering Fake Call

Joseph Haley, 27, of 59 Haberman street, a taxi driver, was in South Side Hospital today with a probable fracture of the skull, police said, as the result of the stoning of his taxicab after he answered a call to a fictitious address in St. Paul street.

Haley told police that when he drove up St. Paul street looking for the address, a crowd of men appeared and began to stone him. He was also badly cut by flying glass.

STREET SAFETY GAIN REVEALED

Activities toward enforcement of state motor laws made Pittsburgh streets 13 per cent safer in 1931 than in 1930, according to a report submitted by Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre to the Better Traffic Committee today.

The decrease was made in the face of an estimated 2 per cent increase nationally and a 5½ per cent increase in the state, officials said.

Traffic fatalities totaled 172 for 1931, as compared with 198 during 1930, according to the records of County Coroner W. J. McGregor. Child traffic deaths increased from 32 to 36, and adult deaths dropped from 166 to 136. Fatalities throughout the state for 1932 will total 2,000, Benjamin G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, predicted, officials said.

Wesleyan Alumni Hear McConauthy

The alumni should measure the success of the college for the year based on scholastic achievements rather than on an athletic scale, Dr. James L. McConauthy, president of Wesleyan University, declared in an address at the annual dinner of the Wesleyan Alumni Association in the University Club last night. He said:

"Although colleges throughout the country have been affected by economic conditions, Wesleyan University, because of wise investment of its endowment fund in New York real estate mortgages, has been able to raise the salaries of about 50 per cent of its instructors."

Caroline Hilmer, Pittsburgh contralto, gave a song recital last night at the Y. M. and W. H. A. before a large audience of friends. This singer has a most charming stage presence and sustained the interest of her public through a long and trying program.

Mr. Lissfelt

In her 20 songs Miss Hilmer succeeded in bringing us representation from every school of music. There were old Italian songs for bel canto, German lieder, opera, excellent French songs and a group of later English and American music. Throughout the evening the singer showed a wide range of dramatic appreciation and musical understanding, and, with Earl Mitchell at the piano, gave many a stirring reading.

But Miss Hilmer has never realized the possibilities of her voice. Victim of a very questionable method of voice production, this naturally beautiful organ lacks all freedom, a failing which obscures diction, leaves the voice monotonous over long periods, and prevents a desirable volume of tone.

The Meyerbeer air and French songs were possibly her most successful efforts, and her declamation did much to counteract the flimsy music of Lehmann's "Jim" and the "Seumas Beg." As encores Miss Hilmer sang Schubert's "Haidenroeslein," Sibella's "Girometta" and Frank LaForge's "To a Messenger." As suggested, Earl Mitchell again played beautiful accompaniments.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

POOLROOM MAN HELD IN KILLING

Patsy Gagliardino, 42, in whose poolroom at Washington street and Bedford avenue, Frank Brennan, of Washington street, was beaten to death with a chair, Monday night, today was held for further investigation by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court. He was arrested by homicide detectives last night and released in $1,000 bond pending investigation. Gagliardino said he was not in the pool room at the time of the murder.

All of the seven men arrested immediately after the murder were released with the exception of Charles Sommers, Newark, N. J., a witness of the killing, who notified police.

Brennan's body was identified by his wife, Stella, of 220 South Euclid avenue.

Girl Asks $50,000 Damages in Suit

Declaring her back was broken in a train collision, Marguerite E. McCloskey, 24, of Homestead Park, asked $50,000 damages from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Attorney Samuel Goldstock. A passenger train on which she was riding to Homestead from Pittsburgh November 21 collided with another train and she was hurled violently to the floor and has been confined to bed since, the suit alleged. She was a clerk for the Bell Telephone Company at the time.

Funeral services for Henry Hepline, 79, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Margaret J. Simmons, 835 Muldowney avenue, Lincoln Place.

Hygiene Director Talks to 'Y' Group

Dr. Carl Wilzbach, director of the Cincinnati Social Hygiene Association, spoke on the sex factor in human life last night at the "purposeful living" forum for young men, being held each week at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. The next forum will be held January 26, when Mrs. Lillian B. Firestone, director of women and girls' work for the Y throughout the state, will speak on "Getting Acquainted With Girls."

BANDIT PLEDGES THIRD VISIT

For the second time in three weeks Mrs. Pearl Barrett, 32, of 1335 Sheffield street, was robbed while alone in her grocery store, according to a police report. Mrs. Barrett said the same man who beat and robbed her January 8 held her up last night, taking $15.

In last night's robbery the bandit used no gun, she said, but threatened to beat her if she made any outcry. As he was leaving, Mrs. Barrett said, he called out:

"I'll be back again."

Mrs. Catherine Hanlon, 60, of 852 Progress street, complained to police that two men who said they wanted to rent a room beat her and robbed her of a gold watch that had been pinned to her dress.

Cost Accountants To Hear Sanders

Dr. Thomas H. Sanders, economist and author, will address members of the Pittsburgh chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants at a dinner in William Penn Hotel tonight. He is president of the association, former head of the Japanese government school of business practices, and an authority on oriental affairs. E. A. Austin, auditor of Hammermill Paper Company, will also speak. C. L. Van Sickle, of the University of Pittsburgh, will introduce the speakers.

HOW OLD?

He doesn't look a day over fifty.

And feels like forty.

At the age of 62.

That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant!

When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, or constipation. But if you want to keep in shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better in every way. You will never need to take another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. This gentle, natural stimulant makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way. Remember, it is the tested prescription of a physician—and it isn't expensive.

WE NOW PRESENT

—By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor—

Floyd Gibbons

WHEN FLOYD GIBBONS gives a machine gun description of the Manchurian war front tonight at 7:15 over station KDKA, a Pittsburgh girl, his secretary, will be close by with notebook and pencil to record the event for posterity. . . .

Mrs. Marion Nesbit, sister of D. M. Hackett, Jr., of 1103 LaClair street, has been Mr. Gibbons' secretary since the "Headline Hunter" started radio reporting, and she is in China today to "cover" Gibbons' speech, the first to be made from an actual firing line in wartime.

Mr. Hackett is a special agent for the Bell Telephone Company in charge of local broadcasting tieups.

A letter from Mrs. Nesbit to her brother tells some hitherto unpublished incidents about the trip to Japan and makes exceptionally good reading at this time. The letter was written from the Imperial Hotel in Tokio, and, after being duly censored by the war authorities, arrived in Pittsburgh 15 days after being mailed. It follows in part:

Rough Voyage

Imperial Hotel, Tokio.

Dear Dave:

Well, here we are after a long and rough sea voyage. I'm pleased that I didn't get seasick, although the Empress of Russia rocked so it was almost impossible to walk. All the furniture in the lounges and rooms had to be roped down and the wind blew 100 miles an hour.

The past two days it has been very gloomy and foggy here—no sun at all—and little showers occasionally. Today I had a radio installed, but that isn't much help as I can't understand a word of what is being said and there doesn't seem to be any music at all. A Japanese doctor has been speaking now for three solid hours.

Cheering News

They have frequent earthquakes here the manicurist told me, but they are only little ones lasting for a minute or two! She said they hadn't one for a long time now—three months almost!!

Japanese don't wear any shoes except those wooden slats they walk on. Women wear kimonos four or five inches longer than the men.

You'd just die to see them all wearing big black masks tied around their mouth and nose. This is to keep the cold air out. They think the cold air carries germs and that that is what gave them their epidemic of influenza three years ago.

Most all of the people here in the hotel are English, and they are such tall people—both men and women—that their heads almost touch the ceiling, as the ceilings are so low. The rooms and furniture are so small that it is like playing with doll things.

The newspapers get out about 10 extras every day and the newspapermen just act kind of crazy when they run up the street with the papers. They don't yell much like in Pittsburgh or New York but just jangle up and down five brass bells on a chain. The boy who cleans my room told me there is never anything new in the extras — just the morning news rehashed four or five times in the afternoon.

Woman Reporter

I am enclosing my new cards in Japanese. The heavy writing is my credentials for the International News Service, the Universal News Service and King Features Syndicate, which I represent for Mr. Gibbons in Japan while he is in China. The Japanese are very formal and even if you meet the same Japanese man seven days in the week he always gives you his card and you give him yours.

I haven't seen one Japanese woman with a hat on. There isn't any millinery here.

Must be going now, so lots of love to all. MARION.

Mrs. Nesbit's letter was written in large letters on Floyd Gibbons' special typewriter.

Studio Lights

H. J. Brennen, manager of WJAS, has been appointed a member of the legislative committee of the National Association of Broadcasters.

The "Big Time" revue on WEAF, WGY, WTAM at 8 o'clock tonight is to feature a humorous sketch, "Kiss Me Again." . . .

There will be a vacant chair in KQV studios tonight when the "Falcon" mystery play is presented . . . Charles Lawrence, who played the part of the "Falcon," died last week . . .

Russ Columbo, whose orchestra plays on WJZ, WGAR and WJR at 10 tonight, is to be interviewed by Nellie Revell on WEAF, WGY and WTAM at 11 o'clock . . .

Billy Joy returns to WJAS at 6 o'clock after six weeks on the road. Students of Turtle Creek High School are to take Marjory Stewart's "Microphone Test" at 8 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium . . . Glenn Riggs, KDKA announcer and a graduate of the school, is a member of the judges' committee . . .

This is the night Dr. Harlow Shapley answers the question "Are There People on Mars?" for WCAE listeners at 10 o'clock.

Vallee, Whiteman In V. F. W. Concert

Veterans of Foreign Wars will gather at the Corp. H. O. Diller Post No. 169, 24 Prospect street, Mt. Washington, Friday evening to hear V. F. W. "Hello America" program at 11:30 p. m. over a nationwide network, including KDKA. Rudy Vallee, Paul Whiteman, Odette Myrtil, Mildred Bailey, Conn-Sanders Orchestra and the Marine Band will be featured.

HONUS WAGNER WITH KECK

What one former great baseball player thinks of another will be brought out in Harry Keck's interview of Honus Wagner, oldtime Pirate star and immortal hero of the diamond, on WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight. Keck will ask Honus about Ty Cobb, the Georgia peach. Paul G. Sullivan, secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, and Jules Beck, matchmaker of the Motor Square Garden Boxing Club, will join Keck's "Trained Seals" in this popular Sports Revue.

Kate Smith, Amos 'n' Andy and other radio stars have secret telephone numbers. Perhaps no other writer in the country has a more complete list of these "secret numbers" than Darrell V. Martin, radio editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who will be asked to explain the mystery of it all on WCAE at 6:40 tonight.

Ann Zimet, crooner, will make her debut in the Sun-Telegraph Night Club, WCAE at 11.

Louis Kaufman will make the usual news broadcasts today at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:30 p. m. Jack Keough will speak at 6:30 p. m.

Striking Senators' Arrest Threatened

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Possible arrest on contempt charges faced 13 striking State Senators of the La Follette faction today.

The progressives announced yesterday that they would not attend sessions until the conservatives were ready to act on the question of relief. As a result of the strike the Senate is without a quorum.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

—By LOUIS REID—

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Prime ministers of Scandinavian countries are being herded before the microphones. All three of them. Radio novelty at least. Under such a plan there should be a bigger ear for them in America.

A prime minister alone on the radio is no longer a novelty to listeners. In fact, even a king isn't . . . But a conversation between a king and a queen would be. There's an idea for the broadcasters . . . For Mencken's magazine Robert Littell, former World dramatic critic, sets down his impressions of the voices and noises heard on a winter Thursday. Had he waited another day he would have heard the voice of his father-in-law, Walter Damrosch . . .

Discretion is the better part of Littelian valor . . . Press agents trumpeting radio appearances of Beatrice Lillie invariably refer to her "matchless comic talent" . . . The matchless comic talent does not seem to get over on the radio . . . In fact, comic talent is the most difficult of all talents to project upon the microphones.

Don't let Fat Starvation inflict lifelong penalties on your child

Combat malnutrition by serving vitamin A-rich meat fats at every meal in this concentrated, economical form

- If your child fails to meet these measurements which are generally accepted as average Fat Starvation may be to blame

Is your child getting all the sustaining vitamin A-rich meat fats he needs to grow and develop normally? Child specialists say fully ⅓ of the energy value of a normal child's diet should be derived from fats. Fats are sheer energy, 2¼ times more nourishing in this respect than any other form of food.

Wholesome Fat Foods—a Necessity

So often children refuse to eat the highly nourishing fatty part of meats. That is why authorities warn against letting fat starvation continue through the young, formative years. Serious, far reaching results, they say, may follow malnutrition. Growth may be stunted, weight may not be normal, bones may not be straight and strong. Chronic fatigue, timidity, drooping posture and other defects may handicap a child for life.

Take No Chances with Fat Starvation

Don't risk fat-starving your child. Give him the wholesome meat fats he needs in a form he will enjoy—Good Luck meat fat margarine. Serve it at every meal. Its economy enables you to let him spread it on thick. Note how he relishes its delicious flavor, and observe how he thrives under its sustaining energy.

In university tests of the leading kinds of spreads-for-bread, Good Luck meat fat margarine was unexcelled in growth vitamin A—and found to contain the valuable bone-building vitamin D. Thus it is an ideal food to supply these precious vitamins and sustaining energy to growing boys and girls.

Warning: Cheaper Margarines Lack GOOD LUCK Health and Food Values

Lack of vitamin A is a common cause of malnutrition

Line 1 shows growth rate of standard test animals fed Good Luck meat fat margarine, proving high vitamin A content of Good Luck.

Line 2 shows growth rate of standard test animals fed vegetable "nut" margarine. Marked loss of weight indicates serious absence of growth vitamin A in this kind of margarine.

(Further tests proved GOOD LUCK to be as valuable [illegible] as any other spread for bread [illegible])

PITT BEATS PLAID 13 TIMES IN ROW

Ralph Hogan

IF CARNEGIE TECH, despite a crippled lineup, should succeed in grabbing the decision over Pitt in their first basketball meeting of the season at the Stadium tonight, it would be the first time in five years that the Tartan passers have accomplished that feat. Carnegie's last victory at the expense of the Panthers dates back long before the coming of its present coach, Ralph (Buzz) Hogan. It was scored in the first clash of the rivals in the season of 1926-27, and the margin was only a single point.

Howard Harpster, later to win national football fame as all-America quarterback and now gridiron coach at Geneva, was the hero of that Plaid triumph. Playing forward for the Skibos in his sophomore year at the Schenley Park school, Howard dropped a sensational field goal through the hoop near the close of the game and landed the Scots on top, 25 to 24. In more than four seasons since, Carnegie's floormen have not been able to repeat that success. In 13 straight encounters with Pitt they have been defeated every time.

THE RIVALS WERE playing three games a season in those days, and the Panthers took the last two contests of that campaign, three straight in each of the next three winters, and two last year, when competition was reduced to a pair of meetings. Pitt also copped three in a row in 1925-26, so that Carnegie has lost 16 of the last 17 games with the Blue and Gold.

In all the years of competition, the Skibos have beaten Pitt only five times—once in 1917-1918, once in 1923-24, twice in 1924-25, and once in 1926-27. Against that, the Panthers have won 36 times, and in the 41 games played they have scored 1,426 points to 1,016 for Carnegie.

IN THREE GAMES during the 1927-28 season, the Carlsons piled up 176 points, an average of almost 60, and in one of the 1928-29 events they held the Tartans to 10. But the Skibos are not permitting past disappointments to weigh on their minds. They believe this is the year to break the long streak.

In spite of the loss of Lou Jagnow and Bob Smith, the Hogans have not given up hope of winning tonight, and they can't see anything but victory in the second game with Pitt on their own floor February 2.

ONE EFFECT OF the off-season illness of Barney Dreyfuss, who is mending slowly in New York hospital following two operations and will not return to Pittsburgh for several weeks, probably will be seen in the National League schedule for this year's pennant race. The Pirate owner, recognized as the master hand of the country at drawing up a playing slate, had consented to assist in the drafting of the 1932 program after giving up the work in recent years. A vastly improved schedule as compared with last season's nightmare had been hoped for, in consequence, but the inability of the Pittsburgh magnate to serve killed the prospect, and it is doubtful if the slate made up without his aid proves as satisfactory all around as would have been the case otherwise.

Charley Jamieson

SINCE THE OWNERS of the Cleveland Indians took over the Toledo American Association club they have received 42 applications from jobless baseball men for the managerial post formerly held by Casey Stengel. However, the Cleveland club makes it known that the next pilot of the Mudhens will be chosen from the ranks of the Indians.

The assignment is to go to Bib Falk, veteran outfielder, or Steve O'Neil, catcher. When Charley Jamieson arrived in Cleveland yesterday he was told that the job was his if he wanted it, as a reward for 13 years of faithful service, but the idol of Cleveland fandom declined the position. He said that he expected to remain in the big show for a few more years.

NOT ALL OF the baseball players in the majors who had to be signed over again this year have balked at the new scale of salaries. Mel Ott, of the Giants, and Lyn Lary, of the Yankees, were quickly satisfied in an exchange of telegrams after early protests, and several others who had been expected to kick up a fuss came into line without trouble.

Included in the signed list are Travis Jackson and Jim Mooney, of the Giants; Ted Lyons, Alphonse Thomas and Sam Jones, of the White Sox; Dizzy Dean, of the Cardinals; Joe Kuhel, Dave Harris and Ossie Bluege, of the Senators; Art Shires, of the Braves, while Lou Gehrig and Vernon Gomez have accepted terms with the Yankees.

IN RETURNING TO Pittsburgh from California as a fistic pilot to start his promising young fighter on what he is confident will be a successful eastern campaign, Jack Perry adds another chapter to a varied career. Jack has been a railroad fireman, a middle-distance runner, a musician, a wrestler, a swimming instructor, a fighter good enough to be a challenger for the world welterweight championship, a boxing instructor, a theatrical trooper, a movie performer, and now he's a boxing manager. And he'll be only 37 on March 7.

PERRY, A NATIVE of Thornton, W. Va., and long a resident of Carnegie, gave the fight fans of this district plenty of entertainment during his ring days. First managed hereabouts by Jake Goldstein, of Braddock, and later by Jimmy Conrad, of this city, he was for a long time one of the neighborhood's most popular battlers.

He met practically all of the good men around his weight and in 1920 he twice faced Jack Britton, then world welterweight champion, in 12-round bouts, getting a draw in one of the bouts, while the other was a no-decision affair. A host of old friends will welcome him back in his new role.

WHETHER THE JUNIOR-welterweight championship was involved in their bout or not, Johnny Jadick, in winning the decision over Tony Canzoneri, at least gained the distinction of being the first fighter to defeat Canzoneri at any weight since Billy Petrolle did it on September 11, 1930.

Johnny Jadick

Tony dropped three decisions that year, losing also to Jack (Kid) Berg and Stanislaus Loayza. After the Petrolle reverse, however, he took a new lease of life and not only annexed the world lightweight championship but won all of his other engagements until Jadick halted his streak.

JADICK'S RIGHT TO the junior-welter title which he now claims is disputed by many boxing men, who continue to insist that Canzoneri never owned it. One of the latest to express that view is Jimmy Johnston, boxing director of Madison Square Garden in New York. "The junior-welterweight title will not be at stake until Jack (Kid) Berg comes back from England and gives some of the contenders a shot at his championship," Johnston declares. "I contend that Berg still is the king of the 140-pounders, though his battle with Canzoneri in Chicago last year was supposed to be a double title affair. Here is my argument: Berg may have agreed to defend the junior-welterweight title against Tony, but he also agreed to make 135 pounds to make it a lightweight championship fight. Now, if a man defends the 140-pound title he is entitled to weigh up to 140 pounds. The fact that Berg scaled off five pounds to be eligible for Canzoneri's title eliminated the junior-welterweight angle right there, Berg could not lose his title under such weight restrictions."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Chicago	3—Boston	2
Canadiens	5—N. Y. Rangers	3
Toronto	11—N. Y. Americans	3

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 20. — A goal by Fields in the second period broke a tie to give Pittsburgh a 2-to-1 victory over the London Tecumsehs in an International Hockey League game here last night.

The Yellow Jackets took the lead in the first period when Doc Romnes sank one in the net after 17:45 minutes of play, but London deadlocked the count at the outset of the second stanza on Neville's goal.

Fields' winning goal, on an assist by Gregg, came at 13:30 of the second period.

The final period produced some furious action, with both sides threatening, but neither could score. The lineup:

Pittsburgh—2		London—1
Cox	G	Stuart
Fraser	D	Holway
Matte	D	Hicks
Fields	C	Carrigan
Gregg	W	Neville
Proudfoot	W	Quenneville

Pittsburgh spares—Romnes, Barton, Rodden, Arbour, Dunning, Bartlett, Locking.

London spares—Huard, Pettinger, Groh, Hoffinger, Schneider, [illegible].

First period—Pittsburgh, Romnes (Locking), 17:45. Penalty—Rodden.

Second period—London, Neville (Quenneville), 2:15; Pittsburgh, Fields (Gregg), 13:30. Penalties—Locking, Romnes, Groh.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties—Pettinger, Gregg.

Referee—Guy Smith.

STARS HERE TOMORROW

Earl Miller, star center of the Yellow Jackets, who, in a recent practice session suffered a charley-horse that kept him out of the game in London last night, probably will be back in the lineup when the local skaters meet the Syracuse Stars here tomorrow night.

Miller accompanied the Reidmen to London, but was unable to get into the battle.

STARS BEAT DETROIT

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Syracuse continued its humbling of International League hockey teams here last night by defeating Detroit, 3 to 2. The lineup:

Syracuse—3		Detroit—2
Grahn	G	Clare
Hughes	D	Rockburn
Savage	D	Peters
Palangio	C	Newman
McBride	W	Gagne
Clark	W	Gillie

Spares—Syracuse, Teasdale, Waite, Marple, Desmillard, Howe, Martin, Downie; Detroit, McCabe, Hay, Gibbons, Goldsworth, Herberts, Steele, Tabor. Referees—LaFlamme and Traub.

First period—Syracuse, Desmillard (Savage) 3:42. Penalties—Gibbons, Teasdale, McCabe (major), Downie (major).

Second period—Martin (Waite) 4:09; Hay (Peters) 7:55; Clarke (Palangio) 10:04. Penalties—Rockburn 2, Waite, Downie.

Third period—Herbert (Newman), 13:35. Penalty—Savage.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE MOST VALUABLE DETROIT PLAYER—Although Leo Rollins never played a minute from the opening of the season to its close and his name did not appear even in the summaries as a substitute, he was chosen the greatest inspiration to the team of the University of Detroit during the 1931 season. Rollins, of Gaylord, Mich., was honored in this way as a tribute to his unflagging diligence on the practice field and his unfailing ability to keep the team in good humor—but he never enjoyed even a minute's play in any game. SKIBOS RANKED FAVORITE OVER PANTHERS

GAMES TONIGHT

Pitt vs. Carnegie Tech in Stadium Pavilion.
Pitt Frosh vs. Tech Frosh.
Duquesne vs. Catholic U. at Washington, D. C.
Morris-Harvey at Salem.

By JESS CARVER

Pitt and Tech match basketball stacks in the Stadium Pavilion tonight with the Tartans the favorites for the first time in years. The contest is the second of the four feature attractions of the local season, the two remaining being the Tech-Duquesne game next week and the second Pitt-Tech clash. The first was a week ago when the Dukes defeated Pitt.

Both rival quintets met defeat their last time out, Pitt at the hands of N. Y. U. and Tech at Grove City. The setback was the fourth in a row for the Panthers, unusual indeed, but was only the third of the campaign for the Skibos, who previously had taken seven in a row without a halt or scarcely a tremble.

13 IN ROW FOR PITT

Carnegie hasn't beaten Pitt in basketball since 1927, having dropped 13 contests in a row to the University tossers. It is high time, reckon the Skibos, to put an end to this foolishness, and Coach Hogan is determined to annex both games with the Gold and Blue. He has high hopes of winning this one tonight, for his squad, despite the injured Lou Jagnow, is in better physical trim than the Panthers and is better off for reserves.

Unfortunately, both teams are in more or less crippled condition. Russ Ochsenhirt, Pitt's varsity center, is ill and is not expected to be in uniform. Bob Smith, Tech's high scoring forward, turned up last night with a high temperature and unless he is greatly improved by evening, will not be permitted to play.

Raudabaugh, the sophomore blonde, will be used as Smith's substitute. Dr. Carlson plans to start MacMurdo at center for Pitt, with Brown ready in reserve.

Jagnow's injury has responded to treatment so well that he will be available for heavy duty as soon as he's needed.

The setup of the home defenders' forces remains doubtful, and will be until game time. Dr. Carlson experimented with replacements from the football squad last week and has been hacking away at the rough edges ever since. The chances are the Doc will give the second team the nod, starting Brown or MacMurdo at center, Docky Kowallis and Al Wrobleski at the forwards and Bogda and Hughes at the guards.

PANTHERS ON EDGE

Pitt is going out after this ball game. There will be no fooling on the part of the Panther caste, as there was against N. Y. U., when Carlson permitted the Violets to get away to a seven-point lead while he let the footballers dash madly about in the floor. If the second team can't hold the powerful Tartans, the varsity will be in there quicker than you can say "Rodolfo Alfonso Raffaelo Pierre Filibert Gugliemi Di Valentina a Antonguolla."

The preliminary game, between the rival freshman squads, will be just good enough to make it worth the while of all and sundry to get there plenty early. It will get under way at 7 o'clock. The probable starting lineup follows:

Pitt		Tech
Wrobleski-Lawry	F	R. Smith
Kowallis-[illegible]	F	Leonard
Brown-Ochsenhirt	C	[illegible]
Hughes-[illegible]	G	Raudabaugh
Bogda-McCamant	G	Fergus

BALDWIN ILL

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 20.—Johnny Baldwin, Notre Dame star guard, was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in South Bend yesterday, suffering from an attack of bronchial pneumonia. His loss will hamper the Irish when they meet Pittsburgh here Saturday.

TOLLEY DEFENDS NEW PROGRAM

Decrease in the college enrollment is not to be attributed to lack of emphasis on intercollegiate athletics, trustees of Allegheny College were informed yesterday by President William P. Tolley, at their semi-annual meeting here.

The Methodists have instituted a program designed to prevent over-emphasis, and while the enrollment this semester is 588, compared with 603 a year ago, Tolley brought out facts and figures to prove the new athletic program is not responsible.

Tolley pointed out that Allegheny had good football teams in 1929 and 1930, yet the enrollment was high in 1926 and other years when the Methodists' gridiron strength was not at its best.

The president's report, a financial report, and election of four new trustees were the outstanding business matters before the board. New trustees are Dr. P. P. Parsons, Erie; Theodore Thoburn, Cleveland, O.; J. M. Helmstadter, Butler, and Leroy Peterson, New York.

An operating deficit of $16,500 was regarded optimistically.

Vanities to Clash With Butler Tonight

The Eleventh Ward Independent Voters League will stage two benefit basketball games tonight at the Peabody High School, the proceeds being turned over to the poor families of that section.

The Goldenson Vanities, girls champion of Pittsburgh, meet the Butler Ads.

The preliminary game features the Westinghouse High Alumni passers and the I. K. S. Varsity B quintet.

HORNET ICEMEN BOW

The Hornets lost to the Schooley Juniors, 1-0, at ice hockey, in Duquesne Garden last night.

MAX, COMISH BURY AX

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Max Schmeling has made his peace with the New York State Athletic Commission, and the price was adherence to a promise made almost two years ago.

The young German, crowned heavyweight champion here after winning on a foul from Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium in June, 1930, formally promised to resume his feud with the Boston sailorman before July 1, a pledge he made after their first match, but never kept.

The commission immediately lifted Schmeling's suspension to the extent of permitting him to negotiate a contract for the Sharkey match. This will be done by Friday, Max promised, and a $25,000 forfeit will be posted this time along with the legal papers.

MICKEY TO CLAIM TITLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Jack Kearns and Mickey Walker will leave for Chicago tonight to file a claim for the heavyweight championship of the world with the National Boxing Association, they announced today.

Kearns' announcement follows the report issued by Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the N. B. A., ordering delegates to vote on the question of vacating the world heavyweight crown now held by Max Schmeling because of the latter's failure to defend or sign to defend his championship within the six-month time limit.

PLAYER BARRED FOR LIFE

Paul G. Sullivan Honus Wagner Jules Beck

The Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph go on the air again over WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight.

There'll be Honus Wagner, the greatest baseball player of all time, in the opinion of many veterans of the sport; Paul G. Sullivan, secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, and Jules Beck, matchmaker of the Motor Square Garden Boxing Club.

All of these stars will speak on their favorite subject during a Sports Quiz period, with Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, acting as master of ceremonies.

Catanese Defeats Mudrick in Bout

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 20.—Frankie Catanese, former Rochester High grid star, featured the amateur boxing show here last night, when he won the decision from John Mudrick, of Ellport, O. The summary:

Johnny Lewis, 136, New Brighton, defeated Harry [illegible], 136, West Bridgewater, technical k. o., three rounds.

Frankie Catanese, 162, Rochester, defeated John Mudrick, 164, Ellport, decision, three rounds.

Bert Sheets, 108, New Brighton, defeated Matt Oznick, 110, Emerald Club, Pittsburgh, technical knockout, three rounds.

John Herrick, 150, Pittsburgh, defeated Alex Lawn, 150, Ellport, decision, three rounds.

Joe Evans, 115, Ellport, defeated George Huzanni, 118, Ellwood City, decision, three rounds.

Rocky McCann, 125, Motor Square Gymnasium, defeated Ray Haskins, 125, Pittsburgh.

Westminster Again On Adrian Grid Card

ADRIAN, Mich., Jan. 20.—Adrian College's football schedule for 1932, announced today by Athletic Director D. R. Strankle, shows that Adrian will meet Westminster at New Wilmington, Pa., on October 1, and oppose West Liberty Normal at Wheeling, W. Va., on October 21. Eight games are on the slate, with a game for November 12 yet to be scheduled. The card:

September 23, John Carroll at Cleveland; October 1, Westminster at New Wilmington, Pa.; October 8, St. Mary's at Adrian; October 15, Findlay at Adrian; October 21, West Liberty at Wheeling, W. Va.; October 29, Detroit Tech at Detroit; November 5, Assumption at Sandwich, Ont.; November 12, open date to be filled; November 19, General Motors Tech at Adrian.

SCOVILLE TOPS ALLEN HALL

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Frank Scoville, of Buffalo, went back to his old tricks in three-cushion tournament billiards yesterday. Scoville, who defeated Johnny Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., then the defending champion, in the 1931 tournament, yesterday defeated Allen Hall, last year's runnerup, in the world championship tournament program. Scoville's margin was 50 to 42, in 53 innings.

Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, defeated J. N. Bozeman, of Vallejo, Cal., the Pacific Coast champion, 50 to 42, in 56 innings.

Gus Copulos, of Eugene, Ore., was paired with Augie Kieckhefer, veteran Chicago star, and Jake Schaefer, world 18.2 balkline titleholder, made his first three-cushion bid against another veteran, Tiff Denton, of Kansas City.

Kieckhefer came from behind to defeat Copulos, 50 to 47, in 62 innings.

Schaefer made his initial bid with a 50-to-34 victory over Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, in 53 innings.

Shady Side Riders To Oppose Vangs

Opening the indoor polo season, Shady Side stacks up against the Vangs Saturday night in Hunt Armory. To celebrate the first game of the Pittsburgh Polo League season, the band of the 177th Field Artillery will be on hand to furnish music. Loud speakers are to be installed within the next day or two, so that every play of the game can be relayed to the audience.

OLYMPICS ON AIR

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—A first-hand description of all championship events in the Olympic winter games at Lake Placid, February 4 to 13, will be broadcast over an international radio hookup, officials of the National Broadcasting Company have announced.

LOCAL GOLFERS QUALIFY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20.—John D. Wallace, of Pittsburgh, turned in a card of 49-49—98 in the second day of the 18-hole qualifying round in the Glenn H. Curtiss Trophy tournament at Miami Springs yesterday. Winfield S. Day, of Chicago, led the group of 14 with 41-35—76. Match play will start tomorrow.

GUNDELFINGER PLAYS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 20.—W. T. Gundelfinger, of Pittsburgh, is playing his first round match for the Florida East Coast men's golf championship over St. Augustine links today. He is opposing E. T. MacGovern, of Great Barrington, Mass., in the title sixteen.

The Pittsburgher is out to gain vengeance for the defeat MacGovern handed to him last year. Gundelfinger turned in a card of 47-45—92 in the qualifying round.

Tommy Goodwin, 18-year-old Monroe (N. Y.) star, led the select field with a brilliant 38-34—72.

COUNTY LINKS INCOME $47,734

GOLF COURSES' GREEN FEES HEAVY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The gross return on the investment in golf courses in the North and South Allegheny County parks for their first season proves that, regardless of their ultimate cost when finally presented in finished form, the County Commissioners and Director of Parks Paul B. Riis made no mistake in constructing them so that they were made available among the first of the grounds prepared in the parks' recreational program.

Although South Park enjoyed almost a full season with virtually the entire 18 holes open for play most of the time, the North Park's first nine-hole course was not available until late in the season and as a result did not present as great an income as its sister layout.

GREEN FEES HEAVY

Director Riis in an exclusive interview with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph showed that no less than $47,734.60 had been taken in through locker and season permits and daily green fees at the two courses.

Season permits and locker rentals amounted to $14,120. South Park green fees totalled $21,427 and North Park green fees $12,167.60, according to figures compiled to include December 16, 1931. The extra $20.10 was the result of soap and towel rentals at North Park.

The Director also showed that the second large recreational center opened in the parks, the South Park swimming pool, which was not pressed into service until midsummer, took in a total of $18,773.30 in 10-cent admission fees during its short season.

In a letter addressed last month to the County Commissioners, Riis recommended that the total of $66,507.90 be utilized to provide clubhouse facilities for golfers at the North and South Parks and to assist in defraying expenses for further construction of the swimming pool's building, which only has one floor completed at this time.

This idea, apparently sidetracked by the Commissioners, certainly would receive the hearty approval of all golfers in the county, many of whom had to "double up" or had no proper locker space last year in temporary quarters.

NEW SEVENTH HOLE

Although he has been held up by "soft" ground in unseasonable winter weather, Director Riis said he plans to continue work on the new seventh hole, which is to have its green elevated near the former eighth tee, about 100 yards beyond its location last year. The sixth tee and green are being moved back also, giving more space behind the third green. The new seventh hole, to be a dog-leg, will measure, when extended, about 435 yards.

It has been found that the water in North Park from two county wells has tested too strong for the development and care of good turf, and the greenkeeper at that course is facing a difficult though remedial problem. The water is good for bathing and drinking purposes, but tests have proved it harmful to the upkeep of greens, Riis said.

A total of 481,405 persons registered for recreational activity in the parks last year, according to Riis, but that number might be multiplied many times through unregistered visitors, he said.

DODGERS TOP SALARY LIST

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Pittsburgh baseball fans are more excited over players' salaries at the present time than they have been for many years, their marked interest being the natural effect of the attempt of the various magnates to slice the pay checks of the outstanding stars.

Frank O'Doul

The mood of the local folks being as it is, the time is ripe to give them some informative "inside stuff" on the situation.

The fans doubtless will be surprised to learn that the Brooklyn club, for no apparent reason perhaps, was the highest-priced team in the league last year with the rich Cubs being a close second.

The Cardinals, present champions of the world and two-year monarchs of the National League, rank far below the Robins and Cubs.

A Brooklyn authority furnished me with figures on the 1931 Robins which prove beyond any doubt the costliness of these Flatbush Birds.

MONEY, MONEY, MONEY

Uncle Robbie doubtless drew at least $25,000 for his stipend—and then glance upon the amounts allotted some of the so-called stars.

Dazzy Vance, $22,000; Babe Herman, $19,000; Glenn Wright, $17,000; Frank O'Doul, $14,000; Watson Clark, $12,000; Dolf Luque, $12,000, and Johnny Frederick, Rube Bressler, Fresco Thompson, Del Bissonette and Al Lopez, all in the neighborhood of $10,000. The figures are approximate, in the main they will strike close to a balance.

It was said there was no apparent reason for the high position of Brooklyn in the matter of paying the men of the diamond, but if you lived in Brooklyn you would quickly realize the owners can well afford to have costly men as you see the thousands rush the ball orchard.

Brooklyn, in other words, may not be an artistic success, but they succeed financially, and the click of the turnstiles covers a multitude of shortcomings.

ROG AND HACK HIGH

The Cubs get a running start on account of Manager Hornsby's reported $40,000 and the $33,000 Hack Wilson was supposed to get. It may be that the Wilson figure as given out recently was exaggerated, but Hack the Whacker was close to the 30 mark.

Leo Hartnett is said to have received something like $20,000 last year on his long term contract. Hazen Cuyler and Capt. Charley Grimm are above the $15,000 margin considerably while Pat Malone is near the same classification. But the rank and file of the Bruins are not lavished after the fashion of the Robins of a similar hue.

Fresco Thompson, traded from the Phillies to Brooklyn, almost fainted when his contract was unfolded before him. The figures dazzled him.

"I thought it was for two years," said the wisecracking Fresco when I asked him about it.

LONE HAND FOR FRISCH

Frank Frisch is the only top-heavy Card so far as pay is concerned. The Redbird owners know how to prune.

Bill Terry is McGraw's No. 1 man at the pay window. P. Waner tops the Buccos, but Paul, 'tis said, receives no more than $15,000.

Walter Berger gets the biggest check at the Boston Wigwam, Chuck Klein hauls in big money in Philly, while the lowly Reds are in the red largely on account of the sums paid Dan Howley, Eppa Rixey and Red Lucas.

RUFFING, DICKEY HOLDOUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Charley Ruffing, pitcher, and Bill Dickey, catcher, have joined the holdouts of the New York Yankees. Both have refused terms offered them.

Fight Results

At West Palm Beach, Fla.—Mickey Cohen defeated Wildcat Brown, 10 rounds; Roy Mi[illegible] and Jackie Shupack drew, 10 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Ceferino Garcia knocked out Alfredo Gaona, 4 rounds; Armando Santiago knocked out Cyclone [illegible], 6 rounds; George [illegible] defeated Benny Garcia, 6 rounds.

At Kansas City—Hymie Wiseman defeated Lew [illegible], 10 rounds; Cris Pineda defeated Harry Fierro, 10 rounds.

At Portland, Ore.—Johnny Hansen defeated Tony Portillo, 6 rounds; Johnny Spencer defeated Cyclone Page, 6 rounds.

Baseball Ranked At Top of Sports

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Baseball, in the opinion of the experts who fell and minister to the nation's sporting pulse, still ranks as the No. 1 American game, despite the obvious inroad on its popularity by the rapid development of football and golf.

In a country-wide poll by the Associated Press among sports writers and editors, to determine the most popular sport, baseball leads by a fair-sized margin. Football is a strong second, golf holds third place and boxing fourth.

Here is the outcome of the balloting:

Baseball, 181 (38 first choices); football, 162 (21 first choices); golf, 111 (16 first choices); boxing, 29 (two first choices); basketball, 26 (two first choices); horse racing, seven (one first choice); fishing and hunting, four (one first choice); track and field, two; ice hockey, one; tennis, one.

Schiek Awaiting Indians' Contract

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 20.—Wylie Schiek, one of the speediest hurlers ever known in this district, is awaiting a contract that will attach him to the Cleveland Indians of the American League. He is only 20 years of age and has figured in championships won by several teams in years past in the local district.

CONCORD MERMEN WIN

An intra-mural Y. M. H. A. swimming meet was won last night by the Concord Club, with 29 points. Lee was second, and Lewis Little and Evergreen tied for third.

GEORGETOWN BEATEN BY DUQUESNE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—Duquesne University won its fifth game of the season by nosing out Georgetown, 29-27, here last night.

Trailing 7-13 at the half, Duquesne began a stubborn offensive which punctured the armor of the local team to good effect.

McGeever, elongated center, dropped one in from the equator of the court and McDougal sent his team ahead with a shot from the foul stripe midway in the second half.

Duquesne held tenaciously to its lead showing a blistering man-for-man defense despite the fact that Reiter, Feldman and McGeever were retired to the sidelines by way of the personal foul route. McDougal boosted the Pittsburghers out of the immediate reach of Georgetown with two good shots, 26-21.

Georgetown came up to 26-28 and then moved to within one point of the Dukes, 27-28, when O'Neill dropped in a foul shot that ended the scoring. The lineup:

GENEVA TROUNCED

In a Tri-State Conference clash at New Wilmington, Westminster's Titans upset the dope by crushing Geneva, 52 to 20. Kockeran, Westminster forward, tallied seven field goals and one foul and Harry Brownlee dumped in six baskets and four free throws.

Wash-Jeff rose to the heights to hang up its first triumph of the season by downing Bethany 35 to 15. Joy, Wash-Jeff forward, led the scoring with 11 points.

Thiel nosed out St. Vincent in an overtime tussle at Greenville, 35-34. Wardel tossed a long one with less than a minute left of play in the extra period to bring the victory.

BUTCH SEEKS RETURN GO

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Let's punch the bag a bit in the boxing gym and see what comes out in the way of news.

Well, well, here's Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw bantamweight, asking a return bout with Jimmy Thomas, to whom he lost unexpectedly at the Garden last Monday night. He feels he should be given a chance to redeem himself after having fought Thomas a second time after beating him once.

EXPLAINS DEFEAT

Mose has no alibi to offer. Simply says he couldn't get started. His manager, Jack London, goes further, however. He says Mose was training for a couple of weeks to fight Al Brown, the champion, a six-footer, and was lost when he went in against Thomas, who was crouched until he almost touched the floor, which may account for the fact that Mose was overshooting the mark so often. London also adds that the additional week's training after the Brown fight was called off knocked Mose completely off edge and left him stale and overtrained. All of which indicates that the steamup is on for a return go, and it wouldn't be a bad idea, at that.

Apples Meyers grabbed himself off a good main bout for his reopening show in the Moose Temple when he paired Tiger Joe West and Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, for a return skirmish. They fought to a draw at the Meyers Bowl last summer. The show is carded for next Tuesday night.

GARDEN AFTER BELMONT FOE

The Garden is working on an opponent for Jimmy Belmont for its next show, one week from next Tuesday.

Tony Marino may get the opening main bout at Eddie Kapphan's new arena on the Hill, Friday night of next week, if he succeeds in defeating Marty Gold, Philadelphia veteran, in their windup at McKeesport tomorrow night.

The McKeesport card was completed today with the signing of Charley Blozewich, of St. Michaels, to box Young Bordell, of New Kensington, in the second bout.

Thirty-two survivors of the field of almost 150 that started in the diamond studded belt tournament in the Gallatin Gardens, Uniontown, last week, will fight it out in the finals tonight.

A card of 50 rounds of boxing will be staged in the Boston Arena tonight with every seat reserved at $1. Billy Hood and Les Baker box the windup.

Jack White has been named matchmaker for Eddie Kapphan's new arena in the Hill district, which Kapphan says will not be located in the Pythian Temple, but in a building at Center avenue and Madison street.

U. S. Net Stars Win in Canada

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—(AP)—G. A. D'Arcy, of Boston, today defeated William Sutherland, of Montreal, 6-1, 6-1, as play was resumed in the first round of singles of the Canadian covered court tennis championships.

C. G. Plumpton, another Boston player, advanced to the second round with a 6-1, 7-5 victory over P. C. Drummond, of Montreal.

MORRY-MORGAN TILT 'CLASSIC'

By TOM BIRKS

The classic of the season—that term likely will be applied to the Morry-Morgan game scheduled for South Park Sunday afternoon. Since the Morrys proved to the satisfaction of local soccerites they could take the measure of Buff Donnelli and his mates, there has been hope among the fans that these great teams would clash once again before the curtain rang down the season. The semi-final for the district championship should suffice to whet their appetites.

There is little question that the Morrys and Morgan are the "class" of the district. The victor unquestionably will be the ultimate winner of the cup, meeting Union Switch in the final.

Donie Bush Named Minneapolis Pilot

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Donie Bush announced here today that he had signed a contract to manage the Minneapolis baseball club of the American Association during 1932.

Bush had been dickering with the Minneapolis owners for several weeks.

Mike Kelly, part owner of the club, handled the team last year. According to the information received here, Kelly will become president of the club.

Bush managed the Chicago White Sox, of the American League, in 1930 and 1931. Prior to taking over the management of the White Sox, he managed the Washington club and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Club owners of the American Association went into session today with the prospects of adopting a 168-game schedule for the 1932 season. The season will open April 12, but the closing date had not been agreed upon.

Coast Loop Rejects Schedule Changes

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Because of expense and unsatisfactory railroad schedules, directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League have decided to continue the seven-game series instead of the proposed split week of four and three games.

Directors estimated at the annual spring meeting here yesterday the split week would add $2,000 or more to expenses for each club.

The 1932 Pacific Coast League season will open April 5 and close October 2.

Haydn Thomas, star forward on Dick Toline's Munhall High quintet, leads the scorers in Section VII, while Elmer (Pickles) Kreiling, forward on Ham Hudson's Braddock five, paces the point-getters in Section VIII, according to records which include last Friday's games.

Thomas is leading all rivals in Section VII with a total of 27 points, representing 10 field goals and seven fouls. Kreiling has the same total to top Section VIII, his points representing nine field goals and nine fouls.

MUNHALL SETS PACE

Both Munhall and Braddock are leading the way in their respective sections, Munhall with three victories and no defeats and Braddock with two victories and no defeats.

Munhall faces an acid test on Friday when it engages Bill Campbell's Homestead quintet at Homestead. Campbell's team also is undefeated, with two victories in as many league starts.

As Braddock is not scheduled for league competition, Jock Rosenberg's Rankin passers will have an opportunity to move into a deadlock for first place by engaging Scott High, of North Braddock, at Rankin.

CONNELLEY KEEPS LEAD

Connelley Trade retained its leadership in Section I, of the City Senior League, although it dropped its first game of the circuit race to Schenley, 41-27, yesterday. Schenley is now tied with Fifth Avenue, which bowed to Allderdice, 21-19, in second place.

Allegheny maintained a strong hold on first place in Section II by keeping its record unmarred. The North Siders beat South Hills, 32-24, to win their fifth in a row. Perry, topping Allegheny Vocational, 34-19, and South Hills, are deadlocked for the runner-up honors.

Herron Hill, Gladstone, Latimer, Peabody, Schenley and South junior teams scored victories.

DORMONT VICTOR

Competition in the W. P. I. A. L. waxed keen, with Dormont, Aspinwall, California, McDonald, Mt. Lebanon, Swissvale, Braddock, East Pittsburgh, Scott, Turtle Creek, Uniontown and Monessen returning triumphs. Washington barely beat Waynesburg.

The scoring records for Sections VII and VIII follow:

SCHOLZ IN TRAINING

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—(AP)—On the heels of Barney Berlinger, who has entered training for a place on the Olympic track team, Jackson V. Scholz emerged from athletic obscurity yesterday and did a few turns up and down the 200-meter boards under the eyes of Coach Lawson Robertson.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Interest in the bond market continued to wane today with feeble dips and rallies bringing only fractional changes to the majority of issues.

The United States government list displayed indications of hardening at times and the foreign section was unusually steady.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (000 omitted in sales column. United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

STOCK MARKET SAGS IN DULL TRADING

Early Advances of 1 to 3 More Than Lost After Midday; Tobaccos Gain

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—(AP.)—The stock market attempted to push forward at the start today, but showed little stamina, as slow selling opposed the movement.

Early advances of 1 to 3 points were more than lost after mid-day, but trading dwindled to small proportions. In fact, it was one of the dullest sessions in recent months.

The tobaccos led the early upturn, Liggett & Myers "B" and American Tobacco "B" advancing about 2 to 3 points. But these gains were substantially reduced as the session wore on. Gains of a point or more in United States Steel, Allied Chemical, Case, New York Central, Santa Fe and others were lost. General Electric dropped more than a point, registering a new low for the present shares under 22. North American also sagged a point.

The tobaccos were helped by the ordering of the usual extra dividend of $1 by Liggett & Myers, and the company's 1931 earnings report, showing net of $6.87 a share for 1931, or only a little less than the $7.15 a share earned in 1930. Another prominent company reporting for 1931 was National Biscuit, which earned $2.86 a share, as reduced from $3.40. This was regarded as relatively satisfactory, although it marked a check to the steady expansion of earnings of this corporation over the past several years.

Wall street remains primarily interested in the earnings and dividend announcements of United States Steel, to be made after the close of the market Tuesday. While it is taken for granted that the company will show a deficit for the last quarter of 1931, there is a markedly more hopeful attitude that some distribution will be made on the common stock, although usually well-informed quarters decline to predict what the directors may decide to do. The slight improvement in steel operations since the turn of the year, some observers feel, may encourage the board to make a distribution from the corporation's large surplus. Many stock market leaders are inclined to withdraw to the sidelines pending the steel meeting.

The persistent delays in the railway wage conferences at Chicago were trying to Wall street's nerves. The situation is complicated by the fact that the 30-day notices of 15 per cent wage reductions mostly expire tomorrow. Nevertheless, the attitude in most quarters remained hopeful.

Farm Equipment Production Higher

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Net gains of 24½ per cent in employment and 27 9-10 per cent in payrolls were reported in Moline, Ill., during the period from November 15 to December 15, 1931, according to the Illinois Department of labor.

The plants of Deere & Company and of the Minneapolis-Moline Implement Company are located in that city.

Increases in machinery production in the Sterling-Rock Island Falls district where International Harvester Company has one of its factories as well as in other scattered sections of the state where farm equipment manufacturing is done were likewise reported for that period.

Electric Power Output Reduced

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Electric power output for the week ended January 16 was 1,602,482,000 kilowatt-hours, a decrease of 6.7 per cent from the figure of the corresponding week last year. In the week ended January 9 output was off 5.5 per cent from the previous year.

NEW SHOEMAKING PROCESS

United Shoe Machinery Corporation is building machinery for a new shoemaking process. The shoes are lasted like a Goodyear welt and a welt is sewed to them as in a Goodyear welt, but the outsole instead of being sewed on is fastened on with cement under pressure. Several shoe factories have lately been equipped with this new machinery.

RECORD COFFEE SUPPLY

World's visible supply of coffee is estimated by the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange at 34,695,599 bags as of January 1. This is the highest visible on record and compares with 33,517,684 bags on December 1, 1931, and 29,768,940 bags on January 1, 1931.

I. C. C. TO CURB RAIL ROUTING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission is taking steps to curb the practice of railroads purchasing supplies from manufacturers and dealers in return for traffic routed via their respective lines.

Commissioner examiners today recommended the provisions of the law under which the right is given shippers to specify the routes over which their shipments be transported, be rescinded.

Another recommendation was that authority be vested in the commission to require, by order, that purchases of any or all materials, supplies, equipment or other articles shall be made from the bidder whose bid is the most favorable to the railroad, to be ascertained by competitive bidding under regulations to be prescribed by rule or otherwise by the commission.

Caterpillar Tractor Company closed its year with cash of close to $10,000,000, a new record high. Earnings for 1931 are estimated around $1 a share. Directors will meet for dividend action on February 2.

A. P. I. Oil Figures Lower for Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Domestic crude oil production in the week ended January 16 averaged 2,193,450 barrels daily, a decrease of 40,750 barrels from the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Stocks of gasoline held by refineries in the United States gained 747,000 barrels during the week to a total of 39,853,000 barrels on January 16.

More Employed In Detroit Plants

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—The upward trend in Detroit industrial employment which started early in November was extended during the first two weeks of January, the Board of Commerce index of 67.2 on January 15 comparing with 64 at the end of 1931, and with the low of 41.7 on October 31.

STEEL ORDERS INCREASING

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Iron Age tomorrow will say: Improvement in steel business is more in the promise than in the performance. However, ingot output has increased to an average of 28 per cent for the entire country, compared with a little above 25 per cent last week, and there has been a more generous flow of small orders, particularly at Pittsburgh and Chicago, both for replenishment of depleted stocks and for immediate consumption.

Delays in certain developments are at least in part responsible for the slowness of steel to reflect the usual seasonal influences. The automobile industry is to some extent marking time pending the final disclosure of the new Ford model; the release of some expected railroad buying is undoubtedly held back by the prolonged negotiations over railroad wage reductions, and a good deal of public construction work that has been authorized is in abeyance because of financial difficulties. Tin plate contracts expected from two large can companies have been postponed until after the canners' convention next week.

Such gains in orders and operations as have occurred are in the main due to the automobile industry, notwithstanding that it is expanding its schedules slowly and cautiously.

Plan to Curb Oil Yield in Michigan

MT. PLEASANT, Mich., Jan. 20.—(INS.)—Production of crude oil will undoubtedly be curtailed in Michigan because of an over supply, it was learned today. The company, which buys most of the Michigan oil, will probably prorate purchases and force the owners to cut down on production until the present supply is absorbed.

Lackawanna Buys 4,000 Tons Rails

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway has placed orders for 4,000 tons of 130-pound rails with Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

LOCAL MARKET IRREGULAR, QUIET

Allegheny Steel, Mesta Off; Fuel Issues Dull; Hachmeister-Lind Gains

Trading was a little more active on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today but the price movement remained narrow.

Interest in the fuel shares was at low ebb and such business as did take place was mainly in the industrial division. Mesta Machine, which had been holding around 17½ recently, fell back 1½ points on moderate offerings. Allegheny Steel, in which there has been very little trading since the first of the year, dropped back two points from last night's close. On the other hand, Hachmeister-Lind responded to recent favorable reports on its operating rate and sold above 13 for the first time in many weeks.

A sale of Central Tube Company was recorded at 9¾, the first transaction in the issue since 1929.

GRAIN CHANGE IS NARROW

CHICAGO, Jan. 20—(AP.)—Wheat scored early advances today after a wavering start. Upturns in securities were a stimulus to wheat buyers, and it was announced that, commencing February 1, Italy would increase her wheat import quota 25 to 30 per cent. Opening ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, wheat afterward rose all around.

Corn started ⅛-⅜ off and later kept near the initial range.

Setbacks in wheat values followed early advances, and were simultaneous with the reports that Argentine offerings were cheaper. There were also rumors of active chartering of vessels by Argentine and Russian shippers. Another bearish influence was an official summary that general crop conditions for domestic winter wheat remained good to excellent in nearly all parts of the main producing sections.

In later trading, wheat values hovered around yesterday's closing figures.

PACIFIC COAST ENCOURAGED BY RAINFALL

Irrigation Costs of Food Growers Reduced and Utilities Are Also Aided

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 20.—The Pacific Coast, I learn, has been more heartened by recent acts of nature than by man-made developments at Washington.

On my way to California to discover at first hand its well known assets and potentialities I received an impression of conditions and prospects there from a leading economic analyst in San Francisco who said:

"The recent record rainfall on the Pacific Coast has done more for sentiment here than all of the man-made steps recently taken. The heavy rainfall is favorable from any viewpoint. No matter what its effect on prices of agricultural products next season, it will reduce costs for irrigation by putting more moisture into the soil. These costs would have had to be made regardless of the state of crop prices.

Mr. Rukeyser.

"It also helps the big utilities who are dependent to some extent on hydro-electric power, and has effected tremendous savings for cities like San Francisco, which otherwise would have had to purchase its excess of water requirements from Oakland. The change the rain has wrought in the sentiment of the San Joaquin and Santa Clara valleys is really remarkable.

"Regarding the oil situation, which we all watch very carefully here, conditions are really better fundamentally than they have been for some time on the Pacific Coast. While the major companies did not achieve a further reduction in prorotation allotments which they desired, it is believed that a possible gasoline war this spring has been avoided and that prospects for some increase in crude prices are fairly good."

As for the larger possibilities, the San Franciscan added:

"The chief ground for optimism that I can find now is that we seem destined to be in for a period of moderate credit inflation. I have had this idea for more than six months, and have checked it with many authorities, who feel that the economics of the situation give such indications.

"Regarding possibilities of going off the gold standard, I do not believe we shall have to place an embargo on gold exports, but we may conceivably allow ourselves to be driven to a point where we could suspend the payment of coin gold to individuals at home. In that case we would have the same kind of gold standard that France now has and that England had prior to September 21, last."

Five Local Banks In Nation's 100 Largest

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—The 100 largest commercial banks in the United States as of December 31 last were divided among 33 cities, the American Banker announced in making public its annual tabulation. New York, which had 30 of the largest banks in 1928, now has only 20 of the total.

Deposits in these 100 banks amounted to $18,750,524,000 at the end of the year. Chase National Bank of New York heads the list.

Five Pittsburgh banks are included among the 100 leaders. They are the Mellon National, Union Trust, Peoples-Pittsburgh Trust, First National and Farmers Deposit National.

Forbes Urges: Retain Your Insurance!

By B. C. FORBES

THURSDAY is insurance day in Thrift Week.

Whatever else you do move Heaven and earth to avoid dropping your insurance. Rich and poor alike have in recent years developed a better understanding of the part life insurance can play in softening life's worst emergencies.

Mr. Forbes

More and more wealthy men are taking out large amounts of insurance—some for the purpose of providing ready cash to meet inheritance taxes, others are insuring themselves for the benefit of their business.

The comfort, the safety, the advantages of annuities are also becoming better recognized both for personal protection against the future and for safeguarding dependents. Many families today have little left except the insurance carried by the breadwinner.

UNDER EXISTING conditions it is supremely important that this last safeguard against family want be not sacrificed. Just as life insurance should be the very first reserve created when a family is founded, so should insurance be the very last reserve to be surrendered.

By maintaining a policy there is averted all the dangers incurred by allowing a policy to lapse. The insured might not be in proper physical condition when it becomes financially possible to apply for new insurance. Moreover the greater the age when application for insurance is made the higher the premium.

Hold on to your insurance no matter what else may be given up.

CLAIRE L. BARNES, president of a company which furnishes shock absorbers, bumpers, etc., for automobiles, tells me that prospects are distinctly better today than they were last January. This go-getter, like most automotive leaders, is an irrepressible optimist who sees America headed, not for the dogs, but for a gradually unfolding prosperity destined to eclipse anything heretofore enjoyed.

Mr. Barnes has no use for short sellers. He declares that everyone of his friends cordially indorses the stand taken by this column. He very earnestly advocates the development of a uniform system of accounting by companies whose shares are listed on exchanges and enthusiastically applauds the New York Stock Exchange attitude on this subject.

It is often impossible, he points out, for an investor to tell whether a financial report allows too much or too little for depreciation, whether it conceals or overvalues assets, whether it is actually going ahead or not going ahead.

Here is an example of the sort of laxity permitted or practiced by finance and industry which, unless cured from within, will inevitably invite political action by and by. Housecleaning from within always is preferable to attacks from without, fostered by public clamor.

THE LATEST rebound in wheat is an illustration of what is likely to happen in other directions during 1932.

Economic conditions constantly undergo change, never remain static. After so violent a downswing they are due for an upswing.

"TAKE BACK your gold!" American finance tells France—and means it. France regards gold as a political weapon. She can't frighten the United States by threats to withdraw all she owns here.

The sooner she closes out her account the better will it be for this country. Idle gold eats its head off. France is learning that to her cost.

Denies Change in Control of Sachs

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP.)—Walter E. Sachs, president of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, has denied that the Atlas Utilities Corporation was acquiring control of his company.

It was announced publicly several weeks ago that Atlas had acquired substantial holdings of the Goldman company stock, but the exact amount has not been disclosed.

COTTON PRICES SHOW LOSSES

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 9 to 10 points on Southern selling, promoted by relatively easier Liverpool cables. March eased off to 6.63c.

The initial offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering, but demand was not aggressive and was supplied on rallies of 2 or 3 points. A continuance of good weather in the south may have encouraged some selling but southern offerings were light, and trading was comparatively quiet during the first half hour.

Prices steadied during the middle of the morning, but a moderate demand was supplied on rallies of 4 or 5 points from the early low levels and the bulges were not fully maintained. At mid-day March was holding around 6.65 cents and July, 6.99 cents, or 6 to 9 points net lower.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 20.—Cotton—Spot good business done; prices 12 points lower; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.02; good middling, 5.62; strict middling, 5.52; middling, 5.47; strict low middling, 5.37; low middling, 5.27; strict good ordinary, 5.07; good ordinary, 4.77. Receipts, 2,400 bales, all American. Futures closed steady: January, 5.21; March, 5.17; May, 5.14; July, 5.14; October, 5.15; December, 5.20; January, 5.21.

U. S. Steel to Report For Final Quarter Next Tuesday

Earnings of United States Steel Corporation for the final quarter will be published after the close of business next Tuesday and Wall street will be waiting for the figures on the theory that this stock can be one of the leaders in either direction. The results should be comparatively unfavorable because steel production declined sharply during the period covered. Nevertheless, those who have been selling the stock in anticipation of a poor report have continued to meet difficulties in borrowing the shares for deliveries and at the same time have been paying quite a large premium. This has discouraged many of those who have been short of the stock in the past few weeks.

Wall street is still lacking any real cue to the matter of impending dividend action by the Steel Corporation. The Steel Corporation is understood to have acquired stock for its annual offering to employes. If such offering is announced prior to the dividend meeting, it will be assumed that maintenance of the $4 rate is contemplated. But if no action in that direction is forthcoming, the street will be inclined to expect another adjustment. There are some, however, who swing to the theory that the corporation may decide to forego the employe offering this year, though that has happened only twice since the practice was adopted in 1909.

This week's condition statement of reporting member banks shows loans and investments reduced again by $92,000,000. The drop accounted for in equal proportions by shrinkage in loans and in investments. Interest of course is centering principally at the moment in the status of loans made on security collateral. And there is no gainsaying that deflation in that particular direction has been extremely rapid in the last 18 months. Such advances now aggregate but $5,660,000,000, or within approximately 10 per cent of the figure set by one prominent banker, hardly a year ago, as the desirable level. Such loans are now $1,862,000,000 less than on the same date a year ago, and are approximately $3,000,000,000 under the 1930 peak figure of around $8,650,000,000 reached in June of that year. That institutional buying has been dribbling into bonds is suggested by the expansion of $15,000,000 in their holdings of miscellaneous investments.

Reported plans of France for taking home much of its idle balances which have been held here in the form of "earmarked" gold were confirmed in New York banking circles. Arrangements have been completed for the shipment of two engagements of about $12,500,000 each before the end of the week on two fast steamers leaving New York. In all it is expected that 10 shipments of the foregoing approximate proportions will be in order, involving the transfer of roughly $125,000,000 of the metal. The movement has its basis in the disposition abroad to view our contemplated credit expansion program as tantamount to inflation, and in part to the fact that the projected easy money plan will render our market unattractive for investment funds. The withdrawal will not, however, affect our monetary gold stock for the reason that the metal to be taken is out of stocks now included in the latter.

Persistent selling in General Electric was one of the features which tended to attract no little attention in the course of yesterday. The bulk of the offerings came from two large firms, one of which holds large connections around the Middle West by reason of its extensive wire service. There was little in the way of news to explain the unusually heavy flow of offerings here beyond the report of the company showing bookings during 1931 of $252,021,496, or 26 per cent below 1930, with December books showing a drop of 34 per cent from the previous corresponding month.

The rail wage conference is proving even more long-drawn than the more conservative had been disposed to anticipate. Those who were unwarrantedly optimistic and inclined to look for an immediate settlement have been doomed to disappointment. But the latter are greatly in the minority as most people realized that the task in hand was one which could not be settled without a great deal of round-table discussion. Naturally the delay in working out an agreement has roused some apprehension, and is tending to encourage renewed speculative effects for the decline in the rail list.

BUSINESS

Final Unit for Credit Relief to Be Ready For Operation Soon

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

WITH THE APPOINTMENT of Gen. Charles G. Dawes as president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation business feels that a major step has been taken toward the erection of the final unit of machinery to meet credit problems in the present year. Judging from the speed with which similar organizations for bank and railroad relief have been placed into operation, no great amount of time will be needed to put this supplementary credit body into working order.

The National Credit Corporation is functioning smoothly and has done valuable work in allaying fears regarding the safety of banking institutions. Confidence in banks has been restored in all parts of the country and the new credit body is extending loans to institutions in need of funds to meet temporary situations. Up to the present time the National Credit Corporation has not had a great amount of work to do.

The Railroad Credit Corporation started business late in December. The railroad surcharges are in force and are making a substantial volume of money available for the use of this organization. The influence of this form of relief has been reflected in the prices of railroad securities.

The powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be broader than those of either of its two predecessors. It will have a large amount of authorized capital and will be permitted to advance credit to a greater number of organizations and on less circumscribed terms.

* * *

Powers Not Limited To Individual Line

THE NATIONAL CREDIT Corporation can help only banks. The Railroad Finance Corporation can help only railroads. But the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with a possible capitalization of $2,000,000,000 can extend assistance to almost any type of financial organization in which the general public may have a vital interest.

In addition the newer corporation can extend its operations into the fields of either of the other two organizations if their resources or powers are inadequate. It can lend money to banks, railroads, insurance companies, building and loan organizations or other financial institutions.

* * *

Experience of Dawes Fits Him for Position

BUSINESS LEADERS generally view the appointment of Dawes as a happy choice. First of all he was a practical banker before he plunged onto the front pages as a result of swearing before a Senate investigating committee. His record in formulating the Dawes plan for managing Germany's financial situation is considered to have been good even though subsequent economic and political events have again brought the reparation question to a head.

In spite of the apparent difficulties being faced by the railroad wage conference, the feeling still persists in financial circles that no serious difficulties will be encountered in reaching a satisfactory settlement. This, along with financial relief measures, has materially brightened the prospects of the railroads for the present year. Lower wages, the collection of freight surcharges, and the operations of the Railroad Finance Corporation will meet the most serious problems of the lines which have reasonable claim that they are solvent. In addition the carriers will be among the first to benefit from any future revival in the rate of general business activity.

In Memoriam 1-B

In loving memory of Joseph W. Neal, who passed away January 19, 1918.

We have only your memory, dear boy,
To remember our whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.

Sadly missed by Mother, Brother and Sisters.

Police Lieutenant Is Slain In Gun Battle With Belmonte Gang

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett with screen play by John L. Mahin, produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

CHAPTER XII

Ten o'clock in the morning. The big moving van was backed up to the alley entrance of the North Side National Bank. Two huskies, attired in overalls and hatless, muscled out the last article of office furniture—a desk. When they hoisted it over the tailgate, into the van, they both pulled a long breath and wiped their foreheads.

"Must be solid oak," one of them said.

"Certainly was heavy," declared the other.

Sergt. Ed Fitzpatrick was leaning against the rear of the truck. When the desk was loaded he watched narrowly.

"Well, where do we go from here?" asked the first man.

"Take a little time out to get your wind," said Ed. "There's a speak—cordial shop—right around the corner. I'll watch the truck and when you have a beer bring me back a container. I'm a little dry."

"That listens good to me," said the man who had asked the question. Ed dug in his pocket and pulled out a dollar. "Take your time—I'm goin' to have a smoke."

The two men shuffled off while Ed lighted a cigaret. Two other men also attired in overalls were playing catch in the alley. One of them was standing with his back to Ed while the other was about 25 yards away, near the entrance. Ed listlessly watched them as they tossed the ball back and forth.

But other eyes were watching too. In a doorway just across the alley from the bank entrance were Tom and Mac standing behind a dust-begrimed door. Mac's own roadster was sitting just around the corner. He had brought it because he would take no chances on a police squad car—in case there were sharp eyes looking for surprises.

ED ATTACKED

Strangely enough, Mac and Tom had parked the car but five minutes and gotten into the vestibule of the deserted house, at the front entrance when another car drew up. Sitting at the wheel was Mike Cholo. He had let the ball players out two blocks away.

"Those two ball players look phoney to me," said Mac.

"Yeah—what are two guys dressed like that doing in this bank alley?—there's no place for them to work," seconded Tom.

Just then the man closest to Ed missed the ball, which rolled almost to the very feet of the detective. Ed did not make an attempt to pick it up, but stood still watching the man as he came for it.

"Good God! Look!" cried Tom. The two detectives saw the man, just as he got in front of Ed, whip out a blackjack and strike Ed on the head with it. Ed dropped with a groan.

The other man had run up to the truck, jerked himself into the driver's seat and had the engine running. His companion leaped up beside him. With a roar the big truck shot out the alley, tipping dizzily as it cut the corner, two wheels over the sidewalk.

Both Mac and Tom had grabbed for the knob and their revolvers, but before they had time to shoot the truck had disappeared.

As they ran for the corner, Mac cried:

"What about Ed?—better see about him?"

"No — no — let's get those skunks—the truckmen will find Ed," panted Tom. When they gained the roadster, a car in the rear of their own had just backed up, cut out and started in the direction of the fast-disappearing truck.

"Did you see that guy?" exclaimed Mac, jumping into his car.

"Yeah—he looked familiar to me," said Tom.

"Looked like Mike Cholo!"

"Damned if it didn't—come to think of it."

MAC IS SHOT

Mac raced his motor and started in second. The car shot forward. The truck was almost out of sight.

Five blocks from the bank and they were a half a block from the truck. A head appeared around from the driver's seat, and then a hand and an automatic. The gun cracked five times.

"Come on, Mac—get alongside!" shouted Tom.

"Yeah—that punk couldn't hit nothin'," gritted Mac.

The bullets hadn't even struck the car, but the two detectives could hear them as they whined past. Mac shoved in his accelerator farther. As they got alongside the truck it suddenly turned.

"They're going up a one-way street," panted Mac, as his own car shot past.

He almost stripped his gears as he threw them into reverse. He backed the car in a wide sweep and then headed it forward into the street.

"My God, it's a play-street, too!" cried Tom.

A number of little children, playing hop-scotch in the center of the street, scurried out of the way of the truck. In the middle of the block the gunman once again leaned out and began shooting.

"Don't shoot back," barked Mac. "Don't take any chances on hitting any of those youngsters."

Just then there was a piercing scream and both Tom and Mac saw a little girl pitch to the sidewalk. The other children fled.

"God—he's shot that kid!" cried Tom. "Speed up. I'll plug that guy, step on it, but look out."

Once again Mac urged his car alongside the truck. Tom began to fire into it. Suddenly Mac's car swerved to the right and smashed into a lamp-post. Tom was nearly thrown out. He jerked himself back in his seat and turned to see Mac slumped over the wheel.

"My God! Mac—what's the matter?—are you hurt?" he threw his arm around Mac's shoulder. Mac turned his head a bit to the side and Tom saw blood streaming from his forehead.

"They — they — settled me, Tom," faintly said Mac.

"No use, Tom—go ahead—get them—I'm gone," weakly said Mac.

"I'll get them—damn them!" muttered Tom. But as he spoke Mac's body suddenly went limp, a convulsive shiver ran through it, then it stiffened.

A crowd had gathered around the car.

"Get a doctor!" Tom shouted, and then he turned to his friend and began to shake him. "Mac! Mac! Speak to me!"

But when he looked at Mac, his face smeared with blood, his mouth open and eyes glassy and staring, Tom knew it was too late.

A little boy in the crowd had pushed his way to the side of the car. He stood pointing toward the end of the street.

"The truck was wrecked against a elevator post," chattered the trembling child.

"Where'd the men go?" asked Tom somewhat abstractedly. He was still staring at the face of his friend.

"They jumped out and run'd into that tenement house," said the kid, white with terror and excitement.

Tom suddenly came to life. He pushed open the door of the car and crawled out.

"Where's a telephone?" he yelled. Someone directed him to the cigar store on the corner. The crowd parted as he strode through. A uniformed policeman was coming down the street.

"I'm from headquarters," said Tom. "Lieut. Makowsky has been killed. Keep that crowd back."

Then he ran on down to the corner.

"Hello, Jim," he said when he finally got the chief on the line. "They've killed Mac. Plugged him through the head while we were chasin' them . . . Yes, they wrecked the truck. I guess the stuff's still in it—but what the hell—they got Mac . . ."

"You heard about Ed?—he's all right? Just a crack, eh? Well, that was a Belmonte job . . . Yeah, we reco'nized Cholo. He was sittin' in a car right aroun' the corner . . . I'd know the mugg what done the shootin' anywhere I seen him . . . Yeah, it looks fishy to me—an inside tip-off."

Tom staggered a bit like a drunken man and then braced himself.

"You'll be right over? Okay. I'll take a look in the truck—I don't think they got away wit' the stuff—"

He hung up the telephone. The proprietor of the little cigar-store, an apron tied around him, was waiting outside the booth.

"I saw both of them," he said. "I could identify them. They went right in the area-way of the building next door."

Tom looked at him as if he didn't hear.

"Poor Mac," he muttered. "That they'd get Mac like that—but by God I'll—" Poor Fitz—an inside tip-off—his own brother!—God!"

Synopsis

Pretty Daisy Beaumont is sentenced to a long term in a reformatory when dishonest policemen give false testimony against her. Jim Fitzpatrick, police captain, noted for his honesty, succeeds in having Daisy freed. Four racketeers are found murdered and Fitzpatrick suspects Guiseppe Belmonte, overlord of a huge vice ring. Belmonte is arrested by Fitzpatrick, but succeeds in being released in a hurry. Ed Fitzpatrick, sergeant of the vice squad, promises to help his brother Jim to bring Belmonte to justice. They discover that Daisy is employed by the vice leader. Ed admires Daisy and visits her. She says she is appreciative of what Jim did for her. Jim is transferred to a quiet precinct. When a bank is held up he pursues the robbers with several other officers. Jim is wounded, but the robbers are captured. Belmont plans revenge on Jim with Daisy's help. Daisy, in love with Ed, doesn't like Belmonte's plans. Ed is detailed to guard a fortune in gold bullion being transferred from a bank. He becomes drunk and plans to steal it himself.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

In Which the Customers Do the Work

"YOUR RECENT story about the racketeer who had to go to jail in order to get away from the mob," writes Leonard Lyons, "brought to mind a somewhat similar yarn that I have been meaning to send you for some time. You always seem to mask your characters with unusual, fictitious names—so we'll call this fellow Mike.

"Mike started with a small candy store down on Rivington street. With the advent of prohibition, he saw all the other merchants going into the liquor business—so he drifted along with the tide. Before he knew what had happened, he was doing remarkably well.

"After a year or so of lucrative bootlegging, he got tired of dishing out splits to the syndicate to which he was paying tribute. He found it far cheaper to employ Sam and Joe, two little 'protectors' who compensated for their lack of size by the weight of the artillery they carried, and by the deadly accuracy with which they could shoot.

"A few months after the hiring, Sam and Joe realized the smallness of the pittance they were receiving, and Sam spoke up to the genial Mike.

"'Mike,' he said, 'Joe and I are only getting $100 a week. You've been doing great, and we think we're entitled to more. In fact, we're telling you so right now. From now on our salary is $200 each. You'll agree to that—or else——'

"Mike nodded.

"'Done,' he agreed. And done were Sam and Joe. They were discovered two days later, slumped in an automobile on a deserted patch on Long Island. Three new gentlemen named Steve, Bill and Jim were now Mike's official protectors.

"Well, Mark, the years drifted on. Mike arose one morning from a deep dream of disquiet and came to the conclusion that he would like to step out of the racket. He called Steve, Bill and Jim—and announced his retirement. Steve, who had always been the guiding spirit of the three protectors, dealt Mike a nasty smile.

"'Oh, no you don't,' he asserted. 'Jobs is mighty scarce these days, and you ain't gonna ditch us so fast. Five grand each—and it'll be okay. Less than that and—well, you'll be sorry.'

"Mike was frantic. Five grand for each protector meant $15,000. That was quite a chunk, and he decided to risk not paying it. He disappeared completely from his accustomed haunts, and settled in a city that is not too far from New York. There he basked in the sunlight of retirement.

"But it was not to be. He opened the door one morning to find Steve standing there. 'You'll fork over that dough,' Mike was informed, 'or you'll be the sorriest guy that ever lived.' Mike stammered and stuttered, and finally assured his ex-protector that the dough would be forthcoming the next day. Steve growled a threat, and left.

"The following morning, Steve was exactly on time. He walked into Mike's living-room and heard Mike on the phone.

"'Listen,' Mike was saying, 'I think I'm going to be taken for a ride. If anything does happen to me, have the police immediately arrest a man named Steve F——.'

"Steve backed out of the room and went back to his hotel to think things over. Meanwhile, Mike was still on the job. He was phoning to one of the big police officials of the town—an old friend of his. And he was telling him the entire story. So, an hour later, the official walked into Steve's hotel room.

"What that police bird did to Steve was little short of a crime. Before he was through Steve was only too happy to be helped into the first train to New York. He swore—and he meant it—that he would never bother Mike again as long as he lived.

"When Mike heard the good news he was overjoyed. He threw out his chest and he strutted around. He called an old pal of his in New York and boasted plenty about the situation.

"'That's the way to handle those bums,' he chirped delightedly. 'Have a few friends in the law, and you're strictly okay.'

"Along about 5 o'clock that night, the police official stepped in to visit Mike. The latter gentleman pumped his hand warmly.

"'You were great,' he cried. 'Isn't there something I can do for you?'

"The official stepped back.

"'You ain't kidding, are you?' he growled. 'You betcha there's something you're gonna do for me. Not only did I save you $15,000, but I saved your life in the bargain. You get $20,000 over to me tomorrow, or I won't guarantee what'll happen to you!'"...

* * *

"MAYBE your readers won't care much about it," writes Joe M——, "but I know it's the kind of an episode that you, yourself, would go for. I happened to be at a party the other night that was given by one of the richest men in town. You know him well.

"Naturally, any number of girls had been invited. They sat around as they usually do; some bored to distraction and others having the time of their lives. Among them was one little chorine who is the sole support of a large family. I was talking to her when the host made a speech.

"'Drink up, kids,' he said. 'You couldn't drink all the wine in this house if you stayed here for 20 years. Which isn't a bad idea.'

"That little girl leaned over to me.

"'I'm having a swell time,' she confided, 'and he's a great guy. But I'm a little worried about something. I know you better than the rest. Can I ask you about it?'

"'Sure,' I told her. 'What's on your mind?'

"In a corner, a high-priced orchestra played soft music. The butlers moved about with their glasses of wine. The kid sighed.

"'Will you see that somebody takes me home?' she asked. 'I only have two cents in my bag.'"...

* * *

"IF YOU haven't heard it before," writes Frank Birdwell, of Milwaukee, "it will probably appeal to you. It's the story of the very great but temperamental actor who once played an engagement in a small town. He demanded absolute quiet, and the local stagehands were exceedingly anxious to please the great actor. Accordingly, all of them bought rubbers to render their footsteps noiseless. And all of them walked about very quietly.

"The local stage manager was very proud of his showing. Standing in an entrance, he looked over at the visiting celebrity.

"'There you are, sir,' he cried proudly. 'I believe you can even hear that clock over there on the other side of the stage.'

"The actor gazed at the clock.

"'Yes,' he responded tersely, 'I believe I can. Have it stopped!'"

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

News of the good times at the Sun Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club meetings is spreading rapidly. Nearly a thousand new members were admitted to the 17 chapters of the club Saturday.

Chapters are vieing with each other with elaborate stage shows, prizes and special contests and entertainment.

Memorial (McKeesport) Chapter was honored Saturday by a visit from Mayor George H. Lysle. Mayor Lysle complimented the children on the interest they show in the club, and congratulated Warner Brothers and the Sun-Telegraph for having established such a large and enthusiastic chapter as the Memorial.

STAGE PROGRAMS

James Lucas, of "Putting on the Dog" stage unit playing the regular performances at the Memorial, acted as master of ceremonies at the Junior Komic Club meeting and his little daughter, Geraldine, made a short speech.

The program staged by members of the chapter included: tap dance, Dennis Smith; songs, Vera Hallywood; guitar and mouth organ numbers, Robert Nelson; song, Betty Cochenour; tap dance, Dorothy Smith; mouth organ solo, Harry Miller; tap dance, Jean Brown; vocal duet, Ruth Nelson and Emma Bentley; vocal duet, LeVerne Bentley and Alva Urbansky; tap dance, Emma and LeVerne Bentley.

The waltz contest was won by Jean Brown and Robert Nelson; the fox trot contest by Dennis Smith and Vera Hollywood.

Other prizes were awarded to Betty Pollock, Evelyn Cook and John Lamp.

SOUTH HILLS CHAPTER

The dog contest at the South Hills Chapter went over with a bang, and the pie eating contest ran a close second. Contributing to the stage program at the South Hills Saturday were Francis Mahoney, Dorothy Erhic, Ralph Lutz and Joe Cadrilla.

An exceedingly clever little French girl, Yves Dicugno, has been discovered in the Rowland (Wilkinsburg) chapter. Yves sang five songs in French at the meeting Saturday and was enthusiastically received. A program of dancing, instrumental and vocal music was presented by Loisbille Pryor, Florence Moffitt, Betty Haslett, Dorothy Anderson and Dorothy Barmenn.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

The following members of Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club will celebrate their birthdays tomorrow:

IT'S TOO BAD DAD LOST THAT PLACE WITH THE GOLD MINING FIRM BUT THAT WAS TO BE EXPECTED WHEN MONTGOMERY HAD TO GO AWAY FOR HIS NERVES.
WELL PEGGY IT'S A SORT OF RELIEF TO HAVE YOUR FATHER OUT OF THAT AFFAIR. HE GOT A BIG SALARY BUT I'M THE ONE WHO EARNED IT WHEN HE WALKED AROUND THIS HOUSE TRYING TO LOOK LIKE NAPOLEON.
I'M SURE THAT'S WHY MONTGOMERY PUT DAD IN THE FIRM.... IT MADE HIM LOOK AS IMPORTANT AS HE FEELS, AT TIMES ANYHOW.
MAKE HIM LOOK AS IMPORTANT AS HE FEELS! WHAT A STRIKING EXPRESSION! HOW WELL IT FITS YOUR FATHER, PEGGY HOW IN THE WORLD DID YOU THINK OF THAT?
OH IT JUST OCCURRED TO ME, WHILE I WAS THINKING ABOUT MONTGOMERY'S GENEROSITY IN TRYING TO HELP DAD.
WELL PEGGY IT WAS JUST A MISTAKE TO PUT YOUR FATHER IN A POSITION WHERE PEOPLE WOULD JUMP EVERY TIME HE SNAPPED HIS FINGERS, BECAUSE HE'S ALREADY A LITTLE BATTY ON THAT SUBJECT, ESPECIALLY AROUND THIS HOUSE.
OH YES, OF COURSE DAD HAS HIS SHARE OF FAULTS BUT—
IT MAY SOUND SILLY PEGGY, BUT SUCCESS WOULD SIMPLY RUIN A MAN WITH YOUR FATHER'S DISPOSITION. THAT'S ONE OF THE REASONS I NEVER GO COMPLETELY DIPPY OVER HIS IDEAS OF BECOMING A MILLIONAIRE, EVEN WHEN THEY LOOK REASONABLE.

FRISBY INTERVIEWS JAPANESE COMMANDER

By Horace Walpole Frisby,
Our Correspondent in China.

By Gin Rickeyshaw from Manchuria.

MUCKDEN—"Maintain the open door!" This was my ultimatum to the Japanese commander today after I had thrice demanded an interview. After throwing a kimona through the transom, as a signal of good will, I was admitted. The interview was brief, although I refused to remove my shoes, or wear any man's collar, I approached on all fours as a gesture of international good will.

I am a tall, vigorous man, in my middle fifties. My chest, too, is well developed.

"Have you met me before?" I asked the commander. He stood in dignified silence, indicating reserve. I then chinned myself three times to the floor.

"It is snowing out, isn't it?" I remarked. The general did not look out of the window, and, sure enough, the landscape was as white as snow.

Then I musingly lapsed from the crisp manner of the veteran correspondent, and in phrases of the semi-poet, so typical of my beauty-loving race, I said—

"If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

What could he say? I backed out, with dignity. Our interview was over. We belonged to the ages.

Inadequate Relief

The Consequences of the Legislature's Failure To Act Are Being Felt.

Dr. Edward N. Klopper, director of the Federation of Social Agencies, declares the welfare organizations of Allegheny County require at least $7,000,000 more than the amount raised in the recent campaign.

Appeals for help are coming at the rate of 500 a day from families that never before sought charity.

The money will have to be obtained from governmental agencies, particularly the Commonwealth. There is slight likelihood that it can be procured through private subscription.

The situation is even worse in Philadelphia than in Allegheny County. The relief agencies there have sent a desperate appeal to Gov. Pinchot to call another special session of the Legislature. Pinchot answers that it will be futile because of the Republican state organization's "heartless and disgraceful refusal to help."

Certainly it would be folly to call another session unless a majority of the members should agree, in co-operation with the Governor, upon a worthwhile program and should give positive assurance in advance that they would support the program.

In view of the most recent developments it might not be so difficult to form such an agreement and to obtain such pledges as Gov. Pinchot seems to think it would be.

With the prospect of obtaining aid from the Commonwealth none too hopeful, renewed pressure should also be brought to bear on the National Government.

The Unpopular Blue Law

More and More the People Show a Determination to Free Themselves from Its Shackles.

The determination of the people of Pennsylvania to free themselves from the shackles imposed on innocent conduct by the Blue Law of 1794, forbidding Sunday amusements, is becoming more and more evident.

Moving picture theaters were open in Uniontown last Sunday for the benefit of charity.

The Ministerial Association tried to prevent the presentation of the shows. An appeal was made to the District Attorney to stop them. Injunction proceedings were considered. Several pastors preached sermons in opposition. But the shows went on nevertheless, because the people wanted them and saw not harm but good in them.

The theaters have been open in Reading on Sunday for several years. The new municipal administration in that city has aroused a storm of opposition by deciding to close Sunday shows in compliance with the Blue Law.

The Blue Law is not only unpopular but also michievous. To retain it in the statute books is a serious mistake.

The Vote Machine Mess

The Difficulties and Delays Serve as a Lesson in Patience, Anyway.

More complications have developed in that comedy of errors, the attempt of the people of Pennsylvania to get voting machines as a substitute for the unsatisfactory paper ballot system.

Richard Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, charges that he was offered a $20,000 bribe to favor the Shoup Voting Machine Company. The charge means more work for Senator Frank J. Harris' investigating committee.

The Poole Engineering and Machine Company informs the County Commissioners that it is doubtful if it will have Allegheny County's 1,100 machines repaired, as Beamish requires, in time for use in the April primary election.

The interminable difficulties, delays and mistakes serve one good purpose anyway—they teach patience.

A Good Appointment

Gov. Pinchot Has Picked a Well Qualified Man for the Game Commission in Dr. S. H. Williams.

Pennsylvania has been fortunate in the game commissioners that have been appointed from Allegheny County. John M. Phillips brought back the deer. Ross L. Leffler carried on his good work. Now a new man from Pittsburgh and one from whom excellent service can also be confidently expected goes on the board—Dr. Samuel H. Williams, professor of the zoology at the University of Pittsburgh.

Gov. Pinchot has made a good appointment in naming Dr. Williams. The Pitt professor is a naturalist as well as a sportsman. His book on "The Mammals of Pennsylvania" has taken rank as one of the standard authorities on the subject.

Dr. Williams is an outdoors man who has proved his fitness to represent the hunters of Pennsylvania by his leadership in exploring expeditions in South America and elsewhere. He will bring to his task enthusiasm as well as knowledge.

Life Insurance Day

Exercises Scheduled for Tomorrow Call Attention to One of the Most Valuable Forms of Thrift.

This is National Thrift Week and tomorrow is National Life Insurance Day.

The Life Underwriters' Association of Pittsburgh, in co-operation with the trust companies, will observe the day with appropriate exercises. Many of the underwriters will have breakfast together as one feature of the program.

It is fitting that Life Insurance Day should be made a part of Thrift Week, for life insurance has been proved one of the most valuable forms of thrift.

Many persons who had invested their savings in securities have lost much of their money, temporarily at least, by the shrinkage in prices.

Many who had invested in real estate have lost money, too. A few have even lost money that they had deposited in banks.

But those who had invested in life insurance have lost nothing, and it has been a godsend to policyholders forced to borrow money as well as to the widows and children of policyholders who have died.

Hold on to your life insurance. Carry as much as you can afford. If you have borrowed on it repay the loan as soon as you can.

Receding Floods Reveal Old Landmarks

Now, a gentleman writes in to say that I'm "all wet," when I fondly opine that the tiresome sex-mania is a thing of the past.

* * *

Food and sex, he declares, are man's primary interests—and always will be. It's the marriage laws, he asserts, that caused all that Big Boom in the sex-appeal market!

If food were restricted by law (say to spinach and carrots) as is a man's love-life (to one-wife-at-a-time), then, FOOD would become the popular obsession, as sex-appeal was, during the late jazz-decade. Bootleg-turkey would probably replace bootleg-love as a novelist's theme and wicked lobster-salad would supplant the wicked Don Juan, in the villain role.

* * *

But, dear sir, there is already a law restricting our drinks and forbidding alcohol. Yet I've failed to find any popular novel based on a woman's passion for cocktails—or a man's weakness for mixing his drinks. While we have been simply flooded with novels, in the last few years, founded on a woman's passion for the wrong man or a man's weakness for mixing his women.

* * *

Prohibition may have glorified drinking, but the speakeasy has not replaced the boudoir on the stage. And Mr. Ziegfeld has not as yet discarded his pulchritudinous girls, in order to substitute a chorus of "merry bootleggers."

Of course, when Congress gets around to it, we MAY have another amendment to the Constitution, making sausages-and-pancakes a misdemeanor and the eating of eskimo-pie a crime. (They just haven't thought of it, yet.)

* * *

But, I can't believe that, even then, all the magazine stories will be built up around a stolen pumpkin pie or a bootlegged stuffed goose or an illegal strawberry tart.

* * *

Nor can I visualize a "Scandals" or a "Follies" chorus composed of pastry-cooks carrying platters of braised ham, pork-and-beans, broccoli and chicken-patties, instead of fans, wreathes and spears.

* * *

Gastronomical plays, whatever the food laws, will never become a public complex!

* * *

We hope NOT! Because, we'd hate to lose our appetite for apple-fritters as we have for kisses—or to become as bored with mince-pie and hot doughnuts as we are with sex-novels!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Passing Broadway's ornate Funeral Church near Lincoln Square I always think of that bleak, drizzling evening when thousands stood drenched in a five-block triple line to have a last look at Valentino. On the brass plate is: "Frank E. Campbell, Paris, London, Berlin, Petrograd."

About the million-dollar building also stood curious crowds to pay final respect to Anna Held, Vernon Castle and others of Broadway who attained celebrity. Here the White Way expresses flair for display even in death.

It was the impish Charles V. MacArthur who suggested the Campbell slogan read: "Happiness in Every Box." The establishment seems intent upon banishing gloom from funerals. Through the windows in reception salons passersby see art treasures, Gobelin tapestries, rare bronzes.

Frock coated attendants with lapel flowers move as briskly as floor-walkers in department stores. Lugubrious expressions of the usual undertaking parlors are absent. The dark angel seems to flutter about with brightly tinted wings.

Campbell, himself, is one of Broadway's "up from nowhere" figures who began as a hearse driver. He, more than any other, is responsible for that quality termed jazz in the services of modern burials. In the beginning he employed a poet to rhapsodize in advertisements.

A Dr. Berthold Baer, now gone, penned flowery odes to "the last enemy." He poetized the vast beauty of transition and argued against tears. Campbell carried out this optimistic theme in decorations. Expensive rugs dotted the mosaic floors of the place. Vast urns sprouted with gay flowers instead of lilies.

There is a Gold Room. Also a Blue Room, a Red Room and a Broadway Room. There are high backed chairs, capacious divans, Cupids, Dianas and Psyches. His staff changes into fitting attire for morning, afternoon and evening. It was Campbell who gave "Mortician" to the undertaking lexicon.

The Little Picture House off Madison avenue is for Social Registerites and features only animated cartoons, travel shorts and a feature film. A gentleman with pince-nez sells dollar tickets and tea is served. The playhouse was once the W. K. Vanderbilt stables. In its audience I saw Artur—not Arthur, printer—Bodanzky and Elisabeth—and if you make it z you are a sucker—Marbury.

* * *

A Broadway exhibitionist is billed as a "Physical Marvel." He stands in a window stripped to the waist, rippling his muscles. All that is needed in the inspired lunacy of the Broadway frenzy these days is the return of "Little Egypt."

* * *

My only view of "Little Egypt" was on a circus lot after the night show in Lathrop, Mo. Jay Price and I were on our way to our gig, tightly holding our buggy whips—they stole them in those days—to drive home, when a side-show barker began his spiel. We listened a moment and this furtive cry held us: "Final midnight session, boys! The Sultan's favorite in the cooch dance that brought on his apoplexy." We sheepishly followed other yokels inside. And somehow in the excitement I lost my buggy whip.

* * *

Incidentally, I dropped into the Flea Circus on Forty-second street the other night. The barker is typical of the modern magic. He was faultlessly dressed in a dinner jacket and well manicured fingers were free of usual gaudy rings. A carnation adorned his lapel. His temples were silvered gray and he was not unlike Adolphe Menjou about to hand stick and gloves to a butler. His diction was precise and words well chosen. More than anyone I ever saw he gave his unusual calling a pronounced dignity. No one would think of heckling him.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

A quaint news dispatch—

"Two of the three eaglets which were hatched recently in the biological laboratory of the Western Reserve University, have died. They died of injuries inflicted by their foster-mother, a setting hen, in stepping on them."

An eaglet trampled by a hen . . and straightway I'm thinking of all the eaglets you and I have killed by setting hens!

Eager, adventurous, little human eaglets—

Kind, well meaning human hens—both male and female—

Killing their adored young through misguided trampling!

For never was there a bird more wild or reckless than the spirit of modern Youth. Reckless Youth—that longs to fling itself from the nest before its wings are fairly sprouted. Inquisitive, rebellious Youth, with its mad swoop into the depths . . . idealistic, courageous Youth, with its lovely, yearning circling toward the sun!

Youth—the hope of the world—and the despair of clucking parents. And, as a parent myself, my sympathies are strongly with the cluckers.

For how can we let these precious youngsters ruin themselves through their ignorance, as surely they will ruin themselves if they leave us too soon, if they scorn the old safeguards, if they hurl themselves into the dangerous new freedom?

Can we stand by, doing nothing, while they wreck their lives? Of course we can't. We must try to stop them. We must put reasonable restraints upon them. We must force them, somehow, to curb their curiosity . . . to learn fear . . . "to look before they leap."

And so we trample our eaglets! Break their fine spirit—turn them into timid, smug, compromising adults. We don't mean to trample them. We think we're doing a fine job. We never realize that we're spoiling the loveliest thing on earth.

Not all of us, of course. Here and there you'll find parents who glory in Youth, who realize that its very audacity is a splendid thing, to be cherished and developed into a wider, nobler wingspread. But for every father or mother like that, you'll find a hundred of the other kind . . . the old, stupid, hen variety of parent who thinks that a child's "spirit must be broken" before it can amount to anything.

Eaglet Trampling—it's our favorite sport! What's the answer—

STOP BEING A HEN!

Maybe you don't want to soar any more yourself . . . but that's no reason why you should condemn it in your child. Perhaps life has clipped your wings, pulled out your tail-feathers. But you had pride in them once. Once you, too, longed to leave the nest. Once you, too, tested your new wings over perilous brinks. Can you not remember that time? And, remembering, cannot you sympathize with his young longing . . . . . understand his young blunders?

STOP BEING A HEN! REMEMBER WHEN YOU, TOO, WERE AN EAGLET! Help him find his wings. Show him how to use them. Glory with him in the power of flight.

TRAIN, BUT DON'T TRAMPLE.

That Colombian Loan! The Victory Dinners

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The American people ought, if they have not taken leave of their senses, to be mightily interested in the revelations of the activities of the administration in Washington in reference to foreign loans in Latin America. Only the other day we learned something regarding the Peruvian loan, which found its way into the possession of American investors and is now in default. It is an amazing story, and we tremble to think what the papers would say about it if Tammany Hall was involved.

Here are the facts that should interest the investors in these defaulted bonds, if no one else: The commercial attache of the American Embassy at Lima reported to the Department of Commerce against the loan. He said that it would be defaulted within five years; and that the American investors would be fortunate to get 10 cents on the dollar. That is one of the duties of a commercial attache—to help protect and serve the American people.

Did the American people get the benefit of that advice? They did not. Did the bankers who floated the loan? We do not know. But the Department of Commerce and the State Department knew about it. And what was done?

The Commerce Department, under the command then of Mr. Hoover, rebuked the attache for not sending in "optimistic reports." In other words, whatever the facts, whatever the peril to mere investors, he should so report as to encourage the sale of the bonds.

Well, what do you think about that—now that the rebuked attache appears to have been right?

* * *

Another Interesting Development

And now we have another interesting development, brought out by Senator Johnson in the investigation before the Finance Committee. This involves Colombia; a loan to that country, and the restoration by that country of an oil concession of great value, 75 per cent of which was owned by the Mellon interest and 25 per cent by the Morgan interests.

New York bankers had long postponed the advancement to Colombia of $4,000,000 of a $20,000,000 credit. Colombia wanted the money. At the same time Secretary Stimson was exerting himself and using his position to the utmost to persuade the Colombian government to restore the oil concessions to the Mellons and the Morgans.

It was Mr. Stimson himself who personally presented Colombia's plea for the money to the bankers, and he appears to have been very insistent upon it. At length, with the American government insisting, in behalf of Colombia on the loan of the four million dollars, the money was advanced. Most significantly, but 10 days before the oil concession was restored to the Mellons and the Morgans.

* * *

'Not in the Public Interest'

Was there any connection? Was the American government used in this way to serve the private interest of the dominant figure in the administration?

The State Department denies it, as of course it would under any circumstances; but it appears quite clearly, from evidence wrung from the department by Senator Johnson, that President Olaya thought there was a connection. It appears that the American minister at Colombia sent a telegram to the State Department saying that the Colombian President expected to get the loan since the oil concession had been restored.

That is an interesting telegram; but the State Department fought hard to prevent its publication to the American people. It did so on that very convenient excuse that it was "not in the public interest." This impelled Senator Johnson to a sharp comment:

"There is no communication from an American official at Bogota concerning a concession to the Mellon family which the American people are not entitled to know. The question is whether there is a sacrosanct character to the Mellon family which precludes this telegram from being made public."

On the face of things, the situation in reference to the oil concession and the loan was this: no restoration of the oil concession, no loan; restoration, and a loan. That is clearly the impression of Senator Johnson.

* * *

Nothing Had Been Done

With the State Department exerting itself to the utmost for the restoration of the oil concession to the Mellons and Morgans, and with almost $100,000,000 of Colombian bonds defaulted, Senator Johnson asked the representative of the department if anything had been attempted to protect the holders of these bonds and securities floated in the American market.

The answer was that nothing had been done.

Is it not about time for a Seabury investigation into the relation of the American Government to the floating of Latin-American bonds? Enough has been developed to create a natural suspicion that there may be many other transactions that must not be made public "in the public interest."

The Purpose of the Victory Fund Drive

The Democrats are acting wisely in their attempt just now, and before the convention and a nomination, to put enough money in their campaign coffers to make it possible for them to move full steam ahead as soon as the nomination is made. It has been their custom for generations to give no heed to the sinews of war until after the convention, and this has meant that scarcely anything has been done before September, and never in decades has the party not been embarrassed throughout their fight by the lack of funds.

Having nothing in the way of privilege to sell they have not been in position hurriedly to pass the hat in Wall street, and their opponents have. Mark Hanna was able to raise more on the telephone in an hour than the Democrats in that campaign could raise in four months.

Thus the Democrats, unless they change their spots, must look to the men of ordinary means for the greater part of their contributions and it is impossible to reach this multitude without a thorough organization. The purpose of the Victory Fund Drive is to reach this multitude before the convention and thus be prepared to avail themselves instantly of the golden opportunity the moment a nomination is made at Chicago. On a less intensive scale this was done by the Jacksonians under Kendall, Blair and Hill many years ago.

* * *

The Needed Word Of Warning

The dinners last Thursday, addressed by party leaders, were conducted in good taste. They were not converted into propaganda meetings for any man or special policy. The speakers largely confined themselves to the primary purpose of the meetings—to lauch a drive for funds that are necessary to meet the legitimate expenses of an intensive campaign.

At Chicago, Jouett Shouse sounded the needed word of warning—the danger to the Democrats just now is overconfidence. They are facing a resourceful foe ready to take instant and full advantage of any possible blunder the Democrats may make. And while that foe will not be so fortunate in fund raising as in the past, they still will have an enormous advantage in the matter of large contributions.

The idea sometimes put forth that the Democrats "can nominate a yellow dog for President and elect him" is foolish twaddle. The very richness of their opportunity makes their position perilous.
